Reflecting on the Word

Today we witness three encounters with the Holy One in three different settings, but with three similar responses, both immediate and long-term. Isaiah's vision of God in the temple included angels surrounding God and praising God's glory. His immediate response was fear and unworthiness at seeing the living God. But God's compassionate action of purifying his lips leads Isaiah to offer his service.

For Simon Peter, the experience of the holy came when a stranger walked by as Simon was finishing an unsuccessful night of fishing. Jesus got into his boat, taught the crowds first then turned to Simon. Something in Jesus' manner must have persuaded Simon to follow his directions. The result was so many fish that the boats almost sank. Simon suddenly knew he was in the presence of the Holy One. Unworthiness and fear flooded his heart, but, as God did with Isaiah, Jesus removed Simon's fear and Simon followed him.

Paul briefly alludes to his own unworthiness to be an apostle, rooted in his experience of the Holy One on the road to Damascus. He witnesses to God's grace at work by preaching what has been handed on to him: that Christ died for our sins, was raised from the dead, and appeared to Paul, the least of all the apostles.

An experience of the holy can come to us in church, in the midst of our work, or even when we are heading in a very different direction than the one God has planned for us. Pray God we will respond to it.

SCHOOL NEWS

Upcoming Events | Parish Directory

The staff and students at the Battle Creek Area Catholic Schools last week celebrated each day during Catholic Schools Week with prayer, fun, games, and community outreach. We are so grateful for our pastors, teachers and staff, parents and parishioners. Your ongoing support allows our students to learn, serve, succeed and lead.

We invite you to prayerfully consider Catholic education for your family. Applications for enrollment for the 2022-23 school year are now available through bcacs.org. Click on "Join our Family." You are also welcome to schedule a tour by contacting Cathy at 963-1131 or via email: cerskine@bcacs.org.

One BCACS family shared their thoughts:

"Our Battle Creek Area Catholic Schools are special places. This community cares for one another and cheers for each other's successes and bears each other's sorrows. A family's involvement in school is expected and celebrated. Our children are able to learn in an environment that is free from distractions and the result of all of this, are children who excel in academics, score well on standardized tests and are good people in the end. We are a proud Battle Creek Area Catholic Schools family!"
