Ordination to the Priesthood—May 17

Prayer for newly ordained priests

O Jesus, our great High Priest, hear our humble prayers on behalf of your priests, Father James Parisi, Father Jon Hawkins, Father Chris Cotone, Father Brian Peters, and all priest ordained this weekend in the Cleveland Diocese. Give them a deep faith, a bright and firm hope, and a burning love which will ever increase in the course of their priestly lives.

In their loneliness, comfort them; in their sorrows, strengthen them; in their frustrations, point out to them that it is through suffering that the soul is purified. Show them that they are needed by the Church, they are needed by souls, they are needed for the work of redemption.

O loving Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of Priests, take to your heart your sons who are close to you because of their priestly ordinations, and because of the power which they have received to carry on the work of Christ in a world which needs them so much. Be their comfort, be their joy, be their strength, and especially help them to live and to defend the ideals of consecrated celibacy.

Amen.

Gospel Reflection

Reflecting on the Scriptures

During Eastertide many of our first readings concern Paul's missionary activities. Paul is thrilled to have been commissioned by God to bring the good news to the Gentiles. His excitement leaps off the pages of scripture. We...the "Gentiles"..., so many years later, have little appreciation of this revolutionary idea.

Recall that most of those early followers of Jesus were Jews. The idea that the good news might include those "others", the Gentiles, was not universally well received. Some Jews objected to these "outsiders." Peter and Paul came to loggerheads over the issue with Peter insisting initially that to follow Christ meant to observe Jewish practices.(Gal:2) But Paul and his Spirit- infused missionary activity won the day. Christianity was to be open, welcoming and inclusive.

And characterized by love. Which brings us to today's gospel. The "new" commandment Jesus gives his disciples is to love one another. It is love which is to identify the Christian as a follower of Jesus Christ.

Today some who call themselves Christians cannot be identified by their obvious love for others. They could not honestly be described as welcoming and inclusive of others who are different. Instead of a spirituality of abundance, fueled by trust in God and love for the other, they evidence a spirituality of scarcity. Exclusive and unwelcoming, they see others as threats instead of as children of God with innate dignity.

While care and concern for others should be shared by all people of good will, we who call ourselves disciples of Jesus Christ have been given a very clear challenge: "Love one another...This is how all will know you are my disciples. "

So let us be inspired by the words of Pope Francis, written five years before his death, in his encyclical Fratelli Tutti: "We want to be a church that goes forth from its places of worship... to build bridges, to break down walls, to sow seeds of reconciliation. " (#269) ...For that is how true disciples of Jesus Christ should be identified.

For Inquiring Minds—All Things Catholic!

If you are or someone you know is not Catholic but are been curious about the faith and would like to learn more, you are cordially invited to "Inquiry", a series of five gatherings over the summer on Wed eve, 7:00-8:30 pm beginning June 25, where we discuss various topics that are either misunderstood, controversial, or just plain befuddling to people about the Church. It is a "no strings attached" time to ask any Qs before people make a firm commitment to enter the OCIA process that begins in the fall. The advantage of entering OCIA process after Inquiry is having some established relationships with others who have been walking the same journey during the summer. If someone decides not to go forward, that is fine, too. We just feel richer for having known them. We use a fun resource called, "How to Survive Being Married to a Catholic" (which is good for anyone, not just those married). If you would please let me know—either way—whether you still intend to join us for Inquiry this summer, then that will help me order the appropriate no. of books. Contact Randy Malick at rmalick@sthilarychurch.org. Thanks in advance!

St. Hilary Parish

Employment Opportunities

St. Hilary is looking to fill the opening of Staff Accountant, and is accepting resumes immediately. The Staff Accountant plays a pivotal role in managing the day-to-day financial operations of the parish and school. This includes overseeing general ledger activities, payroll and employee benefit processing, accounts payable, donation records, and bank reconciliations. The Staff Accountant collaborates closely with the Business Manager, providing essential financial information and recommendations to support informed decision-making. Additionally, this role involves preparing financial reports for both the parish and the diocese, ensuring compliance with relevant policies and procedures. Engagement with parishioners, staff, and diocesan employees is integral, requiring professionalism and effective communication.

We are also looking to fill the opening of Stewardship Minister. The Stewardship Minister meets with all new parishioners to register them and familiarize them with the parish ministries and facilities, plans two new parishioner lunches each year, is the staff liaison to Parish Council, plans the annual Gifts Discernment retreat in May, plans the annual Stewardship Renewal Campaign, and helps coordinate parish social justice ministries.

Interested parties should forward their letter of interest, resume, and references to Fr. Steve Brunovsky at sbrunovsky@sthilarychurch.org.

St. Hilary Creation Care

In 2021, the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops wrote in support of PFAS Action Act of 2021 (H.R.2467) noting that human and environmental health concerns are interconnected, and we must not forget that “human life is itself a gift which must be defended from various forms of debasement” (Laudato Si’, no. 5).

“Per-fluoroalkyl and poly-fluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) are a diverse class of compounds containing thousands of individual chemicals. Useful for non-stick and water-repellent properties, certain PFAS have been integrated into numerous household products. PFAS have also been employed in firefighting foam across the United States.

“PFAS are resistant to degradation and bioaccumulate in the environment and the human body. Prolonged exposure to these chemicals can cause cancer, thyroid problems, birth defects, and reproductive, developmental, and immune system disruptions...Pregnant and nursing mothers, and their children, are especially affected. Such exposure occurs through polluted drinking water, food, soil, dust and the use of consumer products manufactured using PFAS. The widespread utilization of these “forever chemicals” has resulted in significant environmental contamination.”

Research into the removal of these chemicals has had some promising recent breakthroughs (e.g. nanocages promise to remove 80-90% from ground water). And the EPA finalized maximum contaminant levels in drinking water with measurements of local supplies to begin by 2027. As of last year, PFAS are considered a hazardous substance, but a recent EPA proposal to limit PFAS in industrial wastewater has been withdrawn.

Contact your state and federal representatives to encourage continued funding of research into PFAS mitigation and to enact limits on PFAS in industrial wastewater.

St. Hilary Students Compete in Geography Bee

St. Hilary School held its school geography bee on May 7, 2025. National Geographic has permanently discontinued its GeoBee, but St. Hilary School’s bee was organized by eighth grade teacher Mr. Max Sherry to enable students in grades 5-8 to continue to learn about geography and participate in this traditional academic competition. Fifteen students competed in the bee after qualifying at the classroom level. Eighth grader Joey Olszewski won the bee, and seventh grader Chris Regula was runner-up in the competition. As the winner of the bee, Joey also received a $500 scholarship in memory of St. Hilary School graduate Jimmy Lyons, who won the school bee for four consecutive years between 2003 and 2006, was a state bee competitor, and passed away in 2011. In addition to Joey and Chris, contestants in the bee included eighth graders Grant Peiffer, Peter Thoman and Will Warner; seventh graders Michela Guthrie, Koen Latchaw and Jenna Price, sixth graders Lucas Carvalho, Jimmy Davidson, Nick Ponomariov, and Noah Price, and fifth graders Harper Frerichs, Austin Inglett, and Charles Walker.
