Good News

Dear Friends,

On this Fourth of July weekend, I hope all of you have a safe, healthy, restful and prayerful holiday weekend and week ahead. I pen this article having just said goodbye to the students of All Saints Academy for the summer. I wish to commend them, their teachers, and especially Mrs. Lacey in her first year as principal, for a fine year of excellence across the board. I have often remarked that if you walked the halls of ASA this past school year, you would not have known there was a pandemic. The community consistently responded to a revolving door of challenges and chose at every step to have a positive, faithful attitude to the changes brought about by restrictions. Now that summer is underway and we begin to remove the shackles of shut down and return to a sense of normalcy, let's not overlook our spiritual lives. These next few months will be filled with activities, travels and reunions that have been long delayed. I encourage you to continue to prayerfully engage in the homily series that I am offering this summer, geared toward tending to our spiritual lives. This summer, the majority of the bulletin articles will focus on Catechesis (especially on the Mass), Eucharistic Adoration, spirituality and traditions of the Catholic Church. In closing, I wish to offer my sincere thanks and gratitude to the nearly 400 parishioners who contributed to the 2021 Catholic Ministries Appeal. We achieved this goal with more contributors and greater contributions (on average) than any time the past decade. Again, thank you to all who helped our parish make its goal.

In Christ,
Fr. Jones

“Symbols of the Mass: Vestments”

The British scholar Margaret Baker has unlocked a detail in her studies of the worship in the Jewish temple that helps elucidate the tradition of color in Catholic vestments. In fact, the development of the traditions of the different colors is very complicated and it was only comparatively recently that the four colors were standardized and universally accepted. In various countries different traditions developed independently. So, for example, in medieval England during Lent they used “Lenten array”—a simple burlap kind of fabric embroidered with instruments of Our Lord’s passion. You can see an example here. This is still a custom in many Anglican churches. Elsewhere blue vestments were worn for Advent.

So what is Margaret Barker’s insight? She observed that the curtain in the temple that separated the Holy place from the Holy of Holies was woven in four colors: white, red, purple and blue. The four colors represented the four elements of air, earth, fire and water from which the ancients believed the whole material realm was forged. Red stood for fire. White for earth because the white fabric was linen which was refined from flax which grew in the earth. Purple stood for water because the dye for the purple was taken from the gland of a mollusk which was found in the seabed. Learn more here. Blue was for air—the color of the sky.

These four colors therefore symbolized the material realm of reality. What is interesting is that the Jewish priests’ also wore a vestment woven from the four colors. Once a year the priest, wearing the woven vestment went through the curtain into the Holy of Holies. He would then return through the veil/curtain to continue his ministry. Barker points out the beautiful symbolism: God would come from his invisible realm (the Holy of Holies) and enter our realm through the veil of the physical realities. This is expressed in that beautiful Eucharistic hymn Alleluia Sing to Jesus where we sing, Thou within the veil has entered, robed in flesh our great high priest...thou on earth both priest and victim in the Eucharistic feast.

There is a Marian connection too because Barker has discerned that there was a guild of virgins whose job it was to weave the vestments and the temple veil and in chapter ten of the Protoevangelium of James (from which we gather the traditions of the Virgin’s family and childhood) tells us that the girl Mary was spinning scarlet and purple to be used in the temple veil when the angel Gabriel appeared to her. If you look closely at some of the iconography of the Annunciation you will see the Virgin at a loom. The Blessed Virgin was therefore woven into this intricate symbolism (if you’ll excuse the pun) Therefore, the priest’s vestments signify more than martyr’s blood, Easter joy or the green growing season of summer. The colors represent the physical, material order through which the second person of the Holy Trinity came for mankind’s salvation. Taking flesh from his Virgin Mother he also robed himself in the whole physical realm. When he died the curtain in the temple was torn from top to bottom. (Mt 27:51) signifying the rending of Christ’s vestment of flesh on the cross by which also the Holy of Holies was opened to all who would enter by his saving death.

