After John had been arrested, Jesus came to Galilee proclaiming the Gospel of God: "This is the time of fulfillment. The Kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the Gospel." Jesus said to them, "Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men." ~From today's Gospel on the Feast of St. Remy

WHAT DOES FATHER FOX SAY?

What's up with the Traditional Latin Mass? On December 18, one of the top officials in the Vatican issued further restrictions on the ability of priests to offer the Traditional Latin Mass (TLM) for the faithful. I won't go into all of that here, as there is plenty written about all this elsewhere. What matters most is what Archbishop Schnurr has to say about it – in this case, through Father Ryan Ruiz, who the Archbishop has appointed “delegate” to oversee all these matters. On December 22, the archbishop issued specific directions on who can offer the TLM, where, and how.

The Archbishop had previously designated two locations in Cincinnati and one in Dayton where the TLM can be offered publicly. He plans to designate more locations, but I suspect this is complicated by the more recent directive from Rome that reiterated that ordinary parishes cannot be allowed to have the TLM. Bishops have to ask specific permission from Rome to use a parish setting, and there are other complications, as well. I suspect this is why Archbishop Schnurr has yet to designate more locations for the Traditional Latin Mass.

Meanwhile, priests who have previously offered the TLM may continue to do so.

“Qualified priests may celebrate non-scheduled and non-publicized Masses in a sacred place, or at least a decent place, with the Archbishop's permission. These Masses may admit a minister to make the necessary responses and otherwise assist the celebrant during Mass.” This is what I'm doing at present: I regularly offer the TLM, but it is not “scheduled,” and it is not “publicized.” To comply with this requirement, I am not telling you what days and times I offer these Masses.

The additional restrictions also said that a priest could not offer a newer form of the Mass and a Traditional Latin Mass on the same day! But according to Father Ruiz, this should be seen in light of a prior permission, given to priests in this archdiocese in 1997, to offer Mass three times a day as needed.

Bottom line: what I'm doing is entirely consistent with what the Archbishop wishes.

I say this for the benefit of anyone who may think I'm being disobedient.

How do we respond to people who “come out” as “gay” or “trans?”

As I said in my homily last weekend, you and I cannot always endorse every choice someone makes in living his or her life, but we can and must always embrace each human being as a child of God. Some people are bristling for a fight; my approach is to live and let live to the extent I can. So, if you had been “Fred” and now you call yourself “Sylvia,” I suppose you can call yourself whatever name you want. If you start wearing clothing that seems odd to me, there's not much I can do about that, either. But if you tell me what I must think, or try to dictate my own choices, then we have a problem. I don't understand why some folks feel alienated from their own maleness or femaleness, but this is a real trial for some people. Our task should be to offer a better answer than playing pretend, or worse, doing damage to one's body.

What is “Ordinary Time?”

The term comes from the word “ordinal,” which describes numbers used to count. When we say, “one, two, three,” those are termed “cardinal” numbers. When we say “first, second, third,” those are “ordinal” numbers. This time of the church year is “counted” time – i.e., Ordinary Time. This is A.D. 2022. Note: A.D. comes first, as a matter of good grammar. It stands for anno Domini, or the “year of the Lord” (not “after death,” as apparently a lot of people think!). I suppose, if you wanted to, you could write “2022th A.D.” – or the 2,022th year of the Lord” – but it's easier putting A.D. first.

To explain it another way, you and I count weeks and years because the Son of God was born in time, and now all time is His time. As I write this, it's the first week in Ordinary (i.e., counted) Time, and when we reach the end of the liturgical year in November, we'll be gearing up for A.D. 2023.

St. Remy, Patron of Our Parish

St. Remigius, or Remy, the Bishop of Rheims (in present day France), was the great apostle of the Franks. He was illustrious for his learning, sanctity, and miracles during his episcopacy (term as bishop) of over 70 years, which made him famous in the Church. As a boy, he made great progress in learning. In the opinion of St. Sidonius Apollinaris, who was acquainted with him in his youth, he became the most eloquent person in that age.

When Remigius was only 22, an age typically considered too young to be a priest, he actually became not only a priest, but a bishop, as well. Ordained and consecrated in spite of his youth, he amply made up for his lack of experience by his fervor and energy.

