THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD

After all the people had been baptized and Jesus also had been baptized and was praying, heaven was opened and the Holy Spirit descended upon him in bodily form like a dove. - Lk 3:21-22a

EL BAUTISMO DEL SEÑOR

Sucedió que entre la gente que se bautizaba, también Jesús fue bautizado. Mientras éste oraba, se abrió el cielo y el Espíritu Santo bajó sobre él en forma sensible, como de una paloma. - Lc 3, 21-22

Living in the Holy Spirit

Few expressions summarize so succinctly what is asked of us as Christians as does the expression, "to live in the Spirit."

Too often, however, this phrase is used in a way that is too pious, too over-charged with charismatic fervor, or too theologically abstract to have much meaning for ordinary people. It may well summarize Christian life, but it can also be little more than a very vague platitude. What does it mean "to live in the Spirit?"

St. Paul, in attempting to specify this, is anything but piously deluded or theologically abstract. Rather he speaks with a clarity that leaves almost no room for vagueness or false sentiment. He begins by a certain Via Negativa, telling us that, if in our lives there is "lewd conduct, impurity, licentiousness, idolatry, sorcery, hostilities, bickering, jealousy, outbursts of rage, selfish rivalries, dissensions, factionalism, envy, drunkenness, orgies, and the like," then we are not living in the spirit, pure and simple. Conversely, we are living in the spirit when, in our lives, there is "charity, joy, peace, patience, endurance, kindness, generosity, faith, mildness, and chastity." (Galatians 5:19-22)

This is a valuable insight because, if we take Paul's words seriously, we can never delude ourselves into identifying true life in the Spirit with what it is so often confused with, namely, false piety and (in pious circles) over-privatized sentiment and confrontation out of hurt, paranoia, and narrow loyalties (in both liberal and conservative circles). When the fruits of the Spirit are absent, regardless of how spiritually confident and self-righteous we might feel or how right our cause might seem, then the Spirit too is absent.

We must be clear about this.

The Spirit is present only when charity, joy, peace, patience, endurance, kindness, generosity, faith, mildness, and chastity are deeply in our lives—and permeate the air around us.

The Holy Spirit, as classically defined in theology, is "the love between the God and Christ, the Father and the Son." It is in meditating on this concept that we come to some understanding of what it means to live in the Spirit. Let me try to elaborate on this by using the image of romantic love in its peak fervor.

Imagine a man and a woman who are deeply, passionately, and completely in love. What will characterize their relationship? Constant giving and receiving, resulting in an ever deeper relationship and an ever intensifying gratitude—which will leave them both, daily, feeling ever more mellow, joyful, peaceful, mild, patient, chaste, and wanting to reach out and share with others what is so quickening in their own lives.

Moreover, their love for each other will create, around them, an ambience, a climate, an atmosphere, of charity, joy, peace, patience, mildness, and chastity. The movement of giving-and-receiving-in-gratitude between them will create a warm hearth where others will spontaneously come to seek warmth in a world which offers too little peace, patience, joy, and the like.

Such a relationship can be a modest indicator for what happens in the Trinity, of how the Father and the Son generate the Spirit, and what results from this generation.

The Father constantly creates and gives life. The Son receives life from the Father and gives it back in gratitude. This then makes it possible for the Father to give even more to the Son

(as is true in all relationships wherein gift is received lovingly).

As this flow of life, this giving and receiving, goes on, gratitude intensifies and an energy, a spirit, the Holy Spirit, is created.

This Spirit, since it is generated by gratitude, naturally is a Spirit of charity, joy, peace, patience, goodness, long-suffering, mildness, faith, and chastity. It is then also a spirit that is naturally incompatible with idolatry, adultery, violence, gossip, factionalism, jealousy, rage, and infidelity.

When we meditate on how the Holy Spirit is generated, we are under less illusion as to what it means to live in the Spirit. To believe that we are living in the Spirit when our lives are not permeated by gratitude, and radiating it, is to be dangerously deluded. We must be clear about this, lest, as poet William Stafford puts it: "Following the wrong God home, we may both miss our star."

Viviendo en el Espíritu Santo

Pocas expresiones resumen tan sucintamente lo que se nos pide como cristianos como lo hace la expresión "vivir en el Espíritu".

Sin embargo, con mucha frecuencia, esta frase se usa de una manera demasiado piadosa, demasiado cargada de fervor carismático o demasiado teológicamente abstracta para tener mucho significado para la gente común. Bien puede resumir la vida cristiana, pero también puede ser poco más que una trivialidad muy vaga. ¿Qué significa "vivir en el Espíritu"?

