THE PANTHEON, A RAINFALL OF ROSE PETALS

In 27 BC, Marcus Vipsanius Agrippa, the son-in-law, friend, and collaborator of Augustus, the first Emperor of Rome, had this temple built and dedicated it to the seven gods of the planets. It is called the Pantheon, which means “of all the gods” in Greek. It was closed and abandoned under the first Christian emperors and later plundered by the barbarians. In 609 AD, it was donated to Pope Boniface IV by the Byzantine emperor, Phocas. The pope consecrated the temple and dedicated it to the Blessed Virgin Mary and the Martyrs, now a Catholic basilica.

In looking at its exterior, it’s easy to understand why the Pantheon is considered one of the world’s greatest architectural masterpieces and the most eloquent symbol when referring to the city as the Eternal City. Built before Christ, the whole structure stands on foundations consisting of a circular trench filled with a concrete mixture of volcanic rock and lime. This trench supports the walls of the monument which are 20 feet thick and have three different layers of masonry.

The great dome of the Pantheon features an oculus with a diameter of around 30 feet, lending its light to the entire interior. The open hole which allows light, also allows rain, but the water falls onto the concave marble floor and drains away through 22 holes hidden in the multi-colored marble. For centuries now, after Mass on Pentecost Sunday, thousands of red rose petals are poured through the open oculus and shower down over the faithful gathered inside the basilica, symbolizing the descent of the Holy Spirit upon Mary and the Apostles, as tongues of fire. The enchantment of the descending shower of red petals is possible thanks to the firefighters who climb over 140 feet to the top of the dome and drop the cascade of roses through the opening, while the sequence of “Veni Sancte Spiritus” is chanted. Those who have been present report, “The sound of thousands of rose petals hitting marble is a sound you’ve never known, until you’re gifted to experience it at the Pantheon on Pentecost Sunday.”

As the Easter season culminates with this great solemnity of the Church, may we be reminded of the gift of the Holy Spirit, with whom we have been sealed.

OSTINATO (REPEATED) REFRAIN

Ve - ni San - cte Spi - ri - tus.

The music of the Taizé (“teh-zey”) Community is primarily meant to be a prayerful meditation; a method of centering oneself in peaceful presence, but extended to a gathered assembly. I encourage you to embrace the meditative quality of this sung prayer, and, if the spirit moves you, to join in the harmonies as well. —TW

TIME TO SWITCH THE BOOKS!

After the 11:00 am Mass, please help us out by removing the Today's Missal (burgundy cover, left side of your pew book) and placing them at the ends of your pews. USCCB AND GUN CONTROL

As we deal with the murder of innocent life in Uvalde, Buffalo, and even more recent locations, it is important to remember that the bishops of our nation have preached a consistent message on the subject for nearly 30 years. The bishops “support measures that control the sale and use of firearms and make them safer (especially efforts that prevent their unsupervised use by children or anyone other than the owner), and we reiterate our call for sensible regulation of handguns.” The bishops also support a number of reasonable measures to address gun violence in our country including: a total ban on assault weapons, universal background checks, and increased access for mental health care. Read the complete document on the USCCB website: <https://www.usccb.org/resources/backgrounder-gun-violence-mercy-and-peacebuilding-approach-gun-violence>. Pope Francis, speaking from St. Peter’s Square, said, “It is time to say enough to the indiscriminate trafficking of arms. Let us all commit ourselves so that such tragedies can never happen again.”

KIDS MAGAZINE

The June issue of Our Sunday Visitor’s KIDS is here. The theme is "My Lord and my God!" Included in this edition is an introduction to the Eucharistic Revival that will happen over the next three years in the Catholic Church in the United States. The month of June is full of solemnities: Pentecost (June 5), The Most Holy Trinity (June 12), and The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ (June 19). This magazine will help you prepare to celebrate these special days along with quite a few others, including Father’s Day. Pick up a copy for your kids or grandkids from the Faith Formation panel of the kiosk in the narthex (as long as our supply lasts).

REMEMBER IN PRAYER

Even when hospitals and institutions notify the parish of admissions, we are not permitted to publish names without permission from the individual or family.
