THE ECHO

The silence calls me
 I answer with a step that leads me up an asphalt ribbon
 to the apex of a hill.

A hot breeze moves about in trees of evergreen- spruce and pine,
 cones and needles whispering, boughs bending before the ancient, hallowed space.

Still silence call me.
 I exit summer's heat and stand in the cool threshold of the narthex of a church.

Silence still

And beads of sweat condense upon my neck;
 my face is flush with mild exertion.
 My eyes adjust.

The darkened room
 is lit by one small candle.
 Silent saints greet with sober stares, my presence in their silence.

And quiet, still, my heart
 begins to shed the hill,
 the steps, the trees,
 the day, the night,
 the thoughts that have too often hindered me from coming here.

Until more quiet

Still

The voice of God is heard.

Χριστός Ανέστη!

Y.A.L.

Y.A.L had a busy month! We had a great time at our first in-person meeting, thanks to all who attended! We also handed out flowers to the women of St. Nicholas for Mother's Day. Later in the month, we enjoyed partnering with FOCUS Detroit and Oasis of Hope Christian Church to work on their garden! If you or someone you know may be interested in joining the group, please reach out to YAL@stnicholastroy.org!

Council Report

Coronavirus Containment Actions

The Metropolis of Detroit Coronavirus procedures and directives remain in effect. Please continue to maintain social distancing and to stick with wearing a mask while in church - both actions are mandatory. Ministry groups are allowed and encouraged to meet in person in small groups. The complete list of the directive is posted to our website at www.stnicholastroy.org.

Youth Safety Renewal/Training

The Parish Council reminds everyone who completed the Archdiocese Youth Safety Training program in 2020 that it is time for renewal. Anyone who started working with parish children in 2020 or 2021 also must enroll. The program is a requirement for all parish teachers, advisors and leaders who work with children. Please contact the church office for details on program enrollment.

Holy Week Website / Live Stream Viewer Info

We had good parishioner and visitor attendance both online and in-person during Holy Week. While the numbers were not quite as high as before the pandemic, nonetheless we saw some nice attendance. Palm Sunday: 700 people comprised of 300 users on our website and 400 people in person across the Event Center and church Good Friday: 700 people comprised of 500 users on the website and 200 people in church Resurrection/Anastasi: 900 people comprised of 500 users on the website, and 400 people in person across the Event Center and church.

Classroom Water Damage

In April we suffered significant damage to two classrooms in the North wing when a roof drain pipe joint separated during a thunderstorm, allowing a large amount of rainwater to enter the building. Remediation has taken place. There is no mold. We are covered by insurance. Reconstruction has begun. We carry a $5,000 deductible. We are working with contractors to assess the damage and begin repairs immediately. All other roof drain pipe joints were inspected and repairs made as necessary to prevent a recurrence in other parts of our facility.

Staying In Touch

Our parish maintains a detailed website at www.stnicholastroy.org where information on services, events and ministries can be found. The link to our live weekly Sunday Divine Liturgy broadcast can also be found there. We also keep a Facebook page and we publish a weekly e-mail of the Sunday Bulletin and upcoming events.

PHILOPTOCHOS

The St. Nicholas Philoptochos thanks all of its members who volunteered their time during Holy Week. Specifically, we thank the following women who dyed eggs for the Holy Saturday service: Barbara Caralis, Minnie Papageorgiou, Eugenia Tonelli, Melanie Feles, Andrea Feles-Katsimbaris, Vasiliki Michalakis, Penny Seaborn, Paula Kalevas, Angela Seaborn, Patti Bologna, and Irene Zannis. Thank you to Anne Feles for donating the organza cross bags for the eggs. We also thank all those who helped the Philoptochos decorate the Kouvouklion/Epitaphion. We, also, thank the committee who assembled and delivered the Pascha "Forget—Me—Not" gift bags for our home—bound & nursing home parishioners.

We also want to thank the parish for supporting our many activities in April and May – the Philoptochos Bake Sale, Easter Candle Sale, and Mother's Day Gift Sale. We appreciate your continued support!

Finally, thank you to all who have newly joined or renewed their Philoptochos membership.

Y.A.L. Partnership with FOCUS DETROIT

St. Nicholas Y.A.L. has partnered with FOCUS Detroit to help create and shape a new outreach initiative called "Outfitted for Good" (OFG). OFG serves as a food pantry and clothing closet out of a shipping container on the property of Oasis of Hope in downtown Detroit.

We will be creating a "spot" for those in need in the downtown Detroit region serving as a one-stop shop. It offers access to basic necessities, such as food, clean and presentable clothing, and hygiene products, as well as serving as a neighborhood staple, focused on cultivating, enriching, and positively shaping the local community and youth.

We hope to have workshops for the youth, neighborhood block parties in the summer, and to overall create a centralized place of hope and support. Our purpose is to serve existing needs and fill the gaps that exist while collaborating with existing outreach ministries, community partners, and existing nonprofit agencies. The COVID-19 pandemic has made the need even greater and access to these ministries more difficult.

