Be Thankful That God is “Unfair”

“Are you envious because I am generous?” (Mt 20:15)

How many times have we heard today’s Gospel about the workers in the vineyard? If you look at this parable from the perspective that God is the owner of the vineyard and heaven is the wage that we are laboring to earn, is any one of us more worthy of receiving this reward than another? Jesus labored for us. Was the amount of his laboring fair compared to the laboring that the rest of us do over the course of our lives? He took our sins upon himself and suffered an agonizing death on the cross to save us and give us the hope of eternal salvation. He didn’t do it because we earned it. He did it because he is a God of mercy and compassion, a loving and forgiving God.

Consider the thief on the cross who realized that Christ was receiving the same sentence that he was, though Christ had done nothing wrong. Yet, when asked if he would forgive his sins, Jesus answered, “Today you will be with me in paradise.” (Luke 23:43) Is it fair that someone can come to the end of their life having done terrible things and then repent and receive forgiveness and mercy at the last minute? Some may think not, but that is how “unfair” God is and how much he loves us. We all come to the vineyard at different times, the vineyard being our faith in this instance. Some people know Christ all their lives, others for only a very short time. When God blesses someone, regardless of the circumstances, we should not consider that an injustice. We should instead rejoice.

We are instructed in today’s readings to: “Only, conduct yourselves in a way worthy of the gospel of Christ.” (Phil 1:27) We should be happy when others are blessed, not jealous. Had the latecomers to the vineyard been family members of those already there, would it have made a difference? Would they have stopped their grumbling? Does fairness not matter as much when it involves someone that we love as opposed to a stranger? We all need God’s graces and mercies. Are we deserving of them? Can we earn them? No. Is it fair that we, perhaps, receive more or different graces than someone else? Perhaps not, but this is why we should be grateful that God is so generous.

Think about the Covid stimulus payments. The same amounts were paid to all who met the requirements, regardless of age, employment status or many other factors. There were some who received payments who didn’t necessarily need them. Others were in great need yet received nothing. Is this unfair? Many would say yes. There are large numbers of people who live in this country but do not yet have legal status for one reason or another. Does this make them any less worthy of being able to provide for their family? We are all children of the same God. Jesus searched out the downtrodden and gave them hope. Should we not do the same? I know a fellow parishioner who turned her blessing during the pandemic into a blessing for others. She saw families with young children who were struggling just to put food on the table; so, she gifted her payments to them. What a beautiful example of being the face of Christ to others.

When you are blessed, share those blessings. When others are blessed, do not begrudge them or become envious. When we are envious, we take our eyes off what the Lord has given to us. Be thankful, and look for ways to share your blessings. Stop waiting for life to be fair. Keep working toward that time when Jesus will say to you, “You have labored well. This day you will be with me in paradise.”

Susan Wawrzaszek, Coordinator of Worship

Spires to Heaven: A Spiritually Enriching Pilgrimage on Tuesday, October 17

with Fr. James Conlon

Embark on an unforgettable one-day pilgrimage with Fr. James Conlon, delving into the enchanting Land of the cross-tipped "spires to heaven" in Maria Stein, Ohio, where you'll find an awe-inspiring collection of relics.

Experience a day filled with spiritual nourishment as we begin with Mass, followed by an enlightening tour and serene visits to the grounds. After a delightful lunch, we'll embark on a scenic journey along the spires to heaven, making stops at captivating churches and sites.