It is amazing that the four colors have carried over into the Catholic colors of the vestments. Hold on! I hear you say. “That still doesn’t explain the green. You said the four colors in the temple were white, red, purple and blue. Where’s the green?” OK. Over the years green gradually replaced blue, but when I recently ordered a set of vestments for our new church I stipulated that the green vestments should be lined with blue, so whenever I vest and set up the altar during this season I see the blue beneath the green and remember the mystery of Our Lord’s incarnation.

WEEKLY INSPIRATION

God never ceases to proclaim His Word. His life-giving presence continues to sustain all things and keep them in being regardless of whether there is the faith to receive or perceive Him. Our personal agendas, preconceived ideas, misconceptions, and expectations can often cause us to be so hard of heart and obstinate that we fail to see what God is trying to do. While God remains ever present, faith is necessary for God's power to bear fruit.

As we celebrate our country's independence, let us not forget the difference between liberties and freedom. While the liberties we have are most welcome treasures, only freedom from what blinds, deceives, and weighs us down can bring happiness. God is all about healing, transformation, and hope. In order for God to do what God does best, we have to invite Him in and see Him for who he is. Otherwise, God's will for humanity will be something at which we simply take offense, a common reaction when something challenges or unsettles us.

The Prophecy of You and Me

Prophet. There's a heaviness to this word. It's weighted down with meaning. We think of prophets and we think of Charlton Heston with wild hair and a booming voice, reaching out his hand to work wonders of nature by the grace of God. We think of prophets and we think of ancient Biblical history — someone far away, someone so removed from our everyday life. A prophet is someone who knows something we don't.

When I let you in on this secret, it might scare you at first: in a way, God is calling you to be a prophet. He is calling me. He is calling anyone who hears the truth of the Gospel. However, there is no need for the megaphone and the wild locusts. This prophet gig might not be what you're thinking.

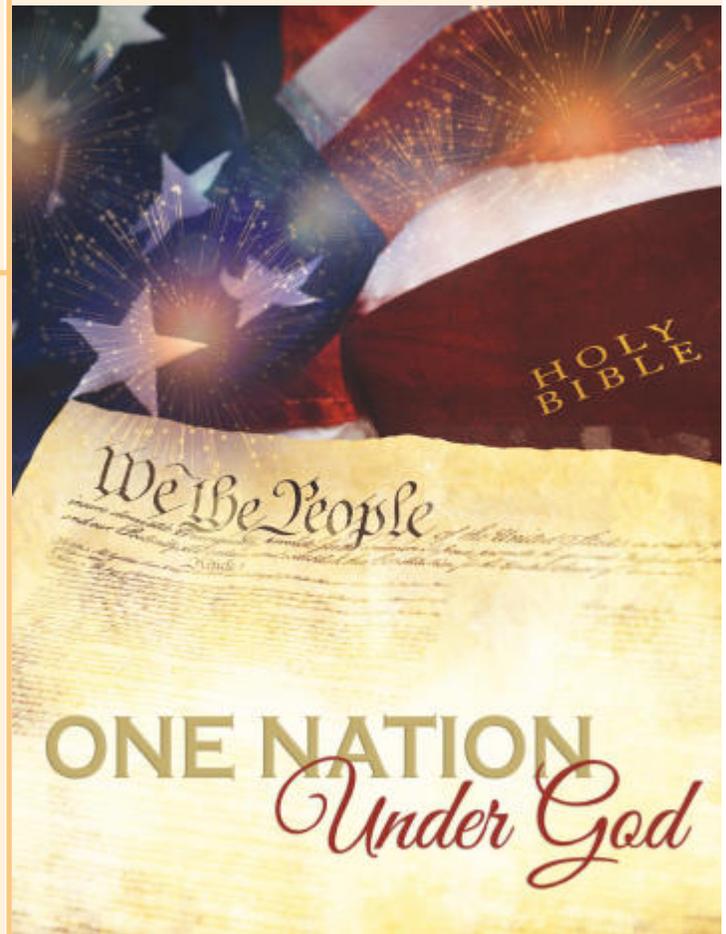

What does a prophet do? He hears and testifies to the truth, even when it's uncomfortable, even when it's unpopular, even when it results in, as Paul says, "weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions and constraints." A prophet doesn't have to be smart or rich or ordained; heck, he doesn't even have to be particularly willing.

