Prayer for Protection

O Mary, you always shine on our path as a sign of salvation and hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm. You, Salvation of the American People, and all people, know what we need, and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting after this time of trial. Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross, to the joy of the resurrection. Amen.

Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Hail Mary (x3)

Adopted from Pope Francis

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.

LITURGICAL NOTES

Entrance: The Lamb who has been slain is worthy to receive power, and divinity, and wisdom, and strength, and honor; let glory and dominion be His for ever and ever.

Offertory: Ask of me, and I will give you the nations as your inheritance and the utmost parts of the earth as your possession.

Communion: The Lord will sit on His royal throne for ever; the Lord will bless His people in peace.

What is so striking about the Solemnity of Christ the King is that all the Antiphons depict Christ in great kingly glory, but the Gospel depicts Him reigning from the Cross. This startling dichotomy is the story of the Church and salvation history. God is recreating the world anew through the renewal of humanity from within. Our souls are cleansed of the Sin of Adam at baptism, strengthened through confirmation, and nourished with the Eucharist. The Gospel focuses on the here-and-now of God's recreation while the Antiphons look towards the fulfillment of that work of renewal when Christ shall come to reign in splendor and the Blessed be bathed in His radiance, no longer needing sun or moon "for the glory of God is [their] light, and [their] lamp is the Lamb." Let us work to spread the reign of Christ in the hearts of all mankind by good deeds and priestly prayers on behalf of those who don't know to pray for themselves. Christus vincit! Christus regnat! Christus imperat! Christ conquers! Christ reigns! Christ rules!

KEEPING DEATH BEFORE OUR EYES IN THIS MONTH FOR THE SOULS IN PURGATORY (& BEYOND)

Part III

Very Rev. Joseph Mary Lukyamuzi, V.F.

"Everyone who lives and believes in Me will never die.
Do you believe this?" (Jn. 6:47)

People who place their faith in Jesus Christ live with a profound hope of life beyond the grave and the sweet anticipation of the most desirable Paradise. This hope encourages them to remember that death can come at any time. The Wisdom of Sirach says: "In all you do, remember the end of your life, and then you will never sin" (7:36). As Christians we know that we will live after death and, therefore, should constantly be aware of our present mortality, keeping before us our exodus from the present world, the Second Coming, the future judgment and entrance into eternity.

For this reason, Pope St. Gregory the Great often repeated the saying of Plato which suggests that the present life ought to be "a meditation upon death." This calls us to concentrate our attention on living worthily in the present moment while keeping our departure from this world in our mind. For this departure, we should prepare ourselves and gather our baggage as prudent travelers would do. St. Athanasius advises in his treatise, On Virginity: "Recall your exodus every hour; keep death before your eyes on a daily basis. Remember before whom you must appear." In other words, let the memory of death sleep and wake with you.

Someone perhaps might object: Is it not a perverse condition to be remembering constantly our exodus from this life? Would not this memory stifle our activities? Would not such a stance despise the present life which is a gift of God? Certainly, people who are far from Christ and who do not believe in life beyond the grave are usually panic-stricken by the memory of death. This is the reason that many of them avoid speaking about death. Even the word "death" itself is sufficient to upset them. Because of this, they give themselves over to entertainments, dances, and banquets with the slogan: "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die" (Is. 22:13). With all these distractions they attempt to forget that there is death! Even "those great words that are heard often about the prolongation of life, about the imminent overcoming of death; the desperate attempts of many persons for some security indicate without doubt their agonizing attempt to escape from the very experience of insecurity." Because sin has become over-abundant "contemporary man is haunted by an unconscious absence of security and he stubbornly refuses to open a dialogue with death." For this reason, "when strong thoughts or external events bring upon his cheeks the breath of death", modern man is shaken to his very foundations.

But for the man of God who sees and examines everything through the lens of eternity, the remembrance of death is an essential presupposition for a genuine spiritual life. It is the constant igniting for the battle against sin. This memory of death helps us to hate sin, to evaluate correctly and positively the things of the present, to evaluate appropriately the value of the "future age," which we desire with all the power of our soul. St. Maximus the Confessor and Theologian teaches that the memory of death, when accompanied by the memory of God, is very helpful to the believer in his life in Christ: "Nothing is more fearful than the thought of death, and nothing is more marvelous than the memory of God." For, as he says, the memory of death "produces in the soul salutary sorrow", while the memory of God produces in the soul "joy and gladness". This is why the Palmist said, "I remembered God and was pleased" (Ps. 77), while the wise man of the Old Testament advised, "Remember the end of your life, and then you will never sin" (Sir. 7:36), for it is impossible to keep oneself unwounded by sin if one does not experience the helpful "bitterness" of the memory of death.

Let us then heed the voice of the Lord: "Watch, therefore, and pray, for you do not know on what day your Lord is coming" (Mt. 24:42).