After Remigius baptized King Clovis, he enjoyed the protection of the king and was able to spread the Gospel of Christ among the Franks. It is said that God endowed him with an extraordinary gift of miracles. The bishops who were assembled in a conference in Lyons declared that they were stirred to exert their zeal in defense of the Catholic Faith by the example of Remy, who they said, "has everywhere destroyed the altars of the idols by a multitude of miracles and signs."

St. Remy, whom St. Gregory of Tours referred to as "a man of great learning, fond of rhetorical studies, and equal in his holiness to St. Silvester," died around the year 530.

What is it that we see in St. Remy that we hope to develop in ourselves? His love of learning, his holiness, and his zeal for souls are such a remarkable example to all of us. St. Remy, please pray for us to grow in the knowledge of God, in holiness and virtue, and in our care and concern for the well-being of the bodies and souls of all we meet.

It's time to kick off the annual CATHOLIC MINISTRIES APPEAL (CMA) in our archdiocese. This appeal funds 6 vital ministries, including Catholic Social Services, St. Rita School for the Deaf, retired priests, our seminary, evangelization, and campus, hospital, and prison ministries. To make your gift online, visit CatholicAOC.org/CMA, or text "DONATE" to (513)586-1978.

Please remember to pray for the people listed in the St. Remy Prayer Intentions Book located in the back of church.

IF YOU HAVE AN EMERGENCY AND NEED TO REACH FATHER FOX, please call the parish office at 526-3437. This is the best way to reach Father, day or night. If he isn't home, his home phone answering machine alerts his cell phone, so your message will get to him.

Life Information For Everyone

It is Our Moral Conviction to Defend Life

It has been 49 years since the Supreme Court of the United States voted to make abortion legal and available on demand throughout our country. Sixty-two million lives have been taken since that decision in 1973. The first March for Life took place in Washington, D.C. exactly one year after the U.S. Supreme Court made their landmark ruling in Roe v. Wade. Once again, on January 21, we unite to communicate to our nation: Abortion is taking the life of a unique person created by God. It is murder. And we can't stand for it, any more than it is OK to stand by and watch any other group of people be massacred. The unborn need and deserve our help! It is our moral conviction to do all that we can to defend life. Let's pray for an end to this heartbreak.

The March for Life is an annual event, but pro-life education, advocacy, and prayer are important all year long. Become educated on the facts, and share them with others. The marchfor-life.org website shares a short video that brings to light in very simple terms the reality that an unborn child is just that—a child. In the audio portion of that video, you can hear a heart beating, and a child is speaking to her mother:

Week 6: Hear that, Mom? My heart is beating so fast.

Week 8: Do you have hands, too? I wonder what my hands will do...

Week 18: Your heart is beating too! I can hear your heart beating just like mine.

Week 20: Did you feel that, Mom? I'm getting stronger.

Week 27: Can you sing to me again? I LOVE listening to your voice.

Week 38: Will I see you soon? I can't wait any longer to meet you!

It's time to stop being comfortable and complacent with unborn children being killed. Let's think about what we need to do to end this national tragedy. As you take a look at these two pictures of children, consider the main thing that is different...

The answer: LOCATION. The first child is out of the womb, the second child is in the womb. If we wouldn't sit back and allow the first child, out of the womb, to be killed, why would we do nothing for the second child, in the womb? You know what they say about the value of real estate: location, location, location. Let's not let a child's LOCATION determine if he or she lives or dies. Let's unite to protect ALL of our children!

How will YOU change the world?

What is the key to molding our culture into one of life, not death, into a culture for God, not idols?

Where do we, as followers of Jesus Christ, begin?

Your mission—your family's mission—is to be disciples of Jesus Christ.

Just as Jesus sent His disciples out into the world,
He now sends you—
as husband, wife, daughter, mother, friend, neighbor, father, brother—
to reclaim the world for truth and goodness.

His mission rests now within your families and parishes, proclaiming the Good News that has changed your life and can change the lives of others—
the Good News that Jesus Christ has come,
not to condemn the world, but to save it.

And the best part is, He wants YOU to be a part of it.

He wants YOUR mission to be His.
He wants YOU to help Him in this greatest adventure of all.

ARE YOU READY?
