Liturgical Ministries

Over the next few weeks, I want to explore the roles performed at Mass, why they are necessary and the bigger picture they entail.

[155.] In addition to the ordinary ministers there is the formally instituted acolyte, who by virtue of his institution is an extraordinary minister of Holy Communion even outside the celebration of Mass. If, moreover, reasons of real necessity prompt it, another lay member of Christ's faithful may also be delegated by the diocesan Bishop, in accordance with the norm of law, for one occasion or for a specified time, and an appropriate formula of blessing may be used for the occasion. This act of appointment, however, does not necessarily take a liturgical form, nor, if it does take a liturgical form, should it resemble sacred Ordination in any way. Finally, in special cases of an unforeseen nature, permission can be given for a single occasion by the Priest who presides at the celebration of the Eucharist.

The desire for reception of Holy Communion more frequently, and in both species, required the "commissioning" of lay faithful to assist the ordinary ministers of Holy Communion (Bishop, Priest and Deacon) in order to maintain the dignity of reception by the Congregation. The use of Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion at a given liturgy is a decision by the celebrant and/or Pastor on an event-by-event basis. Extraordinary Ministers will always be needed at St William due to the flow of the communion recipients and, when Communion under both species is allowed, the distribution of the Precious Blood would require the use of those ministers.

Outside of Mass extraordinary ministers properly trained can also bring Communion to sick and shut-ins. The properly trained minister can lead Communion service outside of Mass and assist with public Eucharistic Adoration.

The role of extraordinary ministers of Holy Communion is a commissioned role, which is different from other liturgical ministries. That is it is appointed by the Bishop, based on being recommended by the Pastor and having completed parish and diocesan training programs. Extraordinary ministers, like the other liturgical ministries, should make sure that role is filled when needed.

Blessings!

Father Benton Clift Sr.

Organization Meetings

Parish Pastoral and Finance Councils

There was no news from the Tuesday 8/18/20 meetings at the time of bulletin printing.

Worship / Liturgy Committee

There was good response concerning the prospects of recreating this very important Committee. Please contact Fr Benton if you are interested in joining the work of this important function.

Wednesday Mass at St. John

Mass will be celebrated on Wednesdays at 10:30 am at St. John.

First Friday

The next First Friday is September 4. Please look for a sign-up sheet in the back of Church.

Mass Intentions

We need mass intentions, especially for weekdays. Please contact the office to schedule one.

Sanitizing

A limited number of sanitizing wipes are available to wipe down the used pews in our worship space. A few volunteers after Mass would make the work quicker.

Open Position:

Sunday Morning Music Minister

We are interviewing for a Music Minister. Please contact the parish office if you or someone you know might be willing to commit their musical talents to this important part of our liturgical offerings.

FORMED

As it turns out our parish has subscribed to the FORMED streaming network. It is full of Catholic Programming including movies, music, series, catechesis and more. It is clearly an alternative to Netflix, Prime and the News. I will be getting more information about how parishioners, at no cost can access this site.
