Communion for the Homebound

Dear Sisters and Brothers –

Last weekend was the meeting of my faith sharing group. Every two months or so, I meet with four other Jesuit priests to talk about and support one another in our ministries and our personal lives. These are peers who are or have been directors of works in the Society and/or superiors of Jesuit communities. I have known most of them for decades; I enjoy the company and companionship of all of them; and each of them inspires me with his hard work and passion for his ministry, and his faithfulness to his baptismal call, his religious life and his relationship with Jesus. I want to be more like them. After our sharing, we sit around the dinner table for hours, talking and laughing, remembering and feeling deeply that we’re grateful to be Jesuits.

When I say that we support one another, I don’t mean that we try to solve one another’s personal, ministerial, or spiritual struggles. Rather, for me the support comes from being known on a level that’s deeper than day-to-day allows and from others knowing what my heart and mind are holding. It comes from trying to articulate how God is active in my life and from seeing how God is active in their lives. It comes from what St. Ignatius calls a “felt knowledge” that my journey with Jesus is in companionship with other pilgrims, that we carry each other in our hearts and prayer in the weeks between our gatherings.

In a small way, this is what we’re doing with Home4Dinner. Obviously, the level of sharing and conversation is not the same; that comes with relationships spanning years. However, like my gatherings with my brother Jesuits, we at St. Ignatius Parish are being intentional about our faith by gathering together as one. At least implicitly, and to some degree explicitly, our presence together is saying to one another that we are on a journey, that we are doing it together, and that it’s a better experience with mutual support. I received a number of comments after our December H4D about the conversations people had with parishioners they’d known and parishioners they’d just met, inspired by the prompt questions on the tables in Fromm Hall. And many of you took home one of those cards, inscribed with the name/s of an/other parishioner/s, and you prayed for him/her/them. Very much like what I do with my Jesuit brothers.

A couple of phrases you’ve heard me use many times come to me again: “God is continuing to call the Church into existence” and “We have to give the Holy Spirit something to work with.” Your commitment to Home4Dinner is essential, and I’m grateful, because something is happening. I ask for your continued generosity, by coming to Mass together and coming to Nana’s dinner table afterwards; by engaging with your fellow parishioners, both those you know and those you don’t. Let’s continue to give the Holy Spirit something to work with as she continues to breathe life into our parish and the Church.

One more thing. These H4D events do not happen on their own. They happen because of you and those other big-hearted souls who are living out their baptismal call to serve and working behind the scenes to set the tables, cook the meals, and do the cleaning. This has been a valuable experience for all, and I would like to invite everyone to share in it, as we are in constant need of volunteers to make these events sustainable. We do not want burnout! Please consider being part of this enriching - and fun! - experience. Please share your interest with Fr. Travis Russell at trussell@usfca.edu. Thank you in advance for your generosity!

God bless you. Oremus pro invicem.

Fr. Greg

Share Your Care for the Environment with Laudato Si' Circles at St. Ignatius Parish in 2020!

Are you experiencing climate grief, and feel concerned for people and animals in the way of extreme floods, drought, fire, and hurricanes? Are you wondering how to deal with the prospect of losing the places we love?

St. Ignatius Laudato Si' Circles may be a place of solace for you. You are invited to join others to pray about this. Each meeting we gather to Pray, Reflect and Act for the care and protection of our common home.

Early in the new year we will be discussing Laudato Si' (the Pope's Encyclical on the Environment and Ecology). Although we are specifically NOT a book club, we will continue by discussing the last three chapters of the Encyclical each time we meet until February 9. Thereafter we will be reflecting on current environment and climate events, and how our Catholic social teaching and Laudato Si' provides us a guideline for appropriate response.

All are welcome to join us in the Blue Room in St. Ignatius Church; enter through the bookshop or the sacristy. The Shop at St. Ignatius Parish carries the Pope's Encyclical if you need to purchase a copy. We will meet the following dates/times:

- January 26, 12-1:30 PM - Chapter 5
- February 9, 12-1:30 PM - Chapter 6
- February 23 (going forward, every 2nd and 4th Sunday) 12-1:30 PM - Reflections provided by the Global Catholic Climate Movement and the Catholic Climate Covenant

Please contact Mary Rose LeBaron (maryroselebaron@gmail.com) with questions.
