A note from Father...

Alleluia, He is Risen! – In the Eastern Church, there is a customary Easter greeting. As Christians greet one another on Easter morning, they make a call and response in Greek (the language of their liturgy): “Christos anesti” - “alithos anesti!” which translates as the greeting: “Christ is risen!” to which the response “He is risen, indeed!” is made. The joy of Easter morning is so palpable, so powerful, so profound, that even the manner in which Christians greet one another is changed to reflect the transforming power of the Passion, Death, and Resurrection of the Son of God, our Savior. With the resurrection, nothing is the same, life is changed forever: it no longer ends in death, but death has become a dramatic procession that leads into life for the one who has faith in Jesus Christ and lives in imitation of Him in all things. In Christ, the powers of hell have been conquered, and the Gates of Heaven have been opened to us – sin and death no longer have their sting for the one who has died and risen with Christ, whose life has been turned from sin and who lives always striving for the Heaven He died to win for us. Alleluia! Praise God! In days such as ours, the life-changing power of Easter morning should be a source of strength and comfort, courage and joy; we know and believe that, in the end, because Christ has risen from the dead, there is nothing in this world that can conquer the unconquerable Christ and anyone who “remains hidden with Him in God” (cf. Col. 3:3). Though we must “dwell for a time in this valley of tears, we fear no evil because He is at our side, strengthening us and encouraging us” (cf. Psalm 23:4) as we follow Him through the trial of the cross to the glory of the resurrection. He is our joy, and in Him our joy is complete, and because of the Resurrection our joy can never be taken from us. And that changes everything.

To always possess this Easter joy, we must keep Christ at the center of our lives, where He belongs and where He truly deserves to be; if we have Him, we have everything. This “keeping Christ at the center” must be both interior and exterior – it must be concretely clear that we keep Him in the center! As a way of expressing concretely our desire to keep Christ at the center of our lives, in the coming weeks we will be transferring the Blessed Sacrament from the east-side of St. Henry’s sanctuary to the center, beneath the crucifix. Many parishioners have expressed this longing, and of course, it’s where He truly belongs: at the center. As we rejoice together this Easter morning and throughout these fifty Easter days, may we each consider how the joy of the resurrection changes everything, and strive to keep the Risen Lord at the center of all we are and everything we do. There is abundant joy to be had, because Christ is risen – He is risen, indeed! May God bless you in the week ahead and may Mother Mary lead you more deeply into the Sacred and Merciful Heart of Jesus. I remain,

Affectionately yours in Christ,

Fr. Hess

Food for Prayer...

From an Easter Vigil homily of Pope Benedict XVI – “You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He has risen, he is not here” (Mk 16:6). With these words, God’s messenger, robed in light, spoke to the women who were looking for the body of Jesus in the tomb. But the Evangelist says the same thing to us on this holy night: Jesus is not a character from the past. He lives, and he walks before us as one who is alive, he calls us to follow him, the living one, and in this way to discover for ourselves, too, the path of life. “He has risen, he is not here.” When Jesus spoke for the first time to the disciples about the Cross and the Resurrection, as they were coming down from the Mount of the Transfiguration, they questioned what “rising from the dead” meant (Mk 9:10). At Easter we rejoice because Christ did not remain in the tomb, his body did not see corruption; he belongs to the world of the living, not to the world of the dead; we rejoice because he is the Alpha and also the Omega, as we proclaim in the rite of the Paschal Candle; he lives not only yesterday, but today and for eternity (cf. Heb 13:8). But somehow the Resurrection is situated so far beyond our horizon, so far outside all our experience that, returning to ourselves, we find ourselves continuing the argument of the disciples: Of what exactly does this “rising” consist? What does it mean for us, for the whole world and the whole of history?...Christ’s Resurrection is something more, something different...it is...absolutely the most crucial leap into a totally new dimension that there has ever been in the long history of life and its development: a leap into a completely new order which does concern us, and concerns the whole of history...Thus we can sing full of joy, together with the Church, in the words of the Exsultet: “Sing, choirs of angels . . . rejoice, O earth!” The Resurrection is a cosmic event, which includes heaven and earth and links them together. In the words of the Exsultet once again, we can proclaim: “Christ . . . who came back from the dead and shed his peaceful light on all mankind, your Son who lives and reigns for ever and ever”. Amen!
