Gospel Reflection

Thus says the Lord: (Isaiah)

Share your bread with the hungry, shelter the oppressed and homeless, clothe the naked when you see them, and do not turn your back on your own. Then your light shall break forth like the dawn and your wound shall quickly be healed.

Imagine you were an Israelite hearing these words as you returned from years of bondage in Babylon. Imagine.

Imagine you are a Ukrainian refugee, a survivor of recent bombings, and you hear these words. Imagine.

God's point is that such acts of compassion would scatter the darkness that has troubled their lives; such acts of kindness would reveal the light of God's love for all to see. In that process, healing for them and for others would begin to take place.

Centuries later, Jesus says, "You are the salt of the earth... you are the light of the world." What does he mean? Don't we consider him the light of the world? Perhaps Jesus is saying, you are the light that shines forth when you are kind, empathetic, generous with your time, present to those who are most in need. You are salt for the earth when you dare to go out of your comfort zone by helping to make systemic change...like tutoring a child at one of our inner city schools, or becoming a foster parent, or working to rehabilitate ex-felons, or joining one of our many outreach groups at St. Hilary's.

Isaiah and Jesus did not direct these words only to the financially secure and comfortable, but also to those ordinary folks, like us, who are often in need of comfort and support ourselves. We are all called to scatter the darkness around us.

During this month of February let us pause to remember the words of Martin Luther King, Jr., who suffered many painful set backs in his work for racial justice, but was still able to proclaim:

"Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that."

RCIA FOR CATHOLICS

February 8: Moral Life—Love Revealed in Sacred Boundaries & God's Grace

Fr. Joe Coopman, who teaches moral theology at the seminary and is an advisor for the US bishops, comes to RCIA for Catholics, to address current moral issues in light of Church teaching. Come to understand why the Church teaches what it teaches, a very informative evening you don't want to miss!

Fr. Joe Koopman is a professor of moral theology at St. Mary Seminary on the campus of the Center for Pastoral Leadership in Wickliffe, Ohio. In this role he helps with the formation of future priests, deacons and lay leaders who will serve throughout the Diocese of Cleveland. Fr. Koopman also serves as an advisor in moral theology and ethics for the Diocese of Cleveland and the Ohio Catholic Conference of Bishops. Moral theology includes Catholic teachings on social issues ranging from marriage to sexuality to medicine, among other topics [and seeks to provide practical ways for Roman Catholics to live according to the morals of God. These include freedom; love; law; responsibility; generosity; treatment of other people, animal life, and the environment; and care for those in need.] Please join us on Wednesday for this enlightening discussion on topics that you may have questioned throughout your life!

All sessions are live streamed on our website at sthilarychurch.org/live. Visit sthilarychurch.org/what-makes-us-catholic/rcia-for-catholics/ for our weekly schedule.
