Fr. Gary writes:

Last week, I began to share with you some of the contents of Father James Martin's latest book 'Learning to Pray: A Guide for Everyone' I covered the first three out of nine reasons as to why we should pray. The first is because God wants to be in a relationship with us. The second, because we want to be in a relationship with God. And the third, is that we simply have to pray. Our innate desire for God means we naturally crave a relationship with God. The fourth reason is simply because we are in need. As Father Martin writes: "There are other reasons that prayer feels necessary. In the face of your problems, how can you not ask for help from your Creator? I've never met anyone who felt that his or her life was free of problems." A fifth reason is that prayer helps us. Father Martin: "This may sound selfish, but it's another common motivation, similar to reasons for doing physical exercise. If you never get off the couch, you'll end up out of shape, and that will influence your overall physical condition; less exercise means more pulled muscles, perilous cardiovascular health, and greater stress. No praying – not spending intentional time with God – means your spiritual life will be out of shape, even flabby, and that will influence the rest of your life. You'll probably be less grateful and thus more irritable, less connected to the deepest part of yourself and thus more scattered, less aware of your reliance on God and thus more frightened. Prayer helps you. On the rare days I don't pray I feel off balance. I'm more irritable, more distracted, less patient, and less able to maintain perspective on life. Even when prayer feels "dry" it helps me feel more connected to the center of my being, which is God."

Prayer is also a way to unburden ourselves when we're feeling sad, angry, stressed or frustrated. This is the sixth reason why prayer is important. Often after we have told God our problems we feel less alone, as we have shared with God exactly how we feel. A seventh reason is that prayer helps us praise God. As St. Ignatius of Loyola said: "Love ought to show itself in deeds more than words." But it is also necessary to simply say thank you to God, and prayer is one way of doing this. And as prayer is not a solitary act, the eighth reason to pray is solidarity. Father Martin: "Whenever we pray, we are united with believers across the world who are lifting their minds and hearts to God. We are also united with those who have gone before us, who continue their prayers before God. This is one part of what Catholics mean by the communion of saints."

The ninth reason why we pray is to be transformed. Father Martin: "I felt God saying to me in prayer: "What kind of life do you want to lead?" It was not so much a matter of waiting for God to change me or remove my flaws; God was telling me that the change was largely up to me. It was a transformational moment, as it seemed to offer me freedom and reminded me of my own agency in life. Transformation is another reason for prayer." There are many reasons to pray, chief among them that God is calling you: "Spend some time with me."

VIOLIN CLASS

The violin players in 3rd-6th grade recorded and taped their first music video, which aired during the Saints & Sinners Virtual Auction last month! The kids had a blast learning the music in just a couple classes to record and film themselves to the song "Safe and Sound."

The students have been working all year reading music, refreshing their knowledge of the notes on each string, learning to play new techniques with the bow, and improving their listening skills to play as an ensemble. It was fun putting it all together to make something to share with our parish and school family! In addition to learning to read music better and faster, the students have been incorporating the music terms from general music in order to round out their education. They use a combination of warm-ups focusing on the right and left hands independently, along with note reading challenges, an app called Staff Wars, and the online program SmartMusic to play songs with backing tracks to help strengthen skills. I look forward to seeing what the future holds for these talented musicians!

STEWARSHIP REFLECTION THE ENDLESS TASK

Fundamental to us as Christians is our belief that Jesus Christ really died on the cross, that he was truly raised from the dead, and that he will return at the end of time as he promised. It is clear from today's Gospel reading that the risen Jesus was not a disembodied spirit, or an illusion of the grief-stricken disciples. On that first Easter the disciples, as witnesses to Jesus' death, were overwhelmed with joy to see him risen to new life. When Jesus appeared among them he told them he was no ghost, and to prove his reality invited them to touch his hands and feet. Then he asked for a piece of baked fish and ate it in front of them. After this reassurance Jesus went on to explain to them once more how his death and resurrection were foretold in the scriptures. At this point he did not pose complicated questions to test their understanding; instead, he gave them a task: to preach repentance and forgiveness of sins "to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem" (Acts 24:49). Stop and think. This is not "Give a few hours of your time, and we'll consider you've done your part." What Jesus was giving them was an all-consuming, life-long mission. They were his chosen followers, his disciples, but now the time for learning was over. They must become apostles, the ones sent on a mission. Every time we come together to celebrate the Eucharist, we are offered the love of God through word and sacrament. We are reminded of God's saving deeds and wonderful promises, and we are given food for the journey. Finally, we are urged to go forth to love and serve the Lord. What mission is Christ calling you to fulfill, that only you can do?

Living Stewardship Now

Pause and review how you are loving and serving the Lord in daily life. What do you need to do differently? Are there things you need to do less, or to do more? Are you being called in a new direction?

11 Facts About Human Trafficking

Human trafficking is a crime that forcefully exploits women, men, and children. According to the United Nations, human trafficking affects every country in the world, but it's not talked about enough. So we're talking about it. Contact the National Human Trafficking Hotline to connect with services and support for human trafficking survivors, or to report a tip: call 888-373-7888 or text 233733. You may remain anonymous.

1. Trafficking involves transporting someone into a situation of exploitation. This can include forced labor, marriage, prostitution, and organ removal. This kind of exploitation is known by a few different names. Human Trafficking, Trafficking In Persons (TIP), and Modern Day Slavery are the ones accepted by the US Department of State.
2. It's estimated that internationally there are 40+ million people in modern slavery today. Assessing the full scope of human trafficking is difficult because so many cases often go undetected, something the United Nations refers to as "the hidden figure of crime."
3. Estimates suggest that, internationally, only about .04% survivors of human trafficking cases are identified, meaning that the vast majority of cases of human trafficking go undetected.
4. Human trafficking earns global profits of roughly $150 billion a year for traffickers, $99 billion of which comes from commercial sexual exploitation.
5. Globally, an estimated 71% of enslaved people are women and girls, while men and boys account for 29%.
6. Estimates suggest that about 50,000 people are trafficked into the US each year, most often from Mexico and the Philippines, which brings the totals to millions and millions.
7. In 2018, over half (51.6%) of the criminal human trafficking cases active in the US were sex trafficking cases involving only children.
8. Reports indicate that a large number of child sex trafficking survivors in the US were at one time in the foster care system.
9. Advocates report a growing trend of traffickers using online social media platforms to recruit and advertise targets of human trafficking.
10. The average age a teen enters the sex trade in the US is 12 to 14 years old. Many victims are runaway girls who were sexually abused as children.
11. In 2018, The National Human Trafficking Hotline received more calls from California than any other state in the US, followed by Texas and Florida, respectively. To contact the Human Trafficking Hotline: call 888-373-7888 or text 233733.
