Prayer for Protection

O Mary, you always shine on our path as a sign of salvation and hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm. You, Salvation of the American People, and all people, know what we need, and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting after this time of trial. Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross, to the joy of the resurrection. Amen. Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Hail Mary (3x) Adopted from Pope Francis.

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen

LITURGICAL NOTES

Now we arrive at the end of this miniseries on the Ordinary and Proper chants of the Mass. Last week we discussed the Offertory, a moderately melismatic responsory that reflects on a plethora of Scriptural themes and accompanies the priest's preparations for the Eucharistic sacrifice. I would like to mention briefly an additional Proper chant that takes the place of the Alleluia chant during Lent: the Tract. This is a melismatic chant that sets either a partial or entire psalm. It is meditative like the Gradual but does not use melismas in the jubilant manner that the Alleluia does, signaling the more somber tone of the Lenten season. It is usually replaced by the optional Gospel Acclamation, containing a simple refrain and verse. The most common, "Praise to you, Lord Jesus, King of glory", is taken from the introduction to the Liturgy of the Hours during Lent, which omits "alleluia" after the Glory Be. "God, come to my assistance. Lord, make haste to help me. Glory to the Father...Praise to you..."

As we bring this series to a close, it is good to revisit the question the question: "Why chant?" It is important to remember that Holy Mass is the prayer of Jesus Christ to His Father offered on the altar of the Cross at Calvary. That moment is represented to us at every Mass through the priest, and we are called to participate in that offering. Chants do not strive to grab our attention or entertain us; rather, they clothe the prayers of the Mass with subtle, understated beauty. They call us to prayer, to an interior state of calm and readiness to enter into the mystery of our redemption. They call us to mortify our desire to be pleased and entertained and to offer a "sacrifice of praise", asking God to shower the infinite treasures of grace won by Jesus Christ for the salvation of our souls and the whole world. This is something that should be taken seriously – and our music, gestures, attitude, everything we say and do, should reflect the gravity of what we are participating in. May we strive always to conform our worship to the Spirit of the Council Fathers, themselves inspired by the great reforms of Pope St. Pius X. Daniel Kirkland, Director of Liturgy and Music

Holy Comforter's Adult Formation Program "What is God's Word?"

Join us on Saturday 12/7 for the third and final talk in the series "What is God's Word? How the Church Reads Scripture." Presenter John Bugbee will focus on how insights from the church's tradition can help with the unique challenges facing Bible readers today. The talk will be in-person at the Basilica of St. Andrew in Roanoke; the basilica has invited Holy Comforter parishioners to visit for a special historian-led tour that day at 2:00, and the talk follows at 3:45 (watch this space for carpool info!) The talk will also be broadcast live downstairs at Holy Comforter, with 2-way videoconferencing, for those who can't make the trip. For more info contact John Bugbee bugbee@virginia.edu or Melinda Wells, DRE.

FROM THE PASTOR

ETERNAL REST GRANT UNTO THEM, O LORD, AND LET PERPETUAL LIGHT SHINE UPON THEM

Part IV

Very Rev. Joseph Mary Lukyamuzi, V.F.

“May Christ, who called you, take you to himself;
may angels lead you to the bosom of Abraham.”

I begin with the words of St. John Vianney concerning our beloved dead in purgatory: “Consider then...the magnitude of these sufferings which the souls in Purgatory endure; and the means which we have of mitigating them: our prayers, our good works, and, above all, the holy sacrifice of the Mass...I come to tell you that they suffer in Purgatory, that they weep, and that they demand with urgent cries the help of your prayers and your good works. I seem to hear them crying from the depths of those fires which devour them: ‘Tell our loved ones, tell our children, tell all our relatives how great the evils are which they are making us suffer. We throw ourselves at their feet to implore the help of their prayers...Yet how quickly we could empty purgatory if we but really wished to.’”

The Church has always taught the existence of Purgatory, a place or state of existence after death, where, if necessary, we’re cleansed of any remaining effects of our sins and made ready to enter into Heaven. Moreover, as Scripture attests, our prayers and sacrifices can be of immense spiritual help to the persons undergoing this purification process; we can pray for specific persons, such as deceased loved ones, or for the souls in Purgatory in general. Because God loves us and wants us to be with Him in Heaven, there must be some opportunity for us to finish being healed or purged of our sins after death, should this be necessary. This cleansing process is what we call Purgatory. The saints believed without reservation in this reality. They themselves, because of their immense love of God, were ready to enter Heaven immediately after death, but they were mindful of those who were not as fortunate; after all, this is one of the signs of true love: caring for those in need, whether that need be physical or spiritual.

St. Elizabeth of Portugal, who reigned as queen of that country at the beginning of the fourteenth century, had a much-loved daughter named Constance. The young princess died very suddenly after being married, causing Elizabeth and her husband, King Denis, much grief. Soon after this, a hermit came to the queen with a shocking story: while he was praying, Constance had appeared to him, beseeching him to take a message to her mother. She was suffering terribly in Purgatory and would remain there a very long time unless Mass was offered for her each day for a year.

The king responded, “I believe that it is wise to do that which has been pointed out to you in so extraordinary a manner. After all, to have Masses celebrated for our dear deceased relatives is nothing more than a paternal and Christian duty.” Elizabeth accepted this advice and arranged for the Masses to be said by a holy priest. One year later her daughter appeared to her, clothed in a brilliant white robe, and said, “Today, dear mother, I am delivered from the pains of Purgatory and am about to enter Heaven.” St. Elizabeth gave thanks to God and expressed her gratitude by distributing alms to the poor.

Several saints, mystics, and visionaries have allegedly seen Purgatory, and also Heaven and Hell. St. Frances of Rome was granted such a vision; she said that it consists of three levels. The lowest level is like a vast burning sea, where the people undergo various sufferings related to the sins they committed on earth. The middle level is less rigorous, but still unpleasant. The highest level of Purgatory is populated by those who are closest to being released. These persons suffer mainly the pain of loss: that of yearning for God and of not yet truly possessing Him. There’s consolation in all three levels, but especially in the highest. The souls in Purgatory know that, sooner or later, they’ll be with God in Heaven and that all their present sufferings are valuable and redemptive.
