Roman Catholic Parish
15th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Parishioners,

I hope you are well and had a great 4th of July celebration. Both SRW and SJC had beautiful Masses that celebrated God and His many blessings in our country and our lives. May we continue to trust in God and ask His intercession and blessing upon our country and our freedom.

I was recently asked to do a talk for a group of people in early August. The title will be Lessons I Learned from leading a parish/school through the Pandemic. As I began to write the talk realities began to set in. This past year has been one of the toughest years of my priesthood and pastoring. If you add the tensions and division of the recent election and the racial struggles to my plate, you had the perfect storm. As a priest, pastor and leader in our community, I had to navigate through unchartered territories. There was no playbook of how to handle the various realities we found ourselves in each day. I had to listen to what the leadership of the Catholic Church and Bishop were asking us to do and balance that against the reality of our lived experience and needs at each of the two parish communities. As many of you found, there was no one solid place to get good information and so many thought their way was the right way and were unwilling to dialogue. This led to many sleepless nights trying to figure it all out. Thanks to great mentors and an AWESOME God I was able to do stay on a good path.

Over the next few weeks, I am going to reflect on these realities and where I succeeded and where I fell short in my leadership as well as help to chart a course moving forward. I will focus in on three areas. I will focus on the pandemic, election (politics) and racial issues. In all three areas I want to state sincerely and genuinely that if any way my words, choices, policies, decisions, etc. offended any one or caused anyone to stop coming to church or walkaway from the parish, I offer my sincere apologies! My intention would never be such. I am old enough to know that rarely are we all going to be on the same page, but my hope and intentions are always to unite and not divide. If you find yourself in this category or know someone that is, please encourage them to reach out and set-up a time to meet with me so we can dialogue, heal and hopefully restore the relationship. As a pastor/shepherd that is my number one goal!

Regarding the pandemic, a few random thoughts to contextualize my thoughts/decisions:

I can clearly remember receiving the memo from Fr. Don Oleksiak, our Diocesan Administrator at the time, stating the parish and school were to shut down and everything was to go virtual. I felt like I was in some other reality. However, within minutes my mind jumped to reaching out to the staff and key parish leaders to figure out how to continue the mission and ministry of the parish/school. We did this through LIVESTREAMING Mass, Adoration, Talks, Concerts, Adult Ed opportunities, PSR, LIFETIMEEN, Men's Group, Parish Mission, etc. We started holding drive thru's for palms, holy water, Easter food blessing kits, carnations for Mom's, hot dogs/hamburgers for Memorial Day, and even a drive thru Anointing of the Sick. We added Robo Calls, Videos, Texts and Emails so we could stay connected to people. Staff and parishioners volunteered to call our older parishioners and check in on them. Anything and everything we could do to stay connected. And as soon as there was a way to allow for in person gatherings again (albeit sometimes with some "odd protocols") we did so. While we were not perfect, I think we did well because of the awesome staff and parishioners who were willing to go above and beyond to think outside the box and continue our ministry of Worship/Sacraments, Prayer, Faith Formation and Service/Outreach.

Once we were allowed to offer public Masses again, both SRW and SJC jumped in as quickly as we could. Within two months, our full Mass schedule was restored at both parishes as well as continued LIVESTREAMING of all Masses. At no point did we ever stop offering Confession, we just had to get creative during the shutdown of the when and where. We were able to reopen Adoration quickly. We tried our best to establish protocols for health and safety, while at the same time respecting the beauty and sacredness of the Mass/Sacraments and all that goes into them. While I am not sure anyone truly liked wearing a mask, we tried to be respectful of all the various places people fall on the spectrum of using them. This was done by offering outdoor opportunities and not being so strict and unreasonable that people who genuinely had an issue could not participate. For example, our policy with children was aged 8 and younger when most places were aged 2 and under.

I state all of this simply to say...we tried our best to walk down the middle in the response to the pandemic. We did not always do this perfectly and fell short at times. We saw throughout the entire world all sorts of extremes from total shutdowns/lockdowns to doing absolutely nothing. For me, I always try to lead us down the middle and to find "creative" ways to accomplish the same outcomes. While we still have COVID with us in our world, I do hope that those still taking precautions feel comfortable and welcome and those who have moved passed it feel the same. In other words, our number one priority is for the health and safety of every person physically, emotionally, and most importantly spiritually! I certainly hope we never see something like this again in our world, at least certainly not in our lifetime. I do believe we can and will come out stronger! If we do all things in Christ, for Christ and with Christ, we cannot and will not fail!

Make it a great week and see you in church!

Peace, Fr. John

LUKE BROWN'S REFLECTION

The Gospel reading this weekend provides us with a rich reflection on boundaries with others. Jesus calls for the disciples to shake the dust off their feet and move on if they are not welcome. It seems like it would be very tempting for the disciples to stay where they are unwelcome and try to convince people to repent. It seems like this would be the path of generosity, charity, and perseverance. However, while generosity and charity are very important and holy virtues in our faith, many people could benefit from learning about boundaries. When people are called to help others or evangelize, some go too far and either try to force others to change or hurt themselves in the process. On one hand, we must acknowledge that people are free to make their own choices and we cannot force anyone to love God. We think if only we had the right words or tried harder, the other person will change. God offers people a choice, we need to as well. We do not stop loving people when we allow them to make their own choices and focus our time and energy elsewhere. If they change their mind, welcome them back with open arms. On the other hand, we can get frustrated with ourselves for not being able to change others which can result in anger, anxiety, and frustration. We internalize the other person's choices and can think of ourselves as a failure or inadequate. Finding the balance is difficult and it is a topic to be taken to prayer regularly. We need to ask God to guide us in our desire to share Him with others and acknowledge that others are free and responsible for their own choices.

Luke Brown, LPC
