1st Reading - Wisdom 7:7-11

A Reading from the Book of Wisdom

I prayed, and prudence was given me;
I pleaded, and the spirit of wisdom came to me.
I preferred her to scepter and throne,
and deemed riches nothing in comparison with her,
nor did I liken any priceless gem to her;
because all gold, in view of her, is a little sand,
and before her, silver is to be accounted mire.
Beyond health and comeliness I loved her,
and I chose to have her rather than the light,
because the splendor of her never yields to sleep.
Yet all good things together came to me in her company,
and countless riches at her hands.

The Word of the Lord. Thanks be to God.

Responsorial: Psalm 90:12-13, 14-15, 16-17

Music: Owen Alstott, © 1977, 1990 OCP.

*Teach us to number our days aright,
that we may gain wisdom of heart.
Return, O LORD! How long?
Have pity on your servants!*

*Fill us at daybreak with your kindness,
that we may shout for joy and gladness all
our days.
Make us glad, for the days when you afflicted us, for the years when we saw evil.*

*Let your work be seen by your servants
and your glory by their children;
and may the gracious care of the LORD
our God be ours;
prosper the work of our hands for us!
Prosper the work of our hands!*

2nd Reading - Hebrews 4:12-13

A Reading from the Letter to the Hebrews

Brothers and sisters:
Indeed the word of God is living and effective,
sharper than any two-edged sword,
penetrating even between soul and spirit, joints and
marrow,
and able to discern reflections and thoughts of the heart.
No creature is concealed from him,
but everything is naked and exposed to the eyes of him
to whom we must render an account.

The Word of the Lord. Thanks be to God.

Music: Owen Alstott © 1977, 1990 OCP.

*Blessed are the poor in spirit,
for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.*

Gospel - Mark 10:17-30

The Lord be with you. And with your Spirit.

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Mark

Glory to you, O Lord.

As Jesus was setting out on a journey, a man ran up, knelt down before him, and asked him, "Good teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus answered him, "Why do you call me good? No one is good but God alone. You know the commandments: You shall not kill; you shall not commit adultery; you shall not steal; you shall not bear false witness; you shall not defraud; honor your father and your mother." He replied and said to him, "Teacher, all of these I have observed from my youth." Jesus, looking at him, loved him and said to him, "You are lacking in one thing. Go, sell what you have, and give to the poor and you will have treasure in heaven; then come, follow me." At that statement his face fell, and he went away sad, for he had many possessions.

Jesus looked around and said to his disciples, "How hard it is for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of God!" The disciples were amazed at his words. So Jesus again said to them in reply, "Children, how hard it is to enter the kingdom of God! It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for one who is rich to enter the kingdom of God." They were exceedingly astonished and said among themselves, "Then who can be saved?" Jesus looked at them and said, "For human beings it is impossible, but not for God. All things are possible for God." Peter began to say to him, "We have given up everything and followed you." Jesus said, "Amen, I say to you, there is no one who has given up house or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or lands for my sake and for the sake of the gospel who will not receive a hundred times more now in this present age: houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions, and eternal life in the age to come."

The Gospel of the Lord.

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.

Nicene Creed

I believe in one God, the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible. I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Only Begotten Son of God, born of the Father before all ages, God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father; through him all things were made. For us men and for our salvation he came down from heaven (bow) and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary and became man. For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures. He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end. I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets. I believe in one, holy, catholic, and apostolic Church. I confess one baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Apostle's Creed

I believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, (bow) who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried; he descended into hell; on the third day he rose again from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and is seated at the right hand of God the Father almighty; from there he will come to judge the living and the dead. I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Holy Catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body and life everlasting. Amen.

from the Pastor

Fr. John J. Mullee

In the first line of the Book of Wisdom this weekend we reflect on where and how we get our strength to live out God's Will for us: "I prayed and prudence was given me. I pleaded, and the spirit of wisdom came to me"

“Like any relationship, our intimacy with God increases the more vulnerable we become in prayer, allowing us to be the object of the Word, which is “sharper than any two-edged sword.” This progress amounts to what has been called the “fear of the Lord,” a recognition that God is everywhere present in our lives, as St Benedict designs it for his monks in the first step in the Ladder of Humility. Psalm 139 explains that everywhere presentness: Behind and before you encircle me/and rest your hand upon me” (Father Gueric DeBona, OSB)

Please call Beth Bowman at Vista Springs if you can help with the Meals on Wheels program. She has been delivering meals every day during the week.

