Prayer for Protection

O Mary, you always shine on our path as a sign of salvation and hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm. You, Salvation of the American People, and all people, know what we need, and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting after this time of trial. Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross, to the joy of the resurrection. Amen. Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Hail Mary (x3)
Adopted from Pope Francis

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen.

LITURGICAL NOTES

Entrance: Incline your ear to me, O Lord, and hear me; O God, save your servant who trusts in you; have mercy on me, O Lord, for unto you do I cry all the day.

Offertory: With expectation I have waited for the Lord, and he has cast his look upon me; he has heard my supplication and he has put a new canticle into my mouth, a song to our God.

Communion: The earth will be satisfied by the work of your hands, O Lord, as you bring forth bread from the land and wine to gladden the heart of man; oil to make his face shine, and bread to strengthen man's heart. The Antiphons for today's Mass provide a nice counterbalance to the somber message of the Gospel. Isaiah prophesies that all the nations will come to Jerusalem through the proclamation of the Kingdom, and then we see this fulfilled with St. Paul exhorting the early Christians to remain steadfast in godly living, culminating with Christ's warning that the way to heaven is difficult - too difficult for many. Both the Entrance and Offertory Antiphons give us the correct response to Our Lord's dire warning: place our trust in God and ask Him for everything we need. We then see a consoling ray of sunshine in the Communion Antiphon, which promises God's Providence for all our needs. He will provide "bread to strengthen man's heart", which is the Eucharist - the greatest consolation of all! Wine shall "gladden the heart" and oil shall "make his face shine"; in all our trials, not only will God give us the strength to persevere, but HE shall also satiate our hearts with the peace that is a foretaste of the everlasting delights of heaven. Precious Lord, take my hand, lead me on!

FROM THE DIRECTOR OF LITURGY AND MUSIC

On the Liturgy

Part III

Daniel Kirkland

Last week I briefly discussed the overarching structure of Holy Mass. This week we will delve into music in the Liturgy. It is important that we have a deep appreciation of the role of music in the Liturgy and understand its various functions since music is capable of bypassing our intellects and speaking to the heart directly. Regarding the role of music, Sacrosanctum Concilium, the Vatican Council's Constitution on the Liturgy, says in paragraph 112: "The musical tradition of the universal Church is a treasure of inestimable value, greater even than that of any other art. The main reason for this pre-eminence is that, as sacred song united to the words, it forms a necessary or integral part of the solemn liturgy." Music's importance derives from the fact that it places liturgical texts in our hearts and sometimes on our lips, inviting us into the mysteries unfolding before our eyes.

Musical style plays an important part in this process of communicating the meaning of liturgical texts. Since the Liturgy itself is a prayer (verily, the prayer of Christ to His Father!), the music itself should be prayerful and dignified. Paragraph 116 of the aforementioned Conciliar document says: "The Church acknowledges Gregorian chant as specially suited to the Roman liturgy: therefore, other things being equal, it should be given pride of place in liturgical services. But other kinds of sacred music, especially polyphony, are by no means excluded from liturgical celebrations, so long as they accord with the spirit of the liturgical action." Gregorian Chant, because of its unassuming character and irregular rhythm, is the music best suited to setting the prayerful and non-strophic texts of the Liturgy. Since not all parishes have access to resources to help them learn chant, the last bit of paragraph 116 is especially important: "so long as they accord with the spirit of the liturgical action." Music, whether it is old or contemporary, should feel like it is part of an uninterrupted prayer, not drawing attention to itself either by excessive ornamentation or showiness. Both of these qualities draw attention to the music and the performers, which then becomes a performance and no longer liturgical.

It is important to note that we are talking about texts that are proper to the Liturgy. Most music in our hymnals is devotional, chosen because it highlights themes that are present in the readings or prayers of various Sundays. Hymns, especially those in our St. Jean de Brebeuf hymnal, are proper to the Liturgy of the Hours (morning prayer, evening prayer, etc.), which priests and deacons are obliged to pray daily and the faithful invited to pray in common or in private. There are only two genres of music that are essential to the Liturgy: the Ordinary and the Propers.

The Ordinary of the Mass consists of those texts that remain the same from week to week. These include the Kyrie (Lord have mercy), the Gloria (Glory to God), the Credo (I believe), the Sanctus (Holy Holy Holy), and the Agnus Dei (Lamb of God). After the liturgical reforms following Vatican II, the Mysterium Fidei (Memorial Acclamation) immediately after the consecration of the wine was added to the Ordinary. The Church desires for the faithful to sing these as much as possible, though choirs may sing more complex settings for the more solemn holydays. In these instances, the faithful are encouraged to "join their mind to what they[...]hear, and cooperate with heavenly grace" (Musicam Sacram, 15a). This quote aptly applies especially to the second set of liturgical texts - the Propers

The Propers of the Mass are those texts that change every week or even every day. These include the readings and the prayers of the priest. When we speak of Propers in a musical sense, they include the Introit (entrance chant), the Gradual (chant between the readings), the Alleluia, the Offertory, and the Communion Antiphons. Antiphons are short texts, primarily from the psalms, that either express a theme proper to the Sunday or a prayer of petition, thanksgiving, or praise depending on where in the Mass they are. These primarily belong to the choir and are offered for our contemplation. The Council did encourage them to be sung where possible, though; we at Holy Comforter have responded to that call by using Introits that fit famous hymn tunes!

Both C.S. Lewis and J.R.R. Tolkien wrote stories about the creation of mythical worlds (Narnia and Middle Earth respectively).. They understood the power of music and described these worlds as emerging from heavenly melodies. Music that is beautiful is a foretaste of the delights of heaven, of being in the Presence of God (the "beatific vision"). Music in the liturgy must reflect these heavenly realities and take us out of ourselves and out of time itself, so that we might experience a foretaste of eternity. Let us all do our part to promote a greater love and understanding of beautiful liturgical music and beautiful music in general!
