SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Jesus summoned the Twelve and began to send them out two by two and gave them authority over unclean spirits. - Mk 6:7

Dear God, we place our worries in your hands. We place our sick under your care and humbly ask that you restore your servants to health once more. Please remember to keep in prayer...

A Letter from St. Leo's Soup Kitchen...

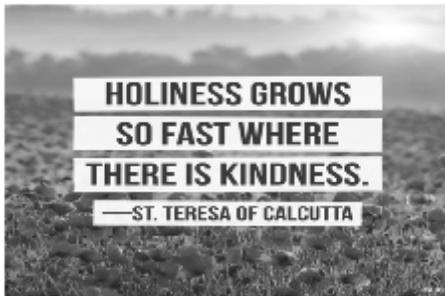

Dear St. Leo's Soup Kitchen Saturday Volunteers,

I pray that you are well and getting back to normal lives and activities.

We at St. Leo's are thinking about returning to serving Saturday lunches. I am simply reaching out to you as Saturday volunteers to see if you are interested in returning to prepare and serve Saturday lunches at St. Leo's. It would be as before, you would bring the food, prepare it, and serve it. Not sure yet as to 'carry-out' or 'dine-in'. More details later after we learn how many will be coming back.

Looking forward to your reply,
Steve Gadzinski, Board Member
St. Leo's Soup Kitchen

If you are interested in returning to this ministry, please contact Sr. Margretta at the Church Office, 313.534.9000.

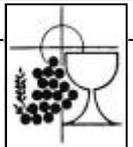

St. Joseph... "Let us love Jesus above all, let us love Mary as our mother; but then, how could we keep from loving Joseph, who was so intimately united to both Jesus and Mary? And how can we honor him better than by imitating his virtues? Now, what else did he do in all his life but contemplate, study, and adore Jesus, even in the midst of his daily labors? Behold, therefore, our model." St. Madeleine Sophie Barat

STEWARDSHIP

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

What We Carry from Town to Town

In my experience, there are two kinds of people: the folks who kick off their shoes the second they walk through the door, and the ones who don't.

People can feel strongly about this on both sides. The main thrust of the Shoes-Off Brigade seems to be this: we track a lot of weird stuff on the soles of our feet. Little reminders of all the places we've been — whether it's a private home or a public bathroom — cling to our shoes long after we leave.

This same theory applies to our spiritual lives. As human beings and as disciples, we visit a lot of figurative towns and pick up a lot of figurative dust. Sinfulness. Shame. Defeat. Anger. Fear. Doubt. No matter how hard we try to keep free of it, these things have a way of attaching themselves to us, sometimes without us even noticing. We need to take a good look at what unhelpful and unconstructive baggage from our past we're tracking into our present and future encounters.

What is the "town" God is asking you to visit today in His name? Is it a tough conversation with a friend, a brief witness to a stranger in the checkout line, a call to be present to someone in your family? Before you go, remember, shake off the dust. Don't let a past disappointment constrain you. Don't allow yesterday's failures or burdens to keep you from the joy of today's witness, whatever form it might take.

In the Gospel today we see how Jesus sent his Apostles out two by two. From the beginning of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, members visit in pairs "two by two", those who are poor and needy in their homes. It is there, in the family setting, that Vincentians listen, offer humble advice, and render assistance. Have you considered answering the call to help serve the poor by joining the Society of St. Vincent de Paul?

World Day for

The aim of this day is to unite everyone who wants to support justice and promote victims rights. We are proud to be part of an international network of women religious (Talitha Kum) working to end human trafficking and promote the rights of survivors.

Prayer Intention: We pray for freedom for all current victims of human trafficking and for the healing and thriving of all survivors.

U.S. Catholic Sisters Against Human Trafficking

The following is a message from:

Archbishop Allen H. Vigneron to the people of the Archdiocese of Detroit:

ARCHBISHOP OF DETROIT

The Archdiocese of Detroit today celebrates a significant milestone in its missionary transformation as 113 parish communities join together and form 26 Families of Parishes. The remaining 103 parish communities will follow next year, forming 25 additional Families of Parishes. These groupings are the fruit of embracing the graces of Synod 16 and our response to God's call to renew our structures and align resources toward our common mission to share Christ with every woman and man in southeast Michigan.

This is the most radical transformation our parishes have experienced in decades. Teams of priests, deacons, religious and lay staff will work together to better share their gifts and talents with the whole Family of Parishes. This is not merging or clustering. In our model of Families, each parish will keep its identity and charism but will share its gifts with all the parishes.