All a prophet has to do is listen to the truth. The truth we receive from Christ, through the Gospel and the sacraments, is a mighty gift. But it is a gift that we are not meant to simply keep for ourselves. In possessing it, we are compelled to also pass it on, to share it, to let the Spirit set us on our feet.

Prayer for our Nation

God our Father, giver of life, we entrust the United States of America to your loving care. You are the rock on which this nation was founded. You alone are the true source of our cherished rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Reclaim this land for your glory and dwell among your people. Send your Spirit to touch the hearts of our nation's leaders. Open their minds to the great worth of human life and the responsibilities that accompany human freedom. Remind your people that true happiness is rooted in seeking and doing your will. Through the intercession of Mary Immaculate, patroness of our land, grant us the courage to reject the "culture of death." Lead us into a new millennium of life. We ask this through Christ Our Lord.

Amen.

Father of all nations and ages,

we recall the day when our country claimed its place among the family of nations; for what has been achieved we give you thanks, for the work that still remains we ask your help, and as you have called us from many peoples to be one nation, grant that, under your providence, our country may share your blessings with all the peoples of the earth. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever.

Amen.

Prayer offered by the chaplain, Rev. Edward G. Latch on July 3, 1974 in the U.S. House of Representatives

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord (Psalms 33:12).

Eternal God, stir thou our minds and stimulate our hearts with a high sense of patriotism as we approach the Fourth of July. May all that this day symbolizes renew our faith in freedom, our devotion to democracy, and redouble our efforts to keep a government of the people, by the people, and for the people truly alive in our world.

Grant that we may highly resolve on this great day to dedicate ourselves anew to the task of ushering in an era when good will shall live in the hearts of a free people, justice shall be the light to guide their feet, and peace shall be the goal of humankind: to the glory of thy holy name and the good of our nation and of all mankind. Amen."

Regulations for Cemetery Plantings & Decorations

Flowers planted on graves:

-Plantings should be confined to an area not more than 12 inches out from the monument or marker.

-Plantings should be limited to 18 inches in height.

-Artificial flowers (which have been set in-ground), lawn ornaments or lights of any kind are not allowed. This regulation is for safety concerns.

Plastic, wire or other sharp object from artificial decorations can be picked up by a mower or snow removal equipment and hurled through the air which can injure an employee or visitor.

-Mulching with crushed stone, wood chips, shells or other hard materials is prohibited. They will be removed from the cemetery.

Flowers in pots on graves:

-Fresh or artificial flowers may be placed on graves in metal or plastic containers. Potted plants up to 12 inches in diameter are also acceptable. Do not use glass containers. All flower pots, fresh or artificial, must be removed by October 1. American flags, up to 12 by 18 inches, may be placed on graves year round. In respect for the flag, and in concern for the general appearance of the Cemetery, the Cemetery will, at its discretion, remove any flags that have become unsightly.

SCHOOL NEWS:

Has your family considered
All Saints Academy?

The benefits of a Catholic education produce lasting and meaningful results. Research shows that not only do Catholic schools have smaller achievement gaps when compared to their public school counterparts, but that graduates of Catholic schools are more civically engaged,
more tolerant of diverse views, and are more committed to service as adults.

All Saints Academy strives to continue the rich tradition of Catholic education with the Corning community and provides students with the life-changing gift of a faith-based education.

All Saints Academy is committed to developing:

- Communities of Faith centered on the model of Jesus Christ
- Communities of Knowledge focused on high academic expectations for all learners
- Communities of Service committed to improving our community and nation

If you are interested in establishing a solid
Catholic foundation for your child or grandchild
