Rabbi Dadoun and Cantor Sebo invite you and your entire family to set aside some time for a spiritual uplift, connection to our community, and to live the Jewish values that contribute to the quality of our lives. This service is innovative, participatory and accessible to everyone – an opportunity for the whole family to explore their own Jewish practices while engaging with other members to discover the many different ways Judaism can enrich our everyday lives, turning the ordinary into extraordinary. Please join us for an hour of joy and rejuvenation as we celebrate Shabbat and other special occasions together.

FROM THE RABBI'S STUDY

Healing A Wounded Country

It takes little imagination or courage to say that our beloved America is deeply wounded at this point. Indeed, being plain to all, the claim requires no demonstration. Yet, the following urgent questions require cogent responses: How can we heal ourselves? What are the contours of a nation restored to health and vigor? How do we create a compelling picture of the common good to which a majority of Americans will willingly subscribe?

At times like these, we seek insight from many sources, one of which, as always, is our ancient/contemporary Torah text. Now, the Torah chapters which set the Book of Exodus in motion suggest insight into our current malaise as well as possible ways out. And so, I want to draw out five ideas from hints just below the surface of these texts that together offer a picture of what a healthy society might look like.

The first idea: contrasting pictures of the same family. In Genesis there are everywhere the raw emotions of rivalry, jealousy and resentment among Jacob's sons. And at the end of Genesis, Jacob rebukes three of his sons for the deeds they had perpetrated. A family in disarray, even after uneasy reconciliations. But when we come to the opening sentences of Exodus, we find an emotionless list of the brothers (now become the twelve tribes) and see no evidence of divisions or divisiveness. What we seem to see now is simply a people at peace with itself. Rivalries transcended or least pushed into the background and out of the way.

The second idea: giving their children Hebrew names. The Midrash tells us that Moses's mother called him Tov (good) or Tovia. In addition, the Pharaoh's daughter who found, and felt pity, for this "Hebrew child" gave him the name "Moses." Now the name "Moses" in Egyptian means "son of" or "born to" and so we might say that she gave him an Egyptian name. But the author gives that name a Hebrew etymology, namely, that "I have drawn him out of water," quietly stamping Moses's life with portentous meaning. If these hints add up to inference, then the Israelites were honoring a tradition, connecting the generations, and insisting on carrying it on even in perilous circumstances.

The third idea: resisting tyranny. In chapter two we witness Moses's mother and sister successfully outsmarting the Egyptian genocide. When Moses as an infant cries out and thereby threatens the safety of his household, Moses's mother puts him in a reed basket and floats him in marshes of the Nile River toward the palace of Pharaoh and his family. And, just as she had hoped, Pharaoh's daughter comes down to the river to bathe and finds the boy. She retrieves him and looks for a nursemaid to help her. And who is ready with a suggestion? Moses's sister, who had positioned herself to be ready to do just that, suggests Moses's mother who now raises her son under the auspices of the tyranny itself!

The fourth idea: the importance of friendships and alliances with members of the opposition. Simply stated, the Egyptian midwives favor the Israelites against the Pharaoh. They refuse to follow the order to kill at birth all the male Israelites. And when challenged, they fabricate an excuse, saying that the Hebrew women are so vigorous that they are able to give birth on their own before the midwives arrive. In other words, friendships and alliances seem to have been formed ... friendships and alliances from the domain of "the other side," from what may have seemed to be unlikely territory for sympathy and understanding.

The fifth idea: choosing the right leaders. Take Moses, for example, the first great leader of our people. What are his most important qualities? Three stand out: curiosity, leading by shepherding, and humility. Moses displays curiosity when, confronted with a curious feature of the burning bush, he says, "I will turn aside and see why the bush doesn't burn." Secondly, as a shepherd, the Torah announces that the right leader cares, first and foremost, for the wellbeing of the flock and not himself. The right leader serves others. And, when Moses is challenged by G-d to step forward and lead, he responds, "Who am I that I should go to Pharaoh and free the Israelites from Egypt." And, moments later, "Please, O Lord, I have never been a man of words ..." Good leaders are, at first, terrified by the burdens of leadership and thereby add yet another reason to choose them.

And so, I suggest that these five ideas, culled from the first chapters of Exodus, give us a striking portrait of a healthy society ... a society which has healed its wounds, shows high regard for its traditions, skillfully resists the tyrannical forces that threaten it, forms alliances and friendships with groups adverse to itself, and chooses leaders of character who care.

Let us hope that our society can find in these ideas the materials we need to put ourselves back on the path toward "a more perfect union."

