MASS PROGRAM

FIRST READING

As the LORD spoke to me, the spirit entered into me and set me on my feet, and I heard the one who was speaking say to me: Son of man, I am sending you to the Israelites, rebels who have rebelled against me; they and their ancestors have revolted against me to this very day. Hard of face and obstinate of heart are they to whom I am sending you. But you shall say to them: Thus says the LORD GOD! And whether they heed or resist—for they are a rebellious house—they shall know that a prophet has been among them.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

Our eyes are fixed on the Lord, pleading for his mercy.

Psalm Ps 123:1-2, 2, 3-4

SECOND READING

Brothers and sisters:
That I, Paul, might not become too elated, because of the abundance of the revelations, a thorn in the flesh was given to me, an angel of Satan, to beat me, to keep me from being too elated. Three times I begged the Lord about this, that it might leave me, but he said to me, "My grace is sufficient for you, for power is made perfect in weakness." I will rather boast most gladly of my weaknesses, in order that the power of Christ may dwell with me. Therefore, I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and constraints, for the sake of Christ; for when I am weak, then I am strong.

2 Cor 12:7-10

GOSPEL

Jesus departed from there and came to his native place, accompanied by his disciples. When the sabbath came he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were astonished. They said, "Where did this man get all this? What kind of wisdom has been given him? What mighty deeds are wrought by his hands! Is he not the carpenter, the son of Mary, and the brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon? And are not his sisters here with us?" And they took offense at him. Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor except in his native place and among his own kin and in his own house." So he was not able to perform any mighty deed there, apart from curing a few sick people by laying his hands on them. He was amazed at their lack of faith.

Mk 6:1-6

PRAYER FOR THE SUCCESS OF THE VICTORY FUTURE PROJECT

Almighty God and Father,
You established your light on this hill in Delhi and generations have kept that light burning brightly. As we look forward, bless our efforts and our deliberations. Give us wisdom and courage so that we can build the kingdom you desire and the community you long to see. Give us generous, kind hearts and bless our efforts with Success. Amen

Fr. Ben's Column

Seeing with the eyes of Faith makes life richer

When I go home to Dublin, I typically concelebrate daily Mass at our local parish church. It is just a five-minute walk from my parents' home. The priests there have always been very kind to me, and they watch over my parents and make sure they are doing well. Fr. Brendan, the pastor, was a frequent visitor to our home when my father was dying and heard his confession and brought him Holy Communion regularly. Anyway, I'm getting off the point. One morning I was concelebrating Mass with the curate Fr. Tony (name changed) and during the Mass I noticed a young chap kneeling hunched over at the back of church. I say young, he was probably about twenty-two, however, during Mass, this young chap hardly ever raised his head to look up. He didn't stand for the opening of Mass, or the Gospel, or the Our Father, he just knelt in the same spot, hunched over. When it came time for the reception of Holy Communion this young chap waited until most of the people had received and as Fr. Tony gave communion to the last few people he got up and, without lifting his head, he came down the aisle. Fr. Tony, the pious and good man that he is, waited. When the young man got to him, he put his head close to the priests and they had a little conversation. The young man didn't receive communion but slowly walked back to his pew at the back of the church, knelt down, and lowered his head and body in a crouched position.

I sat in the sanctuary watching all of this and thought to myself that this young chap was most likely a street person, a derelict, probably on drugs. I presumed he had asked Fr. Tony for a handout, at Mass, during Holy Communion. I then began plotting my escape. I was sure that seeing a second priest there he would be waiting at the door for me to leave so he could approach me also for a handout. I looked around the church for the nearest and most convenient escape route.

Back in the sacristy after Mass, I asked Fr. Tony if he knew that young man and what did he want. He said, "Oh, that is poor Michael O'Brien (name changed); he's had a long struggle with drugs but he's getting himself back together." I asked him what he said when he came up for Communion? "He won't take Communion," the priest said, "he feels too unworthy. So, he comes up and he says, every time, Father, have pity on me, I don't deserve Communion, please just give me your blessing, that's enough for me."

I thought I knew who this young man was, or more accurately, I thought I knew what this young man was. I was so completely wrong. I made rash judgments based on my own fears and prejudices and I failed to see the goodness, the piety, and even the holiness in another person because I thought they were unworthy. After all, he was just a drug addict, right! Wrong! The truth is that his sense of who Jesus is and who is present in Holy Communion was even greater than mine was. I should have gone back and kissed his feet.

In the Gospel today the rash judgments, prejudices, and expectations of the people of Jesus' village prevent them from seeing who He is, and this blindness prevents them from experiencing what He can do in their lives and for their lives. Their lack of faith prevents them from seeing the real possibilities and reaching out and experiencing them. They only saw the carpenter's son, the son of a woman of the village, they knew his family, they thought they knew Him. Sometimes we fail to see who Jesus has put in our lives because we simply are blinded by our own prejudices and sometimes, we fail to experience what God is doing because we are afraid to believe in who He is and what He can do. Do you think the people of His hometown were richer or poorer when they failed to see Jesus for who He truly was? Do you think your life is richer or poorer when we fail to believe in Jesus or have faith in God?

Fr. Ben

How do we attract people each year who consider becoming Catholic?

The short answer is YOU!

Our parish has many inquirers year after year because our parish members open their hearts to welcome others. As members of a welcoming and evangelizing community, we must take seriously our call to share the Divine message of salvation. The invitation happens in our families, in the workplace, with friends and neighbors, and in daily contacts.

Give thanks to God as He continuously strengthens each of us who seek to do His will in offering a gentle, humble, and clear welcome to the Catholic faith.

“Go out into the whole world and proclaim the Gospel to every creature.” (Mark 16:15)