Also, the sheet is out for October in the sacristy to sign up for the liturgical minister needs for the weekend Masses. Thanks to all who have already signed up. We need help in all areas, including women and men to volunteer to serve for funerals.

Brothers in Christ Ministry of St. Michael (www.brothersinchristcmf.org/blog)

The Dawning of the Age of Responsiveness

These days, many who have never served in the armed forces, or as any kind of first-responder for that matter, feel obligated to thank such people for their service—especially in this age when populations are threatened by terrorism on a global scale and cries of “defund the police” here at home. Service can be a thankless and endless job.

So why would someone deciding what to do with their life choose such an occupation? People of faith might cite the inspiration of St. Michael, to whom we pray “be our protection against the wickedness and snares of the devil.” Others may reference the faith-filled wisdom of the Centurion who impressed Jesus by leavening his faith with the humility of asking our Lord to cure this soldier’s servant—from a distance. The Centurion didn’t feel worthy to be in Jesus’ presence while he did it. Jesus topped this man’s chain of command—and he trusted the Master to work miracles through it (LUKE 7:8):

“For I too am a person subject to authority, with soldiers subject to me. And I say to one, ‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come here,’ and he comes; and to my slave, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.”

First-responders often base their capabilities on, and owe their lives to, the wisdom of their chain of command. For those who cite faith as their source of strength, many can relate to Sunday’s first reading from the book of wisdom (Wis 7:7-11):

I prayed, and prudence was given me; I pleaded, and the spirit of wisdom came to me. Beyond health and comeliness I loved her, and I chose to have her rather than the light, because the splendor of her never yields to sleep.

And often, neither do cops, doctors, nurses or soldiers. They put themselves out in the open when danger surrounds them. Many find their strength in the belief that they are conspicuous to God, and therefore devote themselves to acts they trust will please their Commander. Sunday’s second reading from Paul’s letter to the Hebrews supports such a belief (Heb 4:12-13):

No creature is concealed from him, but everything is naked and exposed to the eyes of him to whom we must render an account.

But too often the people first responders protect forget that they are also accountable for a life of service. As Jesus tells the rich man in Sunday’s gospel reading from Mark (Mk 10:17-30), when he asks the Master for the keys to heaven’s door, obedience to earthly laws is just one of them. We need to get to the point where laws governing misbehavior become irrelevant. That requires a willingness to see the temporary comforts and challenges of this life as the means of God’s answer to our prayers for eternal wisdom. Jesus concludes:

“Amen, I say to you, there is no one who has given up house or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or lands for my sake and for the sake of the gospel who will not receive a hundred times more now in this present age: houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions, and eternal life in the age to come.”

Before that age dawns on us, we should first respond.

Then they will answer and say, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or ill or in prison, and not minister to your needs?' He will answer them, 'Amen, I say to you, what you did not do for one of these least ones, you did not do for me.'

September 15 to October 15 is National Hispanic American Heritage Month

The Library of Congress, National Archives and Records Administration, National Endowment for the Humanities, National Gallery of Art, National Park Service, Smithsonian Institution and United States Holocaust Memorial Museum join in paying tribute to the generations of Hispanic Americans who have positively influenced and enriched our nation and society.

Catholic Charities has been serving Greater Cleveland's Hispanic community for over 40 years, helping families cope with personal and social problems while adapting to a new culture and preserving their heritage.

With offices in Cuyahoga and Lake counties, our bilingual and bicultural staff works to meet the needs of Hispanic and Latino individuals living in our communities by providing quality services designed to respect the dignity of every person.

Our programs are wide-ranging and encompass several areas such as older adult services, mental health and substance use recovery, and family, children and community services.

It is our mission that through these programs and services we help members of Northeast Ohio's Hispanic community grow and thrive—from youth all the way to those in their late stages of life.