ALL IN 2020-2021

To our Temple family and friends who have supported this year's All In Campaign, thank you for your steadfast commitment and generosity during this challenging and historic time. Your gift helps us support our Temple families, continue to inspire Jewish values, and create connections that last a lifetime.

Last month we shared with you the exciting announcement of the Garson All In Challenge. Overwhelming would be an understatement for the response of our Temple Trustees who have supported the campaign with 100% participation and met this challenge with generous increases.

We still have a long way to go in meeting our goal. Now, we turn to you, our devoted congregants, because if there was ever a time when the strength of our congregation was needed, and when your gift will have a strong impact on our future, now is that time. "If not now, when?"

The needs of our community will continue to grow as the pandemic endures. Only with your help can we continue to fulfill our mission.

Thank you again for your commitment to this congregation and we appreciate your generosity as you consider your 2020-2021 gift.

We welcome the new year with high hopes for 2021 and gratitude and prayers for your good health, Ronny Fisher and Michael Shames, 2020-21 All In Co-Chairs

THE RACIAL JUSTICE TASK FORCE PRESENTS:

In partnership with Temple Emanu El,
The Temple's Racial Justice Task Force presents:

RACIAL JUSTICE BOOK DISCUSSION

Wednesday, February 3 at 7:00 PM via Zoom

<https://zoom.us/j/82035736582> (passcode: COLORS)

The Color of Love by Marra B. Gad is a story about being an adopted mixed-race Jewish woman, and explores what we inherit from our family – identity, ethnicity, conflict and most powerfully, love.

RACIAL JUSTICE BOOK DISCUSSION

Wednesday, February 17 at 7:00 PM via Zoom

<https://zoom.us/j/99080721796> (passcode: 252009)

Join us as we discuss The Color of Law by Richard Rothstein who argues with exacting precision and fascinating insight how segregation in America – the incessant kind that continues to dog our major cities and has contributed to so much recent social strife – is the byproduct of explicit government policies at the local, state, and federal levels.

In partnership with Temple Emanu El, The Temple's
Racial Justice Task Force presents Part 2 of the series:

THE COLORS OF JEWS

Thursday, February 18 at 7:00 PM via Zoom

Watch your email for Zoom link and more information

The Temple-Tifereth Israel and Temple Emanu El invite you to participate in a community-wide conversation about belonging and identifying as Jews of Color and embracing racial diversity in Reform Jewish congregations. We will learn what it is like to participate in Jewish life as Jews of color and discuss how we can create a Jewish community that is open, loving, and anti-racist through a panel discussion that will include several Clevelanders.

PLEASE INVITE YOUR FAMILY AND FRIENDS - ALL ARE WELCOME!

MOVIE WATCH PARTY

Saturday, February 27 at 7:00 PM

Watch for more information on how to join the watch party

In Berlin in the 1930s, the civil rights of Jews were systematically stripped away. A young rabbi refused to be silent. His name was Joachim Prinz, and he set out to restore the self-esteem of the German Jews. He saved many lives by encouraging Jews to emigrate from Germany.

Expelled from Germany in 1937, Prinz arrived in the United States, the land where democracy had supposedly triumphed over bigotry and hatred. Here he witnessed racism against African Americans and realized the American ideal was not a reality. As rabbi of Temple B'nai Abraham in Newark, NJ, and later as President of the American Jewish Congress, Prinz became a leader of the civil rights movement. Prinz worked to organize the 1963 March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, declaring, "bigotry and hatred are not the most urgent problem. The most urgent, the most disgraceful, the most shameful and the most tragic problem is silence." Moments later, Martin Luther King, Jr. delivered his "I Have A Dream" speech.

OUR BEAUTIFUL SIMCHA ROOM

Thanks to the generosity of the Miller family, the Simcha Room at The Temple now has beautiful “new” art on the wall. Some of you may recognize the multi-colored needlepoint, as it was featured on the first Torah Ark in the Sanctuary/auditorium at The Temple Branch in Beachwood, dedicated in 1972.

The Temple commissioned noted Cleveland artist and industrial designer Leon Gordon Miller to create a portable Ark (Aron Ha-Kodesh) for its new Branch in 1970, so that its auditorium (now Sanctuary) could be used for Shabbat services as well as for more secular performances. Miller had been creating ritual art and designing rooms for Cleveland synagogues since arriving here in the late 1940s and was recognized internationally for both his artistic work and industrial design achievements.

The Temple Woman’s Association, guided by former TWA president Frieda Yoelson, took on the project of needlepointing the thousands of stitches needed to realize Miller’s design in January 1971. Needlepoint artist Davie Hyman adapted the design for needlepoint. Nine TWA members, Ellen Eigner, Bernice Eisenberg, Vera Galvin, Ruth Kearns, Janet Levin, Clementine Reitman, Helen Shapiro, Valerie Weitz, and Frieda Yoelson, spent a year creating the beautiful needlepoint. The Temple dedicated the new Ark and covering at a Shabbat evening service on May 5, 1972, and the congregation recognized each woman individually for her handiwork.