San Pablo, al intentar especificar esto, es cualquier cosa menos piadosamente engañado o teológicamente abstracto. Más bien habla con una claridad que casi no deja lugar a la vaguedad o al falso sentimiento. Comienza por cierta Vía Negativa, diciéndonos que, si en nuestra vida hay "conducta lasciva, impureza, libertinaje, idolatría, hechicería, hostilidades, riñas, celos, arrebatos de rabia, rivalidades egoístas, disensiones, faccionalismo, envidia, embriaguez, vicios y cosas por el estilo", entonces no vivimos en el espíritu, claro y sencillo. A la inversa, vivimos en el espíritu cuando en nuestra vida hay "caridad, gozo, paz, paciencia, perseverancia, bondad, generosidad, fe, mansedumbre y castidad". (Gálatas 5: 19-22)

Esta es una idea valiosa porque, si tomamos en serio las palabras de Pablo, nunca podremos engañarnos a nosotros mismos para identificar la verdadera vida en el Espíritu con aquello con lo que a menudo se confunde, es decir, la falsa piedad y (en círculos piadosos) un sentimiento y un sentimiento excesivamente privatizados. confrontación por dolor, paranoia y estrechas lealtades (tanto en círculos liberales como conservadores). Cuando los frutos del Espíritu están ausentes, sin importar cuán espiritualmente confiados y santurrones podamos sentirnos o cuán justa pueda parecer nuestra causa, entonces el Espíritu también está ausente.

Debemos tener claro esto.

El Espíritu está presente solo cuando la caridad, el gozo, la paz, la paciencia, la perseverancia, la bondad, la generosidad, la fe, la mansedumbre y la castidad están profundamente en nuestras vidas y impregnán el aire que nos rodea.

El Espíritu Santo, como se define clásicamente en teología, es "el amor entre Dios y Cristo, el Padre y el Hijo". Al meditar en este concepto, llegamos a una cierta comprensión de lo que significa vivir en el Espíritu. Permitanme tratar de desarrollar esto utilizando la imagen del amor romántico en su máximo fervor.

Imagínese un hombre y una mujer que están profundamente, apasionados y completamente enamorados. ¿Qué caracterizará su relación? Dar y recibir constantemente, lo que da como resultado una relación cada vez más profunda y una gratitud cada vez más intensa, lo que los hará a ambos, sentirse diariamente, cada vez más afables, alegres, pacíficos, apacibles, pacientes, castos y deseando extender la mano y compartir con los demás lo que es tan vivificante en sus propias vidas.

Además, su amor mutuo creará, a su alrededor, un ambiente, un clima, un ambiente de caridad, alegría, paz, paciencia, mansedumbre y castidad. El movimiento de dar-y-recibir-en-gratitud entre ellos creará un hogar cálido donde otros vendrán espontáneamente a buscar calidez en un mundo que ofrece muy poca paz, paciencia, alegría y cosas por el estilo.

Tal relación puede ser un indicador modesto de lo que sucede en la Trinidad, de cómo el Padre y el Hijo generan el Espíritu y qué resulta de esta generación.

El Padre crea y da vida constantemente. El Hijo recibe la vida del Padre y la devuelve con gratitud. Esto hace posible que el Padre dé aún más al Hijo.

(como es cierto en todas las relaciones en las que el regalo se recibe con amor).

A medida que avanza este fluir de vida, este dar y recibir, la gratitud se intensifica y se crea una energía, un espíritu, el Espíritu Santo.

Este Espíritu, dado que es generado por la gratitud, es naturalmente un Espíritu de caridad, gozo, paz, paciencia, bondad, longanimidad, apacibilidad, fe y castidad. Entonces es también un espíritu que es naturalmente incompatible con la idolatría, el adulterio, la violencia, el chisme, el faccionalismo, los celos, la rabia y la infidelidad.

Cuando meditamos sobre cómo se genera el Espíritu Santo, tenemos menos ilusión en cuanto a lo que significa vivir en el Espíritu. Creer que vivimos en el Espíritu cuando nuestra vida no está impregnada de gratitud y la irradiia es estar peligrosamente engañados. Debemos ser claros sobre esto, no sea que, como dice el poeta William Stafford: "Siguiendo al Dios equivocado a casa, ambos podemos perder nuestra estrella".

SHARING THE GOSPEL

Your Dad says, "Wash your hands, please. It is almost time to eat." After you wash your hands really well, your Dad smiles. He says, "That's my boy. You did a good job!" In today's Gospel, it was time for Jesus to be baptized.

After his baptism, Jesus talked to God his Father in prayer. Jesus did everything his Father asked. God was happy with his Son and said, "I'm pleased with you."

God, I want to make you and my parents happy.
