Fifteenth Sunday of Ordinary Time

From Father Clemente

Our Parish Pastoral Council exists to advise me, the Pastor of the parish, as to the pastoral needs of the parish. The most important aspect of any parish is its pastoral life. The pastoral life of the parish is what it does to worship and serve God and people. The ideal is that the members of the Parish Pastoral Council represent the members of the parish in bringing the people's concerns to the pastor.

Your representative's names are always on the last page of the bulletin with their email addresses. You can at any time bring your concerns to any one of them. They, in turn, will bring the concern to the council meeting for discussion. If the discussion brings out the need for action on the concern, they will put it into a recommendation or proposal. Generally the proposal is accepted by me and we act on it. The only time a proposal might be rejected is if it is contrary to Church discipline or our inability to make it happen because of lack of personnel or finances.

I encourage you to contact any of the members of the Parish Pastoral Council if you have any concerns or suggestions that would improve or enhance our parish's pastoral life. The council meets 10 times a year, generally on the first Tuesday of the month.

The American Bishops often write to Congress expressing their concerns about issues of justice, peace and the moral life.

June 23, 2022

Dear Senator/Representative:

On June 3, we wrote to Congress calling for lawmakers to “unite in their humanity to stop the massacres of human lives” and to advance life-saving legislation that will address the epidemic of gun violence in our nation. We write to endorse S. 2938, the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act and ask you to support this legislation when it comes before you. We are particularly heartened by key provisions of this legislation, which include:

- Strengthening state crisis intervention programs, including extreme risk protection order programs;
- Funding to help schools prevent violence, including mental health initiatives, and access to equitable services for non-public schools;
- Strengthening the integrity of background checks and protecting victims of domestic violence by closing the so-called ‘boyfriend loophole’;

- Enhancing reviews of gun purchasers under the age of 21;
- Addressing weapons trafficking including by specifically prohibiting straw purchasing and firearm trafficking and providing tools to investigate, prosecute, and educate around these offenses;
- Investing in children and family mental health services, improving access to mental health care, earlier interventions, and suicide prevention; and
- Clarifying the definition of a firearm dealer to make it more difficult to evade licensing and background check requirements.

For many years, the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) has supported several reasonable measures to address the problem of gun violence and continues to support efforts by the U.S. Congress to advance these policies in legislation. Nearly three decades ago, when we published a pastoral document entitled “Confronting a Culture of Violence” (1994), we lamented, “a nation born in a commitment to ‘life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness’ is haunted by death, imprisoned by fear, and caught up in the elusive spirit of protection rather than happiness... it doesn’t have to be this way. It was not always this way.” We hold that “respect for human life is the starting point for confronting a culture of violence.”

Your work to confront a culture of violence must continue, and, going forward, we reiterate our support for a federal extreme risk protection order, a total ban on assault weapons, a ban on ‘bump stocks,’ limitations on civilian access to high-capacity weapons and ammunition magazines, and a more appropriate minimum age for gun ownership. We also support measures that control the sale and use of firearms, such as universal background checks for all gun purchases. Moreover, recognizing that many of the perpetrators of mass violence in schools have experienced childhood trauma including familial instability and suffering or witnessing physical abuse, emotional abuse, or substance abuse, we strongly encourage all manner of policies to be crafted to support cultivation of strong family life.

We are grateful to those senators who led bipartisan negotiations to produce this meaningful legislation that will serve as an important first step towards keeping our children safe and reducing gun violence, including mass murder, suicides, and homicides. May the Prince of Peace rule your hearts, and “may the Lord of peace Himself give you peace at all times and in every way” (2 Thessalonians 3:16).