The needlepoint was recently conserved and transformed into a beautiful wall hanging by Vera Galvin’s family so that it will continue to be a backdrop for Temple simchas, the way that Vera’s legacy and teachings continue to be a guiding and enriching force in their family’s life. In celebration of Sherry and Robert Miller’s 40th wedding anniversary, the family dedicated the restoration of the needlepoint to Vera’s daughter, Mary Miller, who passed away in 2019, the same year that her great-grandchildren became sixth generation members of The Temple.

Vera Galvin (1905-1975), a matriarch of the family to whom the Simcha Room is dedicated, was instrumental in stitching the sacred art. In the same way, she and other Temple women have for decades woven together strong and close-knit families, instilling the values of Judaism and community.

We can’t wait for the day when we will be celebrating simchas together again at The Temple and enjoying this “new” art!

The Miller family includes Temple members, Sherry and Robert Miller (son of Mary and Joseph Miller), and their children and grandchildren: Alyssa, Evan and Ayla Stein; Mandy, Adam, Ellie, Harper and Reese Miller; and Arielle Miller and Michael Gurman.

A ZOOM ART TALK

Family Secrets: Crypto-Jews of the Southwest

With Guest Speaker Cheryl Gordon

Thursday, February 11 from 2:00 to 3:15 PM

<https://zoom.us/j/95409501635> (passcode: 728534)

In school, very little attention was paid to the expulsion of Spanish Jews or the resulting powerful phenomenon of Secret/Crypto-Jews. The compelling stories of these "hidden Jews" and their descendants are playing out today in many places in the world, including the southwestern U.S. Unlocking long-held family secrets has caused thousands to investigate their Jewish roots and hundreds to "return" to the religion of their ancestors. This afternoon, we welcome Cheryl Gordon who will talk about the human element of that moment in history and about the personal journeys of today's "bnei anusim," children of the forced converts.

Cheryl Gordon, M.A.T., MSJS, has enjoyed a varied career, first as a Spanish teacher, then as owner of an international training firm, and, ultimately, as a Jewish communal professional and educator. She is an instructor for Partners in Torah and often presents to many diverse audiences. Cheryl also serves on the board of Mandel Jewish Day School.

Open Letter TO THE WORLD

We, the families of the Pittsburgh Synagogue Shooting, want to thank you for your support and love over the past year.

Our families lost 11 irreplaceable, beautiful Jewish souls. The sorrow and agony was deeply personal and unending. Through your unwavering support, you showed us that we are all one in our sorrow. You showed that the mindless hate that stole our loved ones has no place in America.

Thank you for showing us that we are one Community - one Jewish, one interfaith, one Pittsburgh, one country, and one world. We are truly stronger together.

With love from the families of:

WON'T YOU CONSIDER SUPPORTING THE TEMPLE BROTHERHOOD?

BROTHERHOOD
THE TEMPLE-TIFERETH ISRAEL

The Temple Brotherhood leads and supports programs that help make The Temple a warm and welcoming community where everyone matters. The Brotherhood also provides fun opportunities to build friendships, share Jewish fellowship, participate in Temple programs and grow professional networks. All men of The Temple are part of Brotherhood and we do not collect or require dues. We instead rely on the generosity of those who wish to support our mission through voluntary donations. Some of our programs include:

The Brotherhood sponsors multi-generational activities for the Temple that are open to all members. In the past, this has included a delicious Pasta Dinner during Fest Aviv, pancake breakfast for the first day of religious school and outings to baseball games and football tailgates.

The Brotherhood supports The Temple financially. We recently helped purchase a new sukkah for the Temple. We also contribute to celebratory shabbats, provide bagels for our religious school families and so much more. The Brotherhood provides greeters at services, volunteers at community events across Northeast Ohio and partners with other Temple Affiliates to coordinate engaging programs and subsidize costs.

Our last fundraising request was several years ago so we ask for your support by making a voluntary donation to the Brotherhood which will allow us to continue to serve the Temple and its members. Our goal is to raise a total of $7,500 by March 31, 2021. Gifts can be made online at bit.ly/ttibrotherhood or by calling The Temple at 216.831.3233, ext. 162.

If you have questions or want to get more involved in the Brotherhood, please contact Jason Hollander at jason\_hollander@hotmail.com. Thank you for supporting our Brotherhood and the vision of The Temple.
