WORSHIP

A NOTE FROM OUR PASTOR FR. DAVID SCOTCHIE

We offer more than bread and wine during the Offertory.

In the Preparation of the Gifts, the assembly brings bread and wine to the altar. The Priest says the prayers over the bread. "Blessed are you, Lord God of all creation.... It will become for us the bread of life." The assembly acclaims, "Blessed be God forever." The priest then says the prayers over the wine. "Blessed are you, Lord God of all creation.... It will become our spiritual drink." The assembly again acclaims, "Blessed be God forever." During the summer, the offertory music is instrumental so that the assembly can hear the blessing and give its acclamation, "Blessed be God forever."

As I wrote last Sunday in the bulletin, these prayers reveal the grace of back-and-forth. The grain from God we make into bread which God makes into the bread of life. The grapes from God we make into wine which God makes into our spiritual drink. God chooses that we are co-workers in his work of salvation. Blessed be God forever!

Having placed the paten and chalice on the altar, the priest bows profoundly from the waist and says quietly, "With humble spirit and contrite heart may we be accepted by you, O Lord, and may our sacrifice in your sight this day be pleasing to you, Lord God."

The priest prays that we be accepted. We offer on the altar our family and friends, our work and play, our health and sickness, and our joys and sorrows. We offer ourselves, good and bad, even our sins! In Christ, we offer our whole selves to the Lord.

In the consecration, the bread and wine become the Body and Blood of Christ. Through the power of the Holy Spirit, our offering becomes the Eucharist. We receive the bread of life and our spiritual drink in communion so that we become one body, one spirit in Christ. We are sanctified. We become holy.

PRAYER OVER THE OFFERINGS FROM BILLY B WILLIAMSON

You may have noticed that I love to plan for a seasonal through-line when looking at music selections. Each Sunday of Lent we sang Jerusalem My Destiny as we ended the liturgy. Not only did this hymn help to provide us a goal through our Lenten fast; but also, each verse pulled directly from the readings for each week in the Lectionary for Year A.

Throughout the Easter Season, which ended this past weekend with Pentecost Sunday, we used the same communion song, Bread of Life from Heaven. By keeping the same song each week, it became second nature to many of us. In fact, I saw fewer and fewer hymnals each week, but still heard the whole assembly singing as one throughout the Communion procession. As the final verse says, we “trust [in] his return, and with every breath, praise the one in whom you are reborn.”

We are called to a “full, active, and conscious” participation in the liturgy, and singing is just one of the ways we can achieve this ideal. During the summer months of Ordinary Time, you will notice a new through-line in the music. For the next few months, during the Presentation of the Gifts and Preparation of the Altar (Offertory,) we will not have a sung piece of music. The goal is that we can collectively be attentive to what is happening during this part of the liturgy. The song that typically fills this moment is not just a convenient way to fill time while the basket is being passed, instead it is a prayer of the entire assembly for the collective gift that we are about to receive at the table. That prayer can still happen without words.

I hope that you will take this time, without a song to sing, to focus on what we are preparing for. When the priest says the words of the Prayer over the Offerings aloud, something that is typically covered by song, respond with a collective and prayerful...

Blessed be God for ever.

MUSIC & LITURGY

ALTAR FLOWERS

The Art and Environment team works hard throughout the year to prepare our liturgical spaces for worship, often with flowers. Sometimes that means working with pine and poinsettia and other times it's palms and lilies. During Ordinary Time, we hope to have flowers in front of the altar each week, and you can help. You can give to support this for any available week of the year for a donation of $65. This can be in memory of someone or to celebrate an anniversary or birthday.

To reserve your weekend(s) please just call the Parish Office and talk to David. He will get your information and let you know what weeks are available. Thank you for helping to beautify our sanctuary with live flowers each and every week.