Our move to Families of Parishes is meant to rejuvenate and energize my brother priests, who will benefit from the key elements of collaboration and mutual support among the team. And you, the faithful of the Archdiocese, will also benefit from a larger group of priests, deacons, and lay staff ministering to you. But most importantly, I am confident that Families of Parishes will help us go on mission. This is what Jesus is asking of us; we are equipping our parishes to go out into the community to bring the Good News of Jesus Christ to everyone we meet. That is why we are willing to make this radical transformation.

I want to offer a few words of gratitude. To begin, I am grateful for our priests and deacons who will start their new assignments today in their new Families of Parishes. It takes great courage to embrace change. We need their courage and God's grace to navigate this transition, so please join me in praying for our clergy and for all our lay staff who will support them in our new structures.

I also want to thank the many co-workers who have helped me discern, plan, and launch Families of Parishes. This is a significant undertaking, one we could not have accomplished without open discernment and discussion about concerns, ideas and vision. It is through active listening and prayer that we can follow the path down which the Holy Spirit is leading us.

Lastly, I want to express my deep appreciation and affection to you, the faithful of the Archdiocese, who are embarking upon this journey with us. You will play a large role in uniting your new Families of Parishes and contributing to the success of our shared mission. Thank you for trusting in this process and praying for its success.

As we bring together our first

Families of Parishes today, we also celebrate the feast of St. Junipero Serra, the great missionary who was instrumental in bringing the Gospel to California in the 1700s. St. Junipero's motto was "siempre adelante, nunca atrás," which translates to, "always forward, never back." It is providential to mark this milestone in the life of the Archdiocese under the intercession of Father Serra. United with Mary and the Twelve, we move forward, never back, confident that Jesus walks with us and that through the power of the Holy Spirit, we will share with men and women of our time the hope, joy and salvation that can only be found in Christ.

*Sincerely Yours in Christ,
The Most Reverend
Allen H. Vigneron
Archbishop of Detroit*

ALL Saints

Open Sainthood Causes

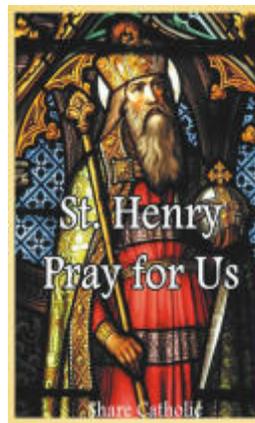

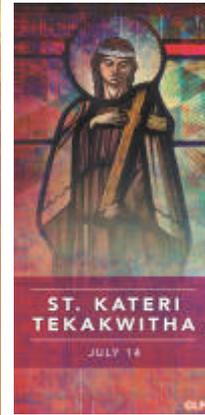

There are several open causes for sainthood among African-American Catholics, “a treasury of inspiring holy men and women” who demonstrate the way forward “toward racial reconciliation.” To become a saint, the Church closely dissects, researches, and examines a candidate’s life. At least two miracles must result from personal intercession to that person. Each of the following individuals is in the early stages of investigation for sainthood. They faced difficulties because of their race, including within the Church, yet they persevered and highlighted Christ in all they did.

Venerable Pierre Toussaint (1776–1853) came to America as a slave from Haiti. There, he learned to read and write and served as a hairdresser’s apprentice. Pierre lived a life of devout faith, helping people of all races during his servitude and upon receiving his freedom. He became a successful entrepreneur and donated generously to local charities while also caring for those with yellow fever.⁹

Venerable Henriette Delille (1812–1862) was born a free woman of color in New Orleans who experienced a religious conversion at age twenty-four. She later founded the Sisters of the Holy Family, a religious order dedicated to serving and educating the enslaved, the sick, and the poor. Henriette is the first U.S. native born African-American whose cause for canonization has been officially opened by the Church.¹⁰

Your financial health

Your credit score and why you should improve it

Your credit score is a number that represents a person’s creditworthiness. It indicates the likelihood of whether money will be repaid to the lender.

Fair or not, those with fewer resources can often be required to pay more for the same product or service. This is particularly true in the finance and insurance (F&I) realm. The reason behind this is the differing level of risk being absorbed by the lender, credit card issuer or insurance company.

Similarly, even for those with nearly identical resources, F&I pricing can vary widely, due to still differing credit scores. One’s track record, or character, matters.

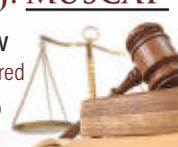

Proactive steps to improve your credit score

- Check your credit report for any incorrect items that should be disputed. (free copy available yearly at annualcreditreport.com)
- Make payments in full and on time, every time.
- Maintain a gap between your level of credit usage vs. your credit limit.
