Fifth Sunday In Ordinary Time

Praised be Jesus Christ!

As we continue to pray for the repose of the soul of Bishop Clark, I just want to express how proud I was of our Cathedral parish for all of the hard work that went into the planning and preparations for Bishop Clark’s funeral ceremonies.

In particular, I want to acknowledge the incredible dedication of our Cathedral ushers who spent long hours standing guard, answering questions, directing crowds, and just overall making the ceremonies more dignified by their attentive presence. Thank you!

And of course I am so indebted to our Cathedral staff who very much rose to the occasion and made sure—in conjunction with the Diocesan offices—that the church itself was clean and well-prepared and that all the many “little” behind-the-scenes details were taken care of and planned well in advance so that everything could run so smoothly.

Events like this (and also the recent Pope Benedict Requiem Mass) are important instances where our parish, precisely because it is the Cathedral, is called upon to exercise a unique service to the rest of the Diocese. It is both a privilege that I hope we all appreciate—and also a real responsibility.

Starting this Sunday, you’ll notice that I’ve placed two kneelers at the front of the main aisle near the altar area. This is the implementation of something that I brought up at the last parish council meeting. We have a sizable number of communicants who choose to receive Holy Communion kneeling and on the tongue. I’m very emotionally moved to see the reverence and love for Our Eucharistic Lord of those make such efforts, but I also know and can see that while it is one thing to kneel down, it is quite a bit more difficult to get back up! Hopefully this small addition will be a welcome assistance.

Of course, I allow Holy Communion to be received in any manner approved by the Church, so those who stand and receive reverently in the hand can simply use the kneeler as a means of designating where each line is to step forward in the main aisle. (As a side-note: If you are receiving Holy Communion in the hand, just a reminder to please make sure to receive the Sacred Host immediately and before walking away from the line back to the pew. This both conveys proper reverence and allows me to see that nothing untoward is taking place. Please save me the embarrassment of having to stop the Communion line to ask questions if I fear something inappropriate might be happening with the Blessed Sacrament).

I have to beg once again regarding our Catholic Ministries Appeal (CMA) goal. I am so grateful to those who have already given. I receive the weekly reports and I am aware of all of our generous contributors. Thank you.

However, we are still over $17,000 short of our goal. But what is more concerning to me is that we are about 50 donors below the number of total number of donors that had given last year up to this point. I hope this simply reflects the fact that I haven’t aggressively pushed the CMA in some of the standard ways that it is done in other places (playing the campaign video, publishing the names of donors, having parishioner testimonies at the end of Mass, and so on).

My philosophy on parish/Diocesan giving is quite simple. We strive as a parish to serve God first and foremost by doing his will and we entrust our financial situation to his providential care. I ask for financial contributions because it allows us to carry out the absolutely unique role of working for God’s glory and the salvation of souls. But God has all the money in the world! We give because we need it for our own spiritual lives, not because God needs it. Our desire to give generously is itself a gift that God works in us when we come to know, love, and serve him ever more fully.

In the hearts of Jesus and Mary,

Fr. Peter Van Lieshout
