My Dear Parishioners,

This week's Gospel from John brings us Christ's first miracle at the wedding feast at Cana. Jesus was invited to the wedding of two young people as a guest. It is apparent from the context of scripture that He had no planned role to play at the wedding other than to enjoy Himself and be there for the couple. Clearly, the couple would have been related to Jesus in some way. It is also important to note that Jesus had not yet begun His ministry. He was probably around 29-30 years old at the time of the story. He was accompanied by Our Lady, His mom.

To understand the context of the Gospel, one must understand that how the wedding went played a great role in how the young couple would be accepted by the community. Jewish wedding ceremonies were (and still are) a great deal of fun and not a small amount of wine was expected to be placed at the disposal of the guests. The only thing that could really go wrong would be if the guests were a bit too rowdy and consumed all of the wine. The shame that would follow from such an occurrence cannot be adequately articulated in modern terms. It would literally be the end of the couple's social standing and it would be a disgrace that could never really be erased. A few more tidbits about this Gospel – Joseph is not mentioned and the Church assumes he had by now gone to God. Finally, if one were to speculate, it is probable that the relatives involved in the wedding were on Mary's side of the family as she discovers that the couple has run out of wine and that kind of devastating news would not have been shared with someone outside of the family circle.

Of course, we all know the story – Jesus saves the day, and the couple is spared total humiliation. However, I would like to stress two points for you. One, Jesus had not planned to perform this miracle and two, the substance of the miracle itself. Mary approached her Son clearly upset and looking for His help. "They have run out of wine," she excitedly utters and is met with a rather sharp response from Christ, "Woman, how does your concern affect me? My hour has not yet come." Clearly, Mary has taken Jesus off schedule. He is met with a surprise and let's His mom know that right now is not a great time. It is Mary's response though that catches my attention; she looks to the waiter and says, "Do whatever He tells you." Wow! Talk about confidence. Like ever so many mothers out there, Mary looks to her son and ask Him for a favor. Like so many sons, Jesus lets out a deep sigh and resigns Himself to do His mom's bidding. If anyone ever questions why we look for Mary's intercession when we have a special request of God, this is it! Christ listens to His Mom.

The second moment I would ask you to concentrate on is Jesus deploying water and wine as the substances that form the basis of His first miracle. Water was always used with wine in ancient times. You see, the process of fermentation did not exist as it does today. The grapes would be squashed by human feet and the wine prepared but it would be extremely thick, nearly like a milkshake from today. So, the wine had to be cut by pouring and mixing water into it. Thus, it would become much more like our wine today. We imitate Christ's cutting of the wine on the altar at every Mass. Indeed, as the priest pours the water into the wine to cut it we say "By the mystery of this water and wine may we come to share in the divinity of Christ who humbled Himself to share in our humanity." A Mass in which the wine is not cut would not be valid. I would also direct you to the significance of the mixture of water and wine in the Passion narrative. After the Roman centurion drove the spear into the Savior's side both water and blood flowed. Thus, the mixture of water with the blood of Christ. So, as you can see this Gospel reading is more than just a great Gospel proclamation for weddings – it serves as yet another catechetical building block behind the rationale for why we do what we do at the altar.

I want to publicly thank the Usher's Club members who have been voluntarily donning masks during Mass for our safety. Please note that this was not mandated by me or by the archdiocese. This was a voluntary move by our ushers so as to afford greater protection against the spread of COVID to our elderly and vulnerable parishioners during what we hope is a short-term spike in the pandemic. Hopefully, the Omicron variant will fade away soon and you will no longer be asking, "Who was that masked man?" Voluntary masking by our parishioners during Mass is highly encouraged and I am pleased that more people are going out of their way to protect themselves and their neighbors in the pews.

Finally, last week I sent the Archbishop our final plan for rectory reconstruction and modernization for final approval. This was a revised plan which called for a reduction of 50% from the initial cost of renovation. Please know that we have included no improvement over and above what was absolutely required in a modern home. To give each of you some context as to the need for rehabilitation and as explanation for why Fr. Christopher and I did not move into the rectory at the beginning of our assignments, I offer for your consideration the profound observation of a representative of a company bidding on part of the project: "Did you people really let your priest live in this place?" God rest his soul, but Fr. Mike never wanted to do anything that gave his people the perception that he was spending their money on his comfort. However, he fully realized that his successor would have to renovate the rectory if your priests were going to live on campus. The cost of the renovation is about $467,000. This will renovate two-thirds of the existing rectory which as most of you know, used to be a convent and was never converted into a home. All costs will come from the building fund and none from regular savings. No loan will be taken to handle the project and our parish finance council has wholeheartedly endorsed this effort. Like me, they realize that the parish's future and the effectiveness and flexibility of your priests are dramatically enhanced when your spiritual fathers and servants live at your parish. Please contact me directly if you should have any questions about this very vital project. I will be on vacation for ten days recharging my batteries and finishing my canon law thesis. The parish and school will be in sound hands with Fr. Christopher, Fr. Dale and the best staff and faculty in the archdiocese. You will notice in the time to come that I usually plan my vacation between the end of the Christmas Season and the beginning of Lent. Thus, my temporary absence has less impact on your spiritual needs.

