From the Pastor

"Jesus takes a child and places it in their midst … Whoever receives a child such as this in my name receives me".

I don't know about you, but it's easy for me to imagine Jesus with children. He probably knew how to hold babies and support their wobbly necks. I can easily imagine Jesus playing with toddlers and bouncing them on His knee while they pulled on His beard. I think of children bringing out the best in Jesus – just as they bring out the best in us (at least sometimes).
The point is that it is easy for us to imagine Jesus seeing children as precious – just as we see them as precious. However, the value of a child was lost on the disciples to some extent. In the Greco-Roman culture they lived, children were seen as second class citizens. Jesus takes a child and places it in their midst – a child that needed to be fed, washed and cared for – a child who could give nothing in return – a child who had no influence, no money, no status and no importance in that culture.

Jesus takes a child and places it in their midst and says "whoever receives this child … receives me". This story in Jesus' life is a great challenge to reexamine our priorities concerning what is important and who is important. According to Jesus, the most important are those who have nothing to offer in return. It's easy for us to see that with a precious child, but it's also true of adults who have no influence, no money and no status.

Death Penalty Abolition Join the fight to end the death penalty in Ohio. Consider writing a letter to your Ohio legislators in support of Senate Bill 103 and House Bill 183 to abolish Ohio's death penalty. If you are active on social media, post a comment in support of abolishing the death penalty in Ohio. People of faith have an important voice in the fight to end the death penalty. Our faith is rooted in the belief of the inherent dignity of human beings and the sanctity of life. For more information and ways to support abolition check out the following website:

Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults

He left from there and began a journey…

Today the Gospel contains the second of three predictions about how this journey will eventually end in Jesus' passion and death in Jerusalem. This "good news" sounds a lot like bad news! And the disciples-as is common in Mark-fail to understand Jesus' prediction. Or they do not want to dive deeper into what that means (and what is being asked of them?) When Jesus asks a question in Mark, it is always an introduction to a new teaching. Today that teaching is about apostolic service. This call to servanthood sets all the earthly conventions of power upside down. One sees the humility needed to receive a child who at that time had no rights or power at all; we get an inkling of the child's lowly station when the child is referred to as "it" not once but twice. The scriptural idea of slavery/servitude implies a signal-minded devotion. For if one is a slave, then the entire allegiance of the servant is claimed by one's owner. There can only be one master. This is what we need to continually determine in our own lives.

In the midst of continuing uncertainly this fall, we have begun meeting on Sundays from 9:15am-10:45am now in Room 12 of St. Albert School on the main floor of the school, directly out the back doors of the chapel side of the church, down the hall to the right, third door on the left. This will continue to be our location through the fall. You are welcome to join us to explore The Call to Service and whatever other things that can help you grow in faith and your relationship with God.
Please contact me if you have questions.

Spiritual Communion Prayer

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the most Blessed Sacrament. I love You above all things and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot now receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there, and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.
