Prayer for Protection

O Mary, you always shine on our path as a sign of salvation and hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm. You, Salvation of the American People, and all people, know what we need, and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting after this time of trial. Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross, to the joy of the resurrection. Amen. Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Hail Mary (3x) Adopted from Pope Francis.

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen

LITURGICAL NOTES

Entrance: Rejoice, O Jerusalem; and gather round, all you who love her; rejoice in gladness, after having been in sorrow; exult and be replenished with the consolation flowing from her motherly bosom.

Offertory: Praise the Lord, for he is loving; sing in honor of his name, for he is gracious. He has accomplished whatever he resolved to do in heaven and on earth.

Communion: Jerusalem, built as a city whose parts are bound firmly together! It is there that the tribes go up, the tribes of the Lord, to give thanks unto your name, O Lord.

This Sunday's moniker, "Laetare Sunday", comes from the first (Latin) word of the Entrance Antiphon, Laetare, which means "rejoice!" It is a time for the Church to reflect on what we have been preparing for the past three and a half weeks. Humanity, "after having been in sorrow" since the Fall, now has access to salvation through Christ, Who, as today's Gospel reminds us, was to be "raised up" on a cross to expiate for our sins and usher in a new era of grace that could transform hearts of stone into living hearts. These are the days when God's spirit is being poured out on us if we will receive it. All these considerations are a source of great joy to the Church, so she dons the joyful color of rose and adorns her sanctuaries with flowers and her liturgies with organ. Let us meditate on Jesus' gift of Himself and His Church, placed on this earth to guide us to the everlasting shores, and give thanks with a joyful heart for the unbounded generosity of God towards His creatures. Rejoice!

Our ministry seeks Christ by sharing the Gospel with our neighbors in need who are facing eviction, utility cut off, or other emergency needs. With the growth of the number of neighbors in need, we are in need of additional Vincentians to continue this important ministry. Consider joining parishioners from Holy Comforter, The Church of the Incarnation, and St. Thomas Aquinas University Parish. Our April 2nd meeting is held at the Church of the Incarnation. We regularly meet at 7 pm on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays each month at the Church of the Incarnation. # FROM THE PASTOR

CLOSE YOUR EYES AND OPEN YOUR EARS

TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Part XI

Very Rev. Joseph Mary Lukyamuzi, V.F.

“When the angel entered Mary’s home, he greeted her and said, “You are favored by the Lord! The Lord is with you.”
Luke 1:28

Did you know that Jesus Himself prayed the Psalms? There is every evidence to believe that Jesus prayed the psalms as prayers. When Jesus was particularly frustrated by the attacks of some of the religious leaders, he may well have prayed: “For there is no truth in their mouths; their hearts are destruction, their throats are open graves; they flatter with their tongues. Make them bear their guilt, O God; let them fall by their own counsels; because of their many transgressions cast them out, for they have rebelled against you” (Ps 5:9-10). When we think of Jesus praying this psalm, we are faced with three choices.

Our first choice is to believe that Jesus censored the psalms and prayed only those Psalms or verses that were appropriate to his forgiving nature. Therefore, as disciples of Christ, we are invited to join him in the censorship of certain psalms as inappropriate. The problem with this solution is that sometimes the harsh words of the Psalms do express some of our most basic feelings. If Jesus censored these words, does this suggest that he did not have negative feelings and therefore did not share in the fullness of humanity? Or does it suggest that he had these feelings, but, unlike the psalmist, was unwilling to lift them up to God in prayer? Neither suggestion fits with the gospel’s picture of Jesus who clearly got very angry and was not above denouncing the religious leaders of his time.

Our second choice is to believe that Jesus used these prayers during his lifetime but later, from the perspective of the cross, offered a new viewpoint. The one who prayed “Father, forgive them; for they do not know what they are doing” (Lk. 23:34) revealed to us that such harsh denunciations were inappropriate in light of God’s forgiving love. This places the responsibility upon each of us to bring to worship a forgiving spirit that we often do not feel. It also suggests that we are to do what Jesus could not do before the cross.

Our third choice is to believe that Jesus, indeed, experienced the fullness of humanity, including some very negative feelings. It assumes that Jesus recognized not only the reality of opposition forces, but also had negative feelings toward them. Mark suggested this real possibility when he described Jesus’ response in one incident by saying, “He looked around at them with anger; he was grieved at their hardness of heart” (Mark 3:5a). With these strong feelings, is it not possible that Jesus prayed words such as those in Psalm 5 quoted above? Is it not likely that Jesus included in his prayers the negative feelings he had toward those whom he perceived as being in opposition to God? By allowing prayer to bring his negative feelings about those who threatened the reign of God into the realm of God, was not Jesus trusting that God could reign over those feelings? Would he not have lifted up natural human feelings to the only one who was able to receive the prayers and transform them into forgiving possibilities? Only from this perspective is it clear that where God rules, the enemy is not finally a threat. It is only from this viewpoint that one is able to offer forgiveness.

In a way, we can think of the psalms as a school of prayer for different circumstances in our life. The Psalms for sure were prayers of Jesus, and they are the chosen prayers for His Church and for the whole world to cherish, recite, pray, meditate on, and think about your own life and how you can apply them. (To be continued...)