If you have any questions or would like to get involved, please contact Fotini Michalak

Do we even need a “Church”?

You’ve probably heard this question before, and perhaps even asked it yourself. World Christianity today is different than it was 20 years ago, 100 years ago, and certainly 2,000 years ago. The questions that we ask are prompted by both our present and our past. This question in particular, which seeks to determine the value or necessity of a “Church,” was actually unheard of for the first 1500 years of Christian existence! It wasn’t until the onset of the Protestant Reformation in the 16th century that people began even to consider that it might be possible to be Christian without being part of the Church. Prior to Luther’s articulation of ideas like Sola Scriptura (by scripture alone) and Sola Fide (by faith alone), it was unimaginable that a person might take a Bible, read it, and somehow find their way to heaven on the strength of their individual will and interpretation. While Martin Luther was almost certainly moved by an earnest desire to expunge human corruption from the Catholic Church, and while he himself did not envision the way that later thinkers would take this reform in an almost unrecognizable direction, the fact is that before the 16th century there were 2 Churches (both of whom considered themselves the One, true Church), and that now there are over 30,000 Christian denominations worldwide.

What explains this explosion of different beliefs, all claiming to be correct? How is it that, in our day, no one would blink an eye if you rented an office building, put out a sign, and established your own “church”? Do you and I really have that power? Am I so intelligent, so sincere, so enlightened, that I can trust my own opinion about the scriptures over the opinion of the millions and millions of Christians who’ve lived before me and live around me still? And, would that even be enough? How many of us know that the New Testament itself was not formally defined until the year 367? Can I take that book and dispose of the community who compiled it, certain that I’ll understand the words it wrote better than the community itself?

The justification for answering yes to all the questions above is: “Indeed I can, through the Holy Spirit who helps me!” You have probably heard this before, too. The principle of the Holy Spirit guiding and enlightening Christians is found throughout Scripture, and we see it exemplified in the Gospel of John: “But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you all things and remind you of everything that I have told you.” (John 14.26) Indeed, Christ did not leave us orphans, and the Holy Spirit does guide us. The question that remains is... How?

Does the Holy Spirit guide us alone, or as a body? When Christ promised His disciples that He would continue to guide and perfect them through the Holy Spirit, did He speak to them as individuals, or as a collective? Did He mean that He would ensure their faithfulness to the truth when they worked alone, or together? The first chapters of Acts, and the historical event of Pentecost which they describe, will give us the answer.

When the day of Pentecost arrived, they were all together in one place. And suddenly there came from heaven a sound like a mighty rushing wind, and it filled the entire house where they were sitting. And divided tongues as of fire appeared to them and rested on each one of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance.

Christ appeared to his disciples for 40 days after His Resurrection, and on the 40th day he ascended into heaven, promising (as we heard in John above) to send them Holy Spirit. That promise was not made to individuals, but to a group. [1] Now, ten days after the Ascension of Christ, the disciples are together once more. They've gathered as a unit in Jerusalem and are praying and fasting as one until the Holy Spirit descends. On that 50th day (Pentecost), the Holy Spirit does descend, appearing as a flame of fire and manifesting itself in a miraculous gift of tongues. But where do these flames of fire sit, and who receives the gift of tongues? It descends neither on just one of the apostles, nor on anyone outside of them. Each of the apostles received the Holy Spirit: "divided tongues as of fire appeared to them and rested on each of them," and yet not everyone present received the gift, as we hear of the "crowd [that] came together in bewilderment." [2] One group preached, and the other received the preaching. In sum, we see that Pentecost was an event in which Christ sent the Holy Spirit to a specific group (His apostles) at a specific time (when they were gathered as one). As we read further into the book of Acts, we see that the apostles, in turn, continued to work as a single body, passing the gift of the Holy Spirit literally from one person to another through the laying on of hands. [3] This community, established at Pentecost and perpetuated in history from one generation of apostles to another, is the One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic Church. It is to an actual group of people, a flesh-and-bones, traceable, historical community, that Christ grants the Holy Spirit and guides His believers even to this day.

Do we even need a "Church?" Only if we need the Holy Spirit.

¹ "And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another advocate to help you and be with you forever/ και εγω ερωτησω τον πατερα και αλλον παρακλητον δοξασι υμιν, ινα μενη μεθ' υμων εις τον αιωνα." (John 14.16) Here the Greek words "υμιν" and "υμων" witness the 2nd-person plural, "you all/all of you."

² "Parthians and Medes and Elamites and residents of Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya belonging to Cyrene, and visitors from Rome, both Jews and proselytes, Cretans and Arabians," all witnessed the miracle but did not perform it (Acts 2.9-11).

³ "When the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to Samaria. When they arrived, they prayed for the new believers there that they might receive the Holy Spirit, because the Holy Spirit had not yet come on any of them; they had simply been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. Then Peter and John placed their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit." (Acts 8.14-17)
