DEACON'S CORNER

When the magi saw the star rising in the east, they set forth from their homelands to search for the newborn king, that they might do him homage. When Herod heard of the birth of the newborn king, he sought him out as well, only his intention was to destroy him. The magi saw the newborn king as of hope for the future. Herod saw him as a threat to his own future as king. These represent the different responses to the encounter with Jesus: to love him as hope for one's future, or to hate him as a threat to one's way of life. There is no middle ground with Jesus. As C. S. Lewis would say, Jesus doesn't give us the option of liking him and admiring him as a great prophet or moral teacher. No! Anyone who made the claims Jesus did was either a horrible, evil liar, a lunatic on the level of a man who thinks he's a poached egg, or the living Lord and God of the universe. Jesus claimed to be Lord and Messiah. He also claimed to be God. To make such claims knowing they are false is evil. To make such claims thinking they are true when they are not is lunacy. To make such claims knowing they are true is to be the incarnation of hope for the world's salvation. The world can be a cold, dark place, and our journey through this life, for believer and unbeliever alike, can seem like a journey through a cold, dark tunnel. But there's a light at the end of the believer's tunnel, and that light makes all the difference. How will we respond to the news of the birth of the newborn king? Will we love him or hate him? Will we stand in the light or hide in the darkness? Jesus is the line of demarcation between eternal life or eternal death. Indifference is not an option.

Diocese Partners with McNabb Center on Sexual Assault Reporting

The Diocese of Knoxville has announced that the McNabb Center, the region's leading nonprofit provider of mental health, substance use, and social and victim services, will serve as the diocese's new sexual assault victim's reporting provider, the first point of contact for anyone wishing to report a possible sexual abuse claim against the diocese.

This partnership with McNabb and the Diocese of Knoxville will provide an independent avenue for individuals to report sexual abuse and receive information on how and where to access support and treatment as needed.

The new phone line to the McNabb Center's victim's assistance coordinator is (865) 321-9080 and is now active. The coordinator will respond to all reports within one business day.

The McNabb Center, previously known as the Helen Ross McNabb Center, is the region's leading nonprofit provider of mental health, substance use, social and victim services. Since 1948, the McNabb Center has proudly served individuals with the most needs and fewest resources. Today, the McNabb Center delivers support to more than 36,750 people throughout East Tennessee each year.

La diócesis se asocia con el Centro McNabb en la denuncia de agresiones sexuales

La Diócesis de Knoxville ha anunciado que el Centro McNabb, el principal proveedor sin fines de lucro de la región que brinda servicios de salud mental, uso de sustancias, servicios sociales y para víctimas, servirá como el nuevo proveedor para informes de víctimas de agresión sexual de la diócesis, esto es, será el primer punto de contacto para cualquier persona que desee reportar una posible denuncia de abuso sexual contra la diócesis.

Esta asociación con McNabb y la Diócesis de Knoxville proporcionará una vía independiente para que las personas denuncien el abuso sexual y reciban información sobre cómo y dónde acceder al apoyo y al tratamiento según sea necesario.

La nueva línea telefónica del coordinador de asistencia a víctimas del McNabb Center es (865) 321-9080 y se activará el 27 de diciembre. El coordinador responderá a todos los informes dentro de un día hábil.

El Centro McNabb, anteriormente conocido como Centro Helen Ross McNabb, es el principal proveedor sin fines de lucro de la región, de servicios de salud mental, uso de sustancias, y servicios sociales y para víctimas. Desde 1948, el Centro McNabb ha servido con orgullo a las personas con más necesidades y menos recursos. Hoy, el Centro McNabb brinda apoyo a más de 36,750 personas en todo el este de Tennessee cada año.
