Prayer for Protection

O Mary, you always shine on our path as a sign of salvation and hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm.

You, Salvation of the American People, and all people, know what we need, and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting after this time of trial. Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross, to the joy of the resurrection. Amen. Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Hail Mary (3x) Adopted from Pope Francis.

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen

LITURGICAL NOTES

Last week, we began our discussion of the principles of sacred music with Pope St. Pius X's motu proprio Tra le sollecitudini ("among the cares"). In it, he says that sacred music, by participating in the action of the liturgy, shares its twofold uprose of glorifying God and sanctifying the faithful. Pius ascribed to sacred music three characteristics: sanctity, goodness of forms, and universality. We briefly addressed the first characteristic (sanctity), which ultimately refers to a piece's "set apartness." Sacred music should sound like it belongs in a church and not, for example, the theater, the radio, or around a campfire.

The second characteristic, "goodness of forms," is an interesting choice of words to describe the qualities of sacred music because it directly alludes to St. Thomas's (and ultimately Aristotle's) definition of beauty. Sacred music must be true art since God Himself is the author of all beauty. Music has a unique ability to embody spiritual beauty because of how it can artfully unfold in time, linger in the memory, and build on that memory. Truly beautiful music and the experience of it replicates the experience of prayer. It enraptures the attention and quiets the soul to listen to God.

Sacred music therefore has the capability to speak to all mankind because God has created all for the purpose of knowing, loving, and serving Him in this life and for living with Him happily in eternal life. We are made in His image – that is, possessing a free will and an unsatiable desire for relationship that can only be satisfied by God Himself. We are naturally drawn to expressions of art that truly embody ("incarnate" if you will) attributes of God. Beauty is therefore naturally universal, transcending national boundaries and speaking to the human heart, created with the tendency to strive after God.

Next week, we will discuss the model of sacred music that Pius X offers for our consideration. To be continued!

FROM THE PASTOR

WHY THE SORROWS OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

Part II

Very Rev. Joseph Mary Lukyamuzi, V.F.

“This child is destined to cause the falling and rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be spoken against, so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed. And a sword will pierce your heart”

Luke 2:34–35

“This child is destined to cause the falling and rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be spoken against, so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed. And a sword will pierce your heart” (Lk. 2:34–35).

The title “Our Lady of Sorrows” honors the trials that the Mother of the “Suffering Servant” (Is. 52:13-53:12) faced. From the early days of Jesus’ life, Mary suffered through these maternal pains and anxieties. With Simeon’s prophecy, Mary knew that a sword would pierce her own soul. Soon thereafter, the Holy Family was forced to flee to Egypt to save Jesus from King Herod (Matt. 2:13-23). Also, the Blessed Mother and St. Joseph suffered the pain of Jesus remaining behind in the Temple for three days. With her Son entering upon His Mission the opposition of so many to Him, as recounted in the Gospels, must have been a tremendous sorrow for her. All of this culminated at the Cross.

Though the Blessed Virgin Mary was the one chosen to be the Mother of the Messiah, this did not exempt her from the Way of the Cross any more than any of the rest of us is exempt from trials and tribulations along our path. In his book The World’s First Love, Archbishop Fulton Sheen wrote: “If our Lord allowed Mary to suffer the trials that even the most grieved mother could suffer - such as to have her son pursued by totalitarian soldiers at two years of age, to be a refugee in a foreign country, to point to a Father’s business that would end in death, to be arrested falsely, to be condemned by His own people, and to suffer the taking-off in the prime of life - it was in order to convince mothers with sorrows that trials without pleasures can be overcome and that the final issues of life are not solved here below. If the Father gave His Son a cross and the Mother a sword [that pierced her heart], then somehow sorrow does fit into the Divine plan of life ... and only in the next life is sorrow left behind”.

The Second Vatican Council in its Dogmatic Constitution on the Church wrote, “...She stood in keeping with the divine plan, suffering grievously with her only begotten Son. There she united herself, with a maternal heart, to His sacrifice, and lovingly consented to the immolation of this Victim which she herself had brought forth” (#58). St. Bernard (1153) wrote, “Truly, O Blessed Mother, a sword has pierced your heart.... He died in body through a love greater than anyone had known. She died in spirit through a love unlike any other since His”.

“Focusing on the compassion of our Blessed Mother, our Holy Father, Pope St. John Paul II, reminded the faithful, Mary Most Holy goes on being the loving consoler of those touched by the many physical and moral sorrows which afflict and torment humanity. She knows our sorrows and our pains, because she too suffered, from Bethlehem to Calvary. ‘And thy soul too a sword shall pierce.’ Mary is our Spiritual Mother, and the mother always understands her children and consoles them in their troubles. Then, she has that specific mission to love us, received from Jesus on the Cross, to love us only and always, so as to save us! Mary consoles us above all by pointing out the Crucified One and Paradise to us!” (1980). Looking to the example of Mary, may we too unite our sufferings to our Lord, facing them with courage, love, and trust.”
