From Father George's Desk... In today's second reading St. Paul paints for us an interesting and useful (even slightly comical) word picture to understand the interconnectedness of all Christians. Just as our physical bodies are not complete without the complex arrangement of all our diverse parts (organs, limbs, etc.) so, too, the Body of Christ, the Church, is not complete without the complex arrangement of all our diverse parts (us). Our bodies function best when all the parts are healthy and functioning normally; likewise, the Body of Christ functions best when all the members are healthy and in right relationship to Christ and one another. And what is the function of the Body of Christ? To continue the work begun by Jesus to bring glad tidings to the poor...to proclaim liberty to captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free. Let us take to heart the words of today's readings and strive to be healthy members of the Body of Christ, leading the lives Christ calls us to lead that the Church will function well as we answer our baptismal call.

This weekend finds us in the midst of the annual observance of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI writes, "...the task of restoring unity, which demands all our energy and efforts, is infinitely above our own possibilities. Unity with God and our brothers and sisters is a gift that comes from on high..." Let us pray earnestly and always for this gift! This week was chosen because January 18 used be celebrated as the Feast of the Chair of St. Peter and January 25 is the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul. These great apostles stand as two great pillars of the Church: immortal witnesses to the unity of believers. Unity among all followers of Jesus Christ is a concern that should never be far from our thoughts. There are many legitimate theological and ecclesiastical differences among Christians and we continue to be haunted by the sad and sometimes violent history of division. However, there are also many signs of hope. Locally we are blessed to have a wonderful cooperative spirit of ecumenism among many congregations in the Penn-Trafford Ministerium. May our cooperation and discussion allow us to learn more about each other. Ignorance breeds fear and hate, while understanding breeds unity and peace.

Planning for our Parish Festival will continue on Tuesday, February 1 at 6:30PM in Gillen Hall. The primary item on the agenda will be looking for parishioners to take the lead in coordinating the various festival areas and an overall festival chair. The festival is set for July 31.

On Monday the Church honors the great bishop and doctor of the Church, St. Francis de Sales. He was the oldest of six children born into a noble family in the Duchy of Savoy (in modern-day France) in 1567. As the eldest son, Francis was expected by his father to be well-schooled for a life as a privileged politician. But while in college, Francis had what might be considered a "dark night of soul". Influenced by the doctrine of predestination, being taught by Calvinists at the time, Francis was convinced of his own damnation, leading to a prolonged personal crisis of faith. He had a great epiphany in early 1587 as he prayed the Memorare at a shrine to Our Lady of Good Deliverance, namely, that God had good in store for him because God is love. This great revelation led him to forgo the wishes of his family and he was ordained a priest in 1593. Francis was well-known as a powerful and charismatic preacher, teaching and preaching of God's love and mercy. He also did much writing, contributing greatly to the development of spirituality for the laity, most famously in his book, The Introduction to the Devout Life. He spent the last 20 years of his life as Bishop of Geneva, continuing his ministry of building up the Church in the wake of the Reformation. Francis de Sales died of a stroke days after Christmas 1622. He is venerated as the patron of writers and journalists, because he made extensive use of broadsheets and books both in spiritual direction and in his efforts to convert the Calvinists of the region. St. Francis also developed a sign language in order to teach a deaf man about God. Because of this, he is the patron saint of the deaf.
