Prayer for Protection

O Mary, you always shine on our path as a sign of salvation and hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm. You, Salvation of the American People, and all people, know what we need, and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting after this time of trial. Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross, to the joy of the resurrection. Amen. Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Hail Mary (3x) Adopted from Pope Francis

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from you. Amen

LITURGICAL NOTES

Entrance (Venite, adoremus): Come, let us worship God and bow down before the Lord; let us shed tears before the Lord who made us, for he is the Lord our God.

Offertory (Perfice gressus meos): Render secure my footsteps in your paths so that my feet do not slip; incline your ear and hear my words; display your wonderful mercies, O Lord, Savior of those who place their hope in you.

Communion (Introibo): I will go in to the altar of God, to the God who gives joy to my youth.

The Offertory and Communion chants are ancient antiphons formerly assigned to Sexagesima Sunday or the “sixtieth” (approximately) day from Easter. It was a season of pre-Lenten preparation – a preparatory season for a season of preparation. How careful the Church was in ensuring we made a good Lenten journey! With Lent a little less than a month away, it is a good time to consider how we will spend it preparing for Eastertide. It begins, as the Gospel shows us, with answering Jesus’ call to follow him. The Offertory, appropriately chosen for this Gospel, asks God to guide our footsteps. Musically, the chant is fairly understated, rising significantly only on the words “your paths”, a gesture indicating how far above our ways are God’s ways. Rhetorically, one gets the sense that the music is reflective of the spirit of the text, which is humble and realizing the need for God’s assistance and pleading in a low voice. The Communion chant, also from the old Sexagesima Sunday, is a beautiful response to the Offertory. Our footsteps will be made secure by approaching the altar of God to receive our spiritual nourishment and the strength to follow the narrow way. The music draws our attention to the words “gives joy to my youth” with melismas (many notes per syllable) – in this instance both musical gestures of joy and rhetorical devices calling us to meditate upon these words. We have the benefit of hindsight, knowing that Jesus was willing to die for love of us. Let us recall with affection this great love and resolve to follow Him more and more closely. FROM THE PASTOR

WE ARE PILGRIMS OF HOPE

Part VI

Rev. Joseph Mary Lukyamuzi

“But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was on him, and by his wounds we are healed.”
Isaiah 53:5

Thank you, Jesus. Thank you for the cross. Thank you that in our own brokenness, we find You and become victors.

As followers of Jesus Christ, we are not meant to be too comfort-able in the present world. Our hope is not here. Our hope is not visible. “Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen” (Heb. 11:1). Jesus might suggest to us that pain itself is not the issue, but the purposes for which we endure and tolerate pain are what really matters. When you endure pain so as to help your children grow and mature...is that not a healthy pain that responds to the call to equip our young ones to live well in the world? When you open yourself to the pain of rejection when you court a potential lifetime mate...is that not a healthy pain that makes possible the gift of covenantal life together with another? When you gladly claim your Christian belief in the face of a few who might scoff at your outdated religious mysticism...is that not a healthy pain that allows you to demonstrate the depth of your gratitude for God’s calling in your life?

Jesus would suggest to us that there are certainly things in this world which are worth the pain they cause. Experiences that mold us in ways that less challenging experiences will never do. Hardships that we endure, not because we find some selfish pride in our endurance, but simply because through our suffering we honor the one who suffered for us – that one who has fashioned us to experience this pretty amazing life at all of those times when we are not called to suffer. Jesus has a word for this kind of life that has optimism in the face of suffering; it is called “taking up your cross and following Jesus.” It is not passive, it does not justify evils committed that we cannot prevent, it does not excuse us from trying to correct evils that can be prevented. It is not a posture we accept grudgingly with long faces and bitter attitudes.

Taking up the cross is what Jesus did for us, and through it God fashions for us an experience that is not quite like anything else the world can offer us. There is satisfaction in this cross-bearing life. There is purpose in this life, especially in a world that pursues painkillers instead of crosses. And dare we say, there is joy in this life because it is modeled after the one whose own life has saved our lives...that one who made cross-bearing a good thing, a holy choice, a life-giving act—Jesus Christ, the one we have been called to follow, affirm, and who energizes our journey as PILGRIMS OF HOPE.

If we share the same faith in Jesus Christ as the saints throughout history, then we share the same hope. Someday we will see Him face to face. Someday we will experience and enjoy “God’s glory” perfectly (Rom. 5:2). Someday we will be clothed with immortal, glorified bodies. We will receive “the crown of righteousness” (2 Tim. 4:8) and reign with Jesus Christ forever. These truths provide the basis for our hope.
