MISSION FOR THE WEEK

Share a can of food, a bag of sugar, and powdered milk with the hungry.

LIVE THE LITURGY - INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

Are we willing to be taught by God? If we are, then we will begin to see things and make judgments using a Divine lens. Often, we perceive things with purely human eyes and reference points. When we do this, reality can lose its Divine spark and we miss what God is trying to say. When using human eyes exclusively, Jesus is at best perceived simply as a prophet who has some wise things to say. The human element has a difficult time seeing Jesus' divinity and recognizing him as the Bread of Life that comes down from heaven. We can easily get stuck on Jesus' human associations and overlook the marvelous wonders God wants us to see. If we really allow ourselves to be taught by God, we will then come to see the truth about Jesus and the abundant everlasting life God offers. Jesus becomes the key that unlocks all of our relationships: with God, others, ourselves, and creation. He, as the true and lasting bread from heaven, shows us the gifts of faith, hope, and love that God bestows on us. Through this divine lens we see that all life sparkles and glows with God's love. ©LPI

Reading Reflections & Questions

The God of Surprises

Chapter 6 of John's gospel describes how Jesus multiplied five loaves of bread and a couple of fish to feed five thousand men (adds Mt 14:21, "not counting women and children"). After the miracle, his disciples, without Jesus, embarked in a boat for Capernaum.

The people he had fed followed and found him. Jesus said to them, "You are looking for me not because you saw signs but because you ate the loaves and were filled. Do not work for food that perishes but for the food that endures for eternal life, which the Son of Man will give you... I am the bread that came down from heaven."

In today's Gospel, the Jews murmur in reaction to the claim of Jesus, "How can this man say this? Is he not the son of Mary and Joseph? How can he come from heaven?" But Jesus sticks to his declaration.

His word is laden with surprises: first, he is bread and, second, he has come down from heaven. He is not just bread, but he also comes from heaven! Third, Jesus says that the person (who eats this bread) he will raise on the last day. This is not the last thing he says. He also affirms that "whoever believes has eternal life." It is a challenging message: if a person believes in him (Jesus), that person will accomplish in himself what only God can do: enjoy eternal life!

To sum up, we can imagine Jesus telling the Jews, "I am bread (life-giving thing), not just a man like you, made up of flesh and blood. I come from heaven (that is, from another world, which can be called heaven). And ultimately, I don't originate from a woman, although externally you see and believe that Mary is my mother. My origin is the God of heaven and earth, the Father. I have greater life-giving power than the manna your fathers ate in the desert, thanks to Moses. My gift to you is for eternal life, not just for a temporary sojourn in this world. One last thing: this food and bread is my flesh, even if it's impossible for you to understand and accept it now. Because for God nothing is impossible. You have seen how I was able to give life to dead people, how I could walk over seawater, how I could drive out demons from the bodies of possessed persons, how I could heal all other kinds of human illnesses, how I could still a storm at sea..."

And at the Last Supper with his disciples, Christ by his divine power will transform bread and wine into his flesh and blood. This makes real his promise, "Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him on the last day" (Jn 6:54).

Another divine work of wonder and surprise we should not put aside because it is part of the Christian Catholic faith is the meaning of Calvary and of redemption: Christ did not undergo his fate as a sinner or criminal. He accepted it in order to wash away with his blood, tears, and sweat the sins of mankind. God could have forgiven those sins by an act of the divine will or the pronouncement of a few words. But Jesus chose to show the power of divine love and forgiveness, to reveal also its extent, by suffering the agony and the torment of the passion and crucifixion. And when he felt that the work of redemption has been done, he pronounced those mysterious words, Consummatum est—"It is finished" (Jn 19:30). Three days after, he rose from the dead. He defeated death and sin. Jesus is the Son of God, the God of surprises.

QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK - INVITE PARISHIONERS TO REFLECT AND RESPOND TO SCRIPTURE

First Reading: The prophet Elijah was exhausted and literally prayed for death. The Lord answered his prayer by sending Elijah food and drink for strength. How do you encourage others in your life who are spiritually drained?

Second Reading: Paul held Christian communities to very high standards of conduct. How well do you think your faith community holds to these standards today?

Gospel: We hear today John's account of Jesus' rejection by his own people. The Jews struggled to think of Jesus as "the living bread that came down from heaven." What are some of Jesus' words that challenge you or cause you to struggle?

"I am the bread of life. Your ancestors ate the manna in the desert, but they died; this is the bread that comes down from heaven so that one may eat it and not die." Jn 6:48-50

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

What's Your Hearth Cake?

"Get up and eat, or the journey will be too much for you." I've been to a lot of meetings in my years of work in the Church, and you can take my word for it: the ones with snacks just seem to go better.

I don't know what it is exactly. Maybe it's just that people are in a more agreeable mood if you show up with donuts. Or maybe it's about the very real sense of community and camaraderie that is created at a table where people are engaging in that most human of tasks — eating — beside one another. I think a big part of it comes down to the simple fact that we're all just nicer people when we're fed.

This rings true spiritually, too. We simply must remain fed if we, in turn, are to feed others. Think of a time when you have neglected your relationship with God — when you haven't fed yourself with whatever it is that you need to remain committed to the journey of a Christian life. Is it Mass attendance? Is it prayer or Scripture reading? Is it time with your small group, or conversation with a trusted friend who knows your soul? What sustains your ability to be a good disciple, a good steward? What inspires you to give more freely, to love more abundantly?

Whatever it is, that's your hearth cake. That's your jug of water. Don't neglect it. The Angel of the Lord is nudging you in your sleep: "Get up and eat, or the journey will be too much for you."

Question: What is a transitional deacon?

Answer: There are two types of deacons in the church. Both are members of the clergy. Both have the same liturgical role. Both have the service of the community as their primary work. One is called a permanent deacon, usually a married man ordained as a deacon with no intention of becoming a priest. They preach, baptize, witness marriages, conduct funeral services, and look after the needs of the poor. They also visit the sick and take Communion to them, although they cannot celebrate the sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick. They might also assist the pastor in his administrative duties. Permanent deacons are usually well known and respected in their communities and have roots there.

A transitional deacon is one who functions as a deacon for a period of time prior to ordination as a priest. His diaconate assignment serves as a kind of internship of ordained ministry. During his year or two as a deacon, he will learn the practical aspects of parish life, getting a firsthand look at the life of a priest. His work has a different focus than a permanent deacon in that he is looking forward to ordination as a priest.
