23RD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

The Christian Soul Accepts the Cross: Anonymous

The Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary - SEPTEMBER 8 -

Few people were aware that anything unusual had happened the day that Mary came to earth. Kings and princes did not care that a little daughter had been born to Joachim and Anna. A few relatives came to congratulate the parents; friends brought gifts and asked, of course, what the baby's name was going to be. Miriam? Well, that was nothing strange; there were many Hebrew girls called Miriam. To those who think that public opinion is so vital to success and that nothing will prosper without advertising, the obscurity of Mary's birth is a direct challenge. It is the noiseless dawn that rises daily whether man looks or not...

...No one ever has or ever will succeed in eclipsing the beauty of Mary, who lived in obscurity two thousand years ago. The beauty of her sinless soul, something so tremendous that words cannot describe it or brush depict it, had been the theme of more masterpieces than all other subjects put together...Countless artists have laid aside their tools with regret on finishing her image, breathing an apology that they had portrayed her so poorly: For artist's brush can never trace/The beauty, Mother, of thy face;/And if on earth 'tis fair to see,/ O what must it in heaven be?

- SR. MARY JEAN DORCY, O.P.

SAINT PETER CLAVER

Feast Day: September 9

Peter Claver was a Jesuit native of Spain, and at a young age, left his homeland forever in 1610 to be a missionary in the colonies of the New World. He sailed into Cartagena, a rich port city washed by the Caribbean. He was ordained there in 1615.

By this time the slave trade had been established in the Americas for nearly 100 years, and Cartagena was a chief center for it. Ten thousand slaves poured into the port each year after crossing the Atlantic from West Africa under conditions so foul and inhuman that an estimated one-third of the passengers died in transit.

Peter Claver's predecessor, Jesuit Father Alfonso de Sandoval, had devoted himself to the service of the slaves for 40 years before Claver arrived to continue his work, declaring himself the slave of the slaves.

As soon as a slave ship entered the port, Peter moved into its infested hold to minister to the ill-treated and exhausted passengers with medicines, food, bread, brandy, lemons, and tobacco. With the help of interpreters he gave basic instructions and assured his brothers and sisters of their human dignity and God's love.

Fr. Claver's apostolate extended beyond his care for slaves. He preached in the city square, gave missions to sailors and traders as well as country missions, during which he avoided, when possible, the hospitality of the planters and owners and lodged in the slave quarters instead.

After four years of sickness, which forced him to remain inactive and largely neglected, Claver died on September 8, 1654. Peter Claver was canonized in 1888, and declared patron saint of slaves, Colombia, seafarers, and missionaries to Africa.
