Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

One of the difficulties of being a teenager is that the world seems to turn upside down. There we are being highly reasonable youngsters with good relations with our families, our friends and ourselves. Then, for no reason that we can understand, it is all blown away. Our bodies change. It is not just a question of growth in sexual awareness. Everything changes. We get zits. We feel out of control. Our voices, particular male voices, do strange things. Other people become a challenge and a nuisance. We feel awkward with adults and take refuge in our friends, as though only those of the same age can appreciate and understand us. Our mood swings are tremendous. One minute we are the life of the party, the next we don't want to be with anyone. Needless to say, others find us as difficult as we find ourselves. As one mother put it, "I think an alien has taken over my child." Families wait desperately for signs of a return to normality, and sometimes have a long wait. But one of the signs of hope is when we begin re-entering the rest of the world. As our new selves settle, we seem to find that what's going on out there is interesting again and we begin to give of ourselves once more.

An ongoing concern of the early Church was the creation and the maintenance of community. Corinth, in particular, was a seaport, seething with all the rich and turbulent mixture that leads to wild chaos rather than an ordered life. Paul is aware of how difficult it is in such circumstances to bring people together in harmony and so cultivate a sense of service rather than of competition or conflict. He recognizes the diversity and tries to bring unity from the diversity. He uses the human body as a comparison to show how, even though each part of the body performs a different function, they all work together in harmony. So also should be the Body of Christ. We cannot do without each other, and the well-being of one part means the well-being of the other parts and the whole.

In today's Gospel selection from Luke, Jesus reads from the scroll of the prophet Isaiah and proclaims: "Today, this scripture passage is fulfilled in your midst." Imagine the shock of those listening. Imagine their shock, considering how long the Jewish people have been awaiting the Messiah. Imagine their shock to think – one who grew up with us and lived among us is saying that He is the Messiah? Could it be? Jesus has come "to bring the good news to the poor, to proclaim liberty to captives, to bring sight to the blind, and to set the downtrodden free."

Every time we attend Mass, that episode in the synagogue is being repeated. Today Jesus is here. Today He is bringing us good news. Today He's assuring us that He loves us and wants us to be His friends. Above all – today He is proclaiming that the time of "God's favor" has arrived.

What does all this mean? Through His dying and rising we are being set free, free to be renewed as the sons and daughters of our great God and Father. But I think there is more. It is true that God loves us and has set us free. But He wants us to be His eyes, His ears, His hands and feet so that when we see a need, we not only recognize it as a need, but that we be willing to respond in Christ-like charity in caring for those around us.

We must constantly re-create community in our own Church life. The basic Christian community still remains the Parish for the majority of people, but there are all sorts of other communities – be it our homes, our schools, or workplaces, or specialist groups, or the elderly widow or widower who lives next door to us and lives alone – waiting for a phone call or a visit. In all cases, the warnings that Paul gives to us about fragmentation through isolation, competition and conflict are worthy of our listening.

You see, on the day of our Baptism and when we were Confirmed, the Spirit of the Lord came upon each of us and anointed us. That same Spirit also calls to you and to me to bring glad tidings to the poor (in spirit). That same Spirit calls you and me to help the blind to see, to set the oppressed free, to proclaim a year acceptable to the Lord.

Who are those to whom we are called to minister? Any who is down and out. Anyone who is in need. Anyone who needs their faith strengthened, or needs encouragement. Anyone who the rest of the world ignores. You and I have been given a great gift – God's Love. That Love is there for us. But, like any gift from God, we cannot keep it solely for ourselves. We are called to share our God-given gifts so that through our every-day simple and random acts of kindness, God's Love and Care for all His creation can be known. And that care extends to caring for and respecting Mother Nature as well.

Locally, we are sports-oriented people. We know what it takes for a team to be successful. If each member of the team plays as if they were the only player, the game will be lost. A good team works together with each member of the team - working with one another, thinking how the other player will respond to a particular play so as to bring about a winning result. A good team, like the individual parts of the human body, must work together in harmony. When we do that, we are proclaiming the good news, we are proclaiming an acceptable time to the Lord.

Let us pray for the Conversion of the World and for peace.

ADULT SCRIPTURE STUDY—“CHOSEN”

Sessions will continue this Thursday, January 27, at 10:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Please contact the Parish Office, 724-872-3555, or Lauretta Stanley, 724-787-1989, for more information.

LITURGY OF THE WORD FOR CHILDREN EACH SUNDAY DURING THE 11:00 A.M. MASS

All children ages 5 through 11 are invited to participate in this beautiful ritual of proclaiming God's Word with Children appropriate to their understanding. They are sent in a group with their leaders before the readings and return to their families after the Creed. No sign-up is necessary.

A Youth Mass is planned on the last weekend of every month at the Sunday Mass at 11:00 a.m. This Mass gives the students the opportunity to participate in the various liturgical ministries as lectors, servers, ushers and greeters and to accept other responsibilities. This monthly Mass will alternate between St. Anne and Holy Family churches. The next Youth Mass will be held next Sunday, January 30, at 11:00 a.m. here at the Church of St. Anne. We commend the students for taking a role in active ministry in the Church.

Diocese of Greensburg Begins Listening Process for Synod on Synodality

As the Holy Father, Pope Francis, has requested that all of us share our ideas about the future of our faith, please participate in "Survey Sunday" this weekend, which is taking place across the Diocese. All parishioners are requested to complete a short survey which is included in the bulletin. You can do one of five things:

- complete the survey while at Mass today (pencils in the pews),
- take it home and bring it back next weekend, (there is a QR code on the survey which you can scan with your cell phone so you are able to complete the survey online),
- use the hard copy in last week's Catholic Accent newspaper and mail it to the Diocese of Greensburg, Office of Communications, 725 E. Pittsburgh Street, Greensburg, PA, 15601,
- take the survey online at www.dioceseofgreensburg.org/synod, or
- for those visiting www.stannerostraver.org to view the bulletin, make a copy of the survey, complete it and mail it to the Diocese of Greensburg, Office of Communications, 725 E. Pittsburgh Street, Greensburg, PA, 15601, or bring it back to Church at a Mass you will attend.

Baskets are at the entrances of the Church for you to deposit the completed survey. All surveys are anonymous and will be sent directly to Bishop Kulick. Beginning in February, Bishop Kulick is inviting the members of the community, including young people, to join him and participate in:

- one of the seven Town Hall Listening Sessions in the Diocese, or
- one of the three online E-Synod meetings scheduled.

The Town Hall Listening Sessions are not exclusively for members of the parish where they are being held. Parishioners and members of the community are invited to join Bishop Kulick at any of them, no matter the location. Each will begin with a short prayer service then move into small group break-out sessions in the social hall of each Parish. Please refer to the inserts in the bulletin last weekend (additional copies are in the entrances of the Church) and take a few moments to fill out the survey.

ALWAYS GOD'S CHILDREN, a ministry for LGBTQ Catholics is held in-person and virtually the second Sunday of every month from 7:00 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. at St. Vincent Basilica Parish, 300 Fraser Purchase Road, Latrobe, 15650. For information, contact Kristina Davies, 724-539-8629, ext. 19 or kristina.davies@stvincent.edu.

LIVING GOD'S WORD

When Ezra read from the book of the law of God, explaining it so the people would understand, they wept, but he said to them: "Today is holy to our Lord. Do not be saddened this day, for rejoicing in the Lord must be your strength!" (Nehemiah 8:10) Ask God to let the divine word bring joy to your heart.
