Prayer for Protection

O Mary, you always shine on our path as a sign of salvation and hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm. You, Salvation of the American People, and all people, know what we need, and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting after this time of trial.

Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross, to the joy of the resurrection. Amen. Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Hail Mary (3x) Adopted from Pope Francis.

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen

LITURGICAL NOTES

I am changing direction with the "Liturgical Notes" section and would like to begin a brief series on the basic principles of sacred music. It is important to understand the mind of the Church on what sacred music is and what role it plays in her liturgical life. Principles provide a lens for us to examine the fittingness of both historical and contemporary music for liturgical worship. They also provide us with an opportunity to enter more deeply into the action of the Mass and Liturgy of the Hours because each piece of music properly placed in worship teaches us something about what is taking place in that moment.

All such discussions necessarily begin with Pope St. Pius X because of his importance in the liturgical movement that began in the early twentieth century. His writings were so clear and useful that they made their way into Vatican II's document on the liturgy, Sacrosanctum Concilium. He beautifully synthesized the whole of the Church's teachings on sacred music up to his time in the Motu Proprio "Tra le sollecitudini" (literally "among the cares"). He begins by defining the purpose and scope of sacred music. Like the Liturgy, the teleology of sacred music is the glory of God and the sanctification of souls. It accomplishes these aims by "clothing" the liturgical texts in an artful way with melodies that are reflective of the character of the overall worship and the functions of the texts being set. (It is important to note here that liturgical music ultimately sets liturgical texts, which can be found in liturgical books. The role of other texts within Mass will be described at a later time.)

*Sacred music must therefore possess the same characteristics that are found in the Liturgy, which Pius X identifies as principally sanctity, "goodness of forms", and universality. By sanctity, Pius X means that sacred music must actually be sacred, i.e., set apart for a specific purpose (worship in this case). Otherwise, it ends up being a distraction for the faithful, reminding them of worldly things. This line of reasoning dates all the way back to the early Church when the Fathers strove to separate all aspects of worship from the pagan/secular culture. Theatrical music particularly is inimical to sacred worship because it is at its core disingenuous since it participates in the function of the theater, which is to imitate reality as a form of entertainment. Next week, we will look at the other characteristics of sacred music. To be continued! *Daniel Kirkland, Director of Liturgy and Music

FROM THE PASTOR

WHY THE SORROWS OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

Part I

Very Rev. Joseph Mary Lukyamuzi, V.F.

“This child is destined to cause the falling and rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be spoken against, so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed. And a sword will pierce your heart” Luke 2:34–35

How can this be? The Queen, the Mother of God, the Blessed among women turns out to be a woman of sorrows? The month of September is dedicated to Our Lady of Sorrows, a title given to Mary as she suffered alongside Christ during His passion. Our Lady of Sorrows is one of many titles bestowed upon Mary. This title is derived from Simeon's prophecy during Jesus' presentation at the Temple in the Gospel of Luke, chapter 2.

We can unite our thoughts in this beautiful prayer by St. Bridget of Sweden and say: “O Blessed Virgin Mary, Immaculate Mother of God, who didst endure a martyrdom of love and grief, beholding the sufferings and sorrows of Jesus! Thou didst cooperate in the benefit of my redemption by thy innumerable afflictions and by offering to the Eternal Father His only-begotten Son as a holocaust and victim of propitiation for my sins. I thank thee for the unspeakable love which led thee to deprive thyself of the Fruit of thy womb, Jesus, true God and true Man, to save me, a sinner. Oh! make use of the unfailing intercession of thy sorrows with the Father and the Son, that I may steadfastly amend my life and never again crucify my lov- ing Redeemer by new sins; and that, persevering till death in His grace, I may obtain eternal life through the merits of His Cross and Passion”.

Theologians have noted that, “as we honor the Blessed Mother's Sorrowful Heart, it's important to understand that a 'sorrowful' heart is not the same as a 'sad' heart. Theologically speaking, sadness results from a form of self-pity, or an unhealthy attachment to something that was lost. Sorrow, on the other hand, is one of the Beatitudes, and therefore one of the holiest qualities we can possess. 'Blessed are they who mourn, for they will be comforted' (Mt. 5:4). To 'mourn' is to have a sorrowful heart. In this context of Beatitudes, a heart that mourns is a heart that loves. Mourning, or holy sorrow, results from a heart that witnesses sin and grieves over it” (My Catholic life series).

In the Blessed Mother's case, she witnessed the brutal treatment of her Son, His rejection, suffering, and death. She did not despair as she witnessed this. She did not become angry. She did not succumb to confusion and frustration. She did not withdraw into herself in self-pity. Instead, she reacted with the empathetic love that flows from the holiest of hearts. She felt holy sorrow—not so much because she felt bad for her Son, but because she grieved over the sins that inflicted that suffering and longed to see those sinners redeemed.

As we meditate on the Sorrowful Heart of Mary, it is an opportunity to reflect upon our own moments of sorrow. Is your sorrow self-centered, dwelling over the wounds you feel? Or is it selfless, i.e., does your sorrow extend to others, grieving in a holy way over the sins you witness? When our sorrow is holy, we are filled with compassion and spiritual empathy. The word “compassion” means “to suffer with.” The Blessed Mother, united with her Son's Sacred Heart, suffered with her sinful children as she watched their sins crucify her Son. She harbored no hate as she witnessed those sins, only a tremendous longing to see the grace of her Son pour forth upon those who had rejected Him and sinned against Him. Can we say her sorrows are meant to benefit us?