I remain, Yours in Christ,
Your pastor,
Fr. John

Hello and happy Sunday!

We have celebrated the birth of Christ and have begun a new calendar year. Now this weekend we begin a new liturgical season, ordinary time. The change of season is marked with the change in color of the priest's vestments. During the Christmas season we wore white and now with ordinary time, we move back to green.

Looking back, when I was a kid growing up, I don't think I paid much attention to the things going on in Church. I think that came later in life and especially since I entered seminary. As I was in seminary and learning more about the Church and most importantly about the Mass (the Divine Liturgy), I have come to appreciate our faith and what is taking place during the Mass. This is true with anything in life. The more we understand the why of something, the more we come to understand and appreciate it.

I remember when I was a kid sitting in the pew, when we came to the moment of consecration, (when the priest says the words of institution and the bread and wine are transubstantiated into the body, blood, soul and divinity of Jesus) if we were distracted or messing around at that point, my mother would always say to us "Pay attention, this is the most important part of Mass." Those words stay with me to this day. In my mother's defense, we probably were distracted. The Mass is the most important thing we participate in all week, for it is where for a short time, heaven and earth are united in worship of God as the heavens are opened to us.

During Mass since Christmas and with the return of the altar servers, you may have noticed that we are now ringing the bells during the consecration. The bells are rung at three different times during the consecration of the Eucharist and Precious Blood. The first is during the epiclesis; when the priest places his hands over the gifts of bread and wine and calls down the Holy Spirit upon the offering. The second time is during the elevation of the Eucharistic Host after the words of consecration. The third follows immediately after the words of consecration of the precious blood. In the old rite before Vatican II, the Mass was said in Latin and since many people did not understand Latin, they didn't always realize what was going on at particular moments of the Liturgy. To assist the people, the bells were rung at these particular moments to help the people to know when the bread and wine were being transubstantiated into the Body and Blood of Christ. Today with the Liturgy being in English, we can understand the words of the institution, but it is still helpful for us to have the bells as a reminder of what miracle is taking place in those moments of consecration.

As I mentioned earlier, as I have grown in my love and knowledge of our faith, I have come to understand and appreciate the richness of the faith and Liturgy. The more we come to know why we do what we do when we do it, the more we can appreciate it and appreciate what Christ has entrusted to us. This weekend I encourage you and your children to listen for the ringing of the bells and in those moments to thank the Lord for what it is He is accomplishing before us, making His Body and Blood present to us in the Eucharist and Precious Blood.

Can you imagine seeing the Face of God?

At St. Peter Parish, we see the Face of God on a regular basis. We see His Face when we help a neighbor with food, clothing, housing; perform a kind deed for someone in their time of need or sorrow; encourage someone to come to Mass; encourage someone to resist temptation; listen to someone when no one else will; or simply to comfort someone when they are down.

Christmas Extravaganza Thank You!

Planning and hosting the Christmas Extravaganza afforded each of us with the opportunity to see 212 faces of God. That is the number of volunteers and staff that it took to plan and execute this event. It was breathtaking to see the behind-the-scenes group who planned the event; those who set up the event, those who cleaned up and took down the event; and those many volunteers who worked the event. A special thank you goes out to our Chairpersons: Elisabeth Kujawa, Barry Crawford, Pat Plotkowski, Ann Mocerri and Anna Dove. Thank you for your commitment. They worked relentlessly everyday for six weeks, coming up with ideas, solving problems, etc., and never stopped smiling. Without them, the event would not have happened. God bless every one of you.

But we cannot forget our beloved pastor, Fr. John Maksym. He had a vision - a grand vision and was so excited. His excitement was contagious; and, so the planning began immediately. We believed in his vision. He believed in us. He knew that together, we could pull it off; and we did. Thanks be to God and all of you. The planning for next year, which has already begun, is to make a bigger impact in our parish as well as in our Mount Clemens community.

We are the Face of God! When we say 'yes' to volunteering, we have already given the Holy Spirit permission to move our hearts into the 'compassion zone.' It is the Holy Spirit who began the work. We say 'yes' and look what happens! - The Christmas Extravaganza! Each one of you is the Face of God. Each of you allowed your life to be used as a vessel of His love. That is family. That is who we are. It is together that we make a difference. It is together that we witness to the world - the Love of Christ. Thank you for saying 'yes.' Thank you for sharing your time, talent, and/or treasure. Thank you for being who God created you to be.

The planning has already begun for the 2nd Annual Christmas Extravaganza. Stay tuned for the future date.

May God bless you abundantly.

With love and gratitude for every one of you,

Deb Goff-Lieghio
