Catholic Questions … and Answers …

Did you ever have a question about Catholic faith or practices or tradition? Many of you do and often ask those of us on staff. We are happy to answer them. Since the same question is often asked by more than one person, we decided to publish some of those questions and answers.

Questions may be sent to Sister Sue via email (susan.ssnd@dor.org) or by sending it to the parish office with Sister Sue’s name on it. Please include your name and contact information in case we need clarification about your question.

We will publish the Q&As in the bulletin and on our parish website (www.elmiracatholic.org) about every two weeks or so. Since we just celebrated Word of God Sunday, and distributed Bibles to those in need, our first two Q&A posts will be on the Bible. See page 5 for the first article.

We welcome the following children to the Catholic Church community through the Sacrament of Baptism:
Lincoln Randall Carswell, Liam Ash Coseo, Charlie Joseph Coseo

We extend our sympathy to the families of the following recently deceased:
Mike Bevilacqua, Deacon Thomas Schrage, Helen Keating
Let Your Light Shine
by Fr. Walt Wainwright

In today’s gospel Jesus gives us a very powerful lesson as he reminds us of our call to let our light shine, not for our own benefit but that through it others may come to see more clearly the glory of the Lord.

Most of you know that I underwent serious surgery last November when I had to have a kidney removed because it was discovered that I had a malignant tumor. The surgery went well and I have been recovering for the last couple of months. At first after the surgery I was weakened greatly. I didn’t realize at first how greatly. My mobility was very limited and I needed to have a treatment at a health care facility once I left the hospital.

I went to Elderwood in Waverly for physical therapy. Boy did I learn a lot. A lot about myself and all I had to do to regain my strength. But I learned a lot more than that. During the hours I spent having the physical therapy I was in a very large room where several people were undergoing physical therapy as well. Some were in more serious condition than myself.

As I progressed with my exercises and regained a lot of strength I thought I had lost for good, I saw some of my fellow patients who were having a much harder time than me. This is what I learned, a lesson that will stay with me for the rest of my life. One day, one of the other patients, a woman considerably older and more limited said to me, “Boy, you’re doing all the exercises better than me. You’ll be out of here before you know it.” I thanked her and we talked for a while. She had been a patient there a lot longer than I had been and I came to realize that she would be there much longer after I left.

In one sense I felt sorry for her but with a little reflection I learned what a brilliant light she possessed and allowed it to shine even though she was physically limited. I came to learn a profound lesson as I saw all these people every day, each one carrying a cross of limited ability but so often seeing them smiling and encouraging one another - Lights shining for and on each other.

I know there are many ways for us to allow our light to shine; through our own good works that can do so much for another person and even just taking the time and paying the attention on other people’s lives and their needs. Since I’ve been home and continuing with my physical therapy, I’ve become more patient with myself and mindful of others who have a much harder time.

I’m at the point in my recovery that I hope to be back being more active in parish ministry. I’ve missed terribly not being able to stand long enough at one time to celebrate Mass and preach. I also missed so very much seeing all the people who are a part of our parish family. Once again I want to thank you all for your prayers and look forward to one of these days when I will be able to do what I love the most.

Fr. Walt
Catholic Questions ... and Answers ...

What is a good translation of the Bible?

What’s the difference between a Catholic Bible and a Protestant Bible?

A

Wow! There are hundreds of books written about the Bible, its history and how to understand it. The most we can do here are the very basics.

First, the Bible is not one continuous book. It is more like a library, and the earliest books in the Bible “library” were written more than 1000 years before Jesus Christ was born, and that was more than 2000 years ago.

The Bible has two major divisions – the Old Testament or Hebrew Bible which contains the stories from before Jesus, and the New Testament or Christian Bible which contains the stories of Jesus’ birth and life and the disciples’ lives immediately after Jesus’ Ascension into heaven.

The books of the Bible were written in a number of different languages, none of which was English. So, every English Bible is a translation – someone’s interpretation of what the original said/mean. Add to that, English is a living language. That means that new words are added, old words take on new meaning, and words that were popular aren’t used so much anymore. Translation is a very complicated process.

Today, the translation you hear at Mass is called the NAB or New American Bible. This is a great translation for you to read at home. It is approved by the church and will be the same as what you hear on Sunday. Another fully approved version is the NRSV or the New Revised Standard Version. Many of you may have heard of the King James Version or KJV. It was originally published in 1611 in Great Britain as the authorized translation of the Church of England. While the language is often poetic and beautiful, it is not a valid Catholic translation.

The best way to know if a translation is valid for Catholic use is to look on the back of the cover page (where the copyright goes) for the Nihil Obstat and the Imprimatur. The nihil obstat and imprimatur are declarations that a book is free of doctrinal or moral error. No implication is contained therein that those who have granted the nihil obstat or imprimatur agree with the contents, opinions or statements expressed. That’s more than enough for this post. We’ll talk about the difference between a Catholic Bible and a Protestant Bible next time. (Hint: it has to do with which books/sections are accepted and which are not.)

If you have a question you would like answered, you may send it to Sister Sue via email (susan.ssnd@dor.org) or send it to the parish office with Sister Sue’s name on it. Please include your name and contact information in case we need clarification about your question.

If you can help with any of the above, please call the parish office.

It’s been a few years since a Parish Photo Directory has been done at any former parish, and NEVER at our Most Holy Name of Jesus. The Parish Life Committee has agreed to take on this task with a hopeful completion date before the end of the fiscal year. To avoid the cost of a professional company coming in to take the photos, we would like to do this “in house”, with our own volunteers doing the photography and page layout. It can be done, but we will need many helpers to organize this with various duties. An organizational meeting will be planned as soon as we have enough people to help.

* This Directory will include a roster of parishioners names (photo or not). If your household circumstances have recently changed (ex. divorce, new baby, adult son/daughter moved on their own or married, you moved… please call the parish office to update your record.

Like us on Facebook:

Please look for “Most Holy Name of Jesus” – for the up- to- date parish announcements/reminders, services and Mass times and much, much more. (Please note that the old “Blessed Sacrament” Facebook is no longer available.)

Thank you for your ongoing support of the Box Tops for Education program, which benefits Holy Family School. You may have noticed that Box Tops look a little different these days. The program is transitioning from clip-able Box Tops to digital Box Tops that look like this:

If you buy a product with one of these Box Tops, it cannot be clipped and turned in to school. Digital Box Tops can only be redeemed by scanning your store receipt using the Box Tops App (available for download on any Apple or Android “smart” device). Information on how to do this (including some helpful videos) is available on the Box Tops website: https://www.boxtops4education.com/.
