FAITH FORMATION

Gospel Reflection

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing they say. It can limit us, close us off to something bigger, something beyond what we now know.

Maybe that's the problem facing the audience in today's gospel. Jesus says, "I am the bread that came down from heaven." His listeners seem to be saying, "That's nonsense! We know your parents. That's where you came from!"

What they think they know, what their eyes tell them, they take to be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. There can be nothing more, nothing else that is not as easily grasped.

But there is something more and Jesus tells them how one comes by this deeper truth: "Everyone who listens to my Father and learns from him comes to me."

This bread we break and share and eat each Sunday looks like mere bread. And, frankly, not particularly tasty bread. Our senses tell us this is all one can expect from water and flour alone!

But this is more for us. This is Jesus the Christ. This is the living bread of life for us, not because our senses tell us that but because of the gift of faith God has given us. We have listened to God and learned.

Astrophysics can tell us how new stars are formed. Medical science can tell us how the vaccine works to attack the coronavirus. But no amount of information can tell us how this Eucharist is for us the bread of life, the promise of life everlasting. For that we need to open ourselves to Mystery itself. And believe.
