QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK - REFLECT AND RESPOND TO SCRIPTURE

First Reading:

The prophet Isaiah spoke of how God, through Israel, would show his "glory" to all people and have his "salvation reach to the ends of the earth." What do you imagine the world will look like when this happens?

Second Reading:

Today's reading is the opening greeting of Paul's First Letter to the Corinthians. Paul tells the believers in Corinth that they (and all believers) are "sanctified" (blessed) and "called to be holy." What do you think it takes to be blessed and holy?

Gospel:

In today's Gospel reading we hear John the Baptist testify that Jesus is the Son of God. If you had the chance, what would you tell people about Jesus?

Let us sing our praises to the Lord

Pastor Notes—“Elizabeth Ann Seton”

Elizabeth Ann Seton is a saint of the Incarnation.

Her January 4 feast day is surrounded by Christmas feasts, sandwiched between the January 1 Christmas Octave celebration of Mary, Mother of God, and Epiphany Sunday.

These feasts show how “at home” God made himself in his world through the Incarnation by choosing a family and “pitching his tent” among us.

They are also Feasts that show how out of place God was among us, with his immaculate virgin mother, heralding angels, and visits by strange men from the east bearing strange gifts.

Mother Seton was also very much at home in her world — and out of place in it.

Young “Betsy” Bayley was courted by the handsome William Seton and was “perfectly happy” in her life of dances and fellowship framed but not dominated by her Episcopalian faith. Soon she was a young wife and mother, giving herself to both roles generously. Her husband’s work often took him away from home, and she delighted in her children in his absence. “Your Darlings have enjoyed this cool day and are merry as birds,” she wrote to her husband. “They cannot understand that Papa is not to come nor tomorrow, nor the next day, nor the day after – that is for their mother to feel.”

She also told her husband that “these arms, heart and bed are all forlorn without you.”

But for all her comfortability with her life, Elizabeth had many reasons to feel out of place in the world.

Her childhood home had been awkward. Her family had backed the wrong side in the Revolutionary War and had to reconcile with the new regime. She lost her mother at a young age and had a distant relationship with her step-mother.

Five children in to her marriage, her husband started coughing and only stopped when he died in 1803 in Italy of tuberculosis.

Elizabeth had taken him there to save him with the country’s Mediterranean climate, but ended up saving herself by encountering the country’s Catholic culture.

She would soon convert to the Catholic faith, making her out of place in her own family. She was given strict orders to not proselytize her relatives, so instead she told them about the new love of her life in secret.

She was both in the world and out of place in the world. So was her new faith.

The very things that attracted Elizabeth to the faith bore the marks of the God who made a home in our world in order to call us out of it. This is clear at Christmas, when God comes among us as the most loveable and most startling thing God can be: a baby. But it is even more stark when he comes to us as something even more commonplace and startling: bread.

The miracle of the Eucharist was like home to Elizabeth. “This heavenly bread of Angels removes my pains, my cares – warms, cheers, soothes, contents and renews my whole being,” she said.

It was also a mystical intrusion from another world, at Christmas. St. Elizabeth Ann transcribed the following message from her daughter, preparing a child for communion. “Spend every day till Christmas a quarter of an hour in the Chapel to offer your dear heart to our Blessed Lord,” she wrote. “Beg our dear Lord to be born in your heart as he was in the Manger for our Salvation – Oh! Theresa remember you can make your first Communion but once. Try to make it well.”

SAINT ELIZABETH ANN SETON

This “saint of the Incarnation” would give Christ a new incarnation in America.

Just as the infant Jesus in the manger led to the Eucharistic Jesus in the tabernacle, the incarnation of Christ on earth led to his incarnation in the Church throughout time.

St. Paul VI meditated on this very mystery in his canonization homily about Elizabeth Ann Seton. He said there are “two elements that are entirely different but which come together to produce a single effect: sanctity. One of these elements is the human and moral element, raised to the degree of heroism. The second element is the mystical element, which express the measure and form of divine action in the person chosen by God to realize in herself — always in an original way — the image of Christ.”

He saw this mixing of the human and divine in Elizabeth Ann Seton’s life. Now we can all see it.

Google “Elizabeth Ann Seton” and you learn the two shorthand facts of her life: “she was the first person born in what would become the United States to be canonized,” and “She opened the first American parish school.”

She was a child of the American Revolution who became a saint of the Church of Rome. She was mother to five Setons who became Mother Seton to many others. She established an ordinary thing, a school, and achieved an extraordinary thing, sparking the Catholic education system in America.

So it makes sense that, in between the Mother of God and the Magi, we celebrate Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton.

In each case, grace erupted into an ordinary life to turn it into something special. It’s a reminder that each of us has the same identity: we are children of our parents and children of a Father in heaven, meant to act on earth, but meant to act for God.

WHY DO WE DO THAT? - CATHOLIC LIFE EXPLAINED

Reading the Bible

Question:

What is unique or different about the way Catholics read and are exposed to the Bible?

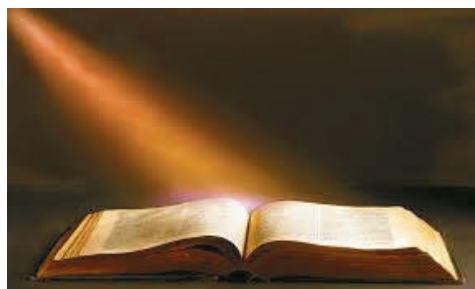

Answer:

Catholics are exposed to Scripture primarily through the Sunday readings from a book known as the Lectionary. The Lectionary is a book of selected passages from the Bible set in the context of a liturgical season, such as Advent, Lent, or ordinary time. There are four readings assigned to any Sunday: the first reading (usually from the Old Testament), the responsorial psalm, the second reading (usually from a New Testament letter), and the Gospel reading.

These readings together give them a new context. The selected readings relate to one another in a unique manner that is not present in the Bible text itself. In close proximity to each other, these readings now have the opportunity to converse with each other in a way that would have not been possible before. A homilist pays attention to all four readings, preparing a reflection that speaks of this conversation among the readings, enabling us to zero in on what this unique combination of God’s word has to say to us this particular Sunday.

Next time you attend Sunday liturgy, try reading the Scripture ahead of time and see how this new relationship among the readings addresses and challenges you to be a better Christian here and now.

PRAYER TO SAINT MICHAEL

Saint Michael, the Archangel, defend us in battle; be our defense against the wickedness and snares of the devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray; and do thou, O Prince of the heavenly host, by the power of God, thrust into Hell Satan and the other evil spirits who prowl about the world for the ruin of souls. Amen.

GLORIA -Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to people of good will. We praise you, we bless you, we adore you, we glorify you, we give you thanks for your great glory, Lord God, heavenly King, O God, almighty Father. Lord Jesus Christ, Only Begotten Son, Lord God, Lamb of God, Son of the Father, you take away the sins of the world, have mercy on us; you take away the sins of the world, receive our prayer; you are seated at the right hand of the Father, have mercy on us, . For you alone are the Holy One, you alone are the Lord, you alone are the Most High, Jesus Christ, with the Holy Spirit, in the glory of God the Father. Amen.

NICENE CREED

I believe in one God,
the Father almighty,
maker of heaven and earth,
of all things visible and invisible.

I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ,
the Only Begotten Son of God,
born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God,
begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father;
through him all things were made.
For us men and for our salvation
he came down from heaven,

*and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary,
and became man.*

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.

I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.
