READINGS FOR THE 24TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

September 12, 2021

We hear a message we associate more with Lent than with Autumn. Jesus tells us we must deny ourselves and accept our crosses willingly. Each person carries their own personal cross, but in his letter, St. James writes that Christianity is not a private relationship only between each person and God, but must involve the care of others. Let us ready ourselves to hear the voice of God speaking to us.

Our focus is the call to truly express our faith in Christ. It is of little use to say we believe in Christ but not in his cross, as St.

Peter seem to do in the Gospel reading. Acceptance of Christ means acceptance of his cross and also of our own cross in union with him. To reject the reality of suffering is to reject the reality of the crucified Christ.

In the reading from James, we are told that it is false to say we believe in Christ if we do not live as Christ lived, namely, for others. To reject the reality of service in the Christian life is to reject the reality of Christ who came not to be served, but to serve. Furthermore, James calls us to live knowing that Christ died for all. Therefore, we are all sisters and brothers of the same family, the Family of God in Jesus Christ!

Christ's death on the cross is the culmination of his life for others. For us, too, the cross and service must go together.

Isaiah 50:4c-9a

The Suffering Servant.

How have I suffered in my attempt to live out my faith?

James 2:14-18

Faith without works is dead.

Who witnesses to me their faith? How do they witness it?

Mark 8:27-35

If you wish to follow Jesus, you must take up your cross.

What is the main "cross" in my life?

Having our hearts and our intentions consistent with our actions: this is the hallmark of a disciple of Jesus. Our Sunday readings over the next several weeks, both in these chapters of the Gospel of Mark and in the Second Readings from the Letter of James, are about "discipleship formation."

What are some steps of Christian discipleship formation expressed in these readings?

Step one: have ears and hearts open both to listening attentively to God's word and to accepting God's word.

Step two: believe in Jesus as the Messiah, the one who has been sent by the Father to save us from our sins; that's the very content of His word.

Step three: accepting God's mercy and being set free from our sins, we are to have the same courageous compassion for others, helping them to be open to our Lord's saving graces and be prepared for the gift of eternal life as well.

This Sunday, September 5th, we hear in the Gospel about Jesus opening the ears of a man who was deaf and who had a speech impediment. The prophet Isaiah had foreseen that God would visit his people and his "vindication" would include healing. This healing would be of people's ears and hearts being opened, of their oppression ending (meaning especially oppression from sin and evil), and of new life bursting forth in places where it had not seemed possible before. This mirrors in a prophetic way the steps of discipleship.

Next Sunday, Jesus teaches us that a true disciple will have the courage and the compassion to take up their cross and follow him. It takes courage to take up our cross and follow Jesus in freedom from sin. It also takes compassion. As Jesus calls us to freedom from sin, he shows us the surprising way to grow more deeply into that freedom. Very often the cross we are called to bear is courageously offering mercy to someone against whom we'd rather hold onto a judgment. We sometimes find that as we grow in the wonderful experience of freedom from sin we grow impatient with the sins of others. "Why can't they see and appreciate the change I have experienced,” we might say to ourselves, “and change from their sins?” St. James speaks very straight forwardly about compassion for the poor in our midst. So often when we see the poor we jump to the conclusion that it is their sinfulness that is the primary cause of their poverty. We are called, then, to offer assistance beyond material assistance. We try to offer assistance towards freedom from sin. That kind of assistance isn’t always so readily accepted. That’s where the courage, compassion and perseverance that feel like carrying the cross are needed. This is experienced as a grace – a gift that we receive and then hand on to others.

May the grace of God and the gift of being a community of faith help us to be open to the growth as disciples the Lord wants us all to experience, preparing us for the life of Heaven.

Pastor’s Letter

Thank you very much for both the birthday prayers and greetings and the prayers for a quick recovery from the bout with the delta variant. These past two weeks have had such a complete range of experiences and feelings for me personally, for many others in the parish and for our nation as a whole! What a great blessing to celebrate a birthday with a First Friday Mass this past Friday. In fact, my understanding is that my mother had attended a Mass on a First Friday back in 1965, and soon after the Mass concluded she went into labor. That means that the last umbilical nutrition I received from her was fueled by the Eucharist!

Please continue to keep our parish as a whole in prayer for all who have been affected by the recent delta variant. I can attest both to the efficacy of the medical therapeutics available, the professionalism of the medical personnel in our area in responding to this virus and to how deeply lousy this coronavirus can make a person feel! The whole process of healing from the virus, with the effects of the virus and the impact of the therapeutics and medical care, was profoundly humbling!

Please note three changes in some upcoming plans.

First of all, we are still planning to go ahead with the photo sessions for a new picture directory. However, the photo sessions have been moved to November to be sure we have sufficient time to promote the sessions, to conduct the sign-up process more completely, and to give parish households time to plan for the photo sessions. Two of the sessions are the week before Thanksgiving, which should give some households an opportunity for college students to be home for the sessions as well.

Secondly, we are not planning to have our Bereavement Haven group next weekend and this month. There are enough delta variant concerns to warrant waiting for October for the next gathering. For those who might have some grieving issues this month, please feel free to contact me so that we can connect you with the support you need.

Finally, the journey to the Holy Land and Egypt is postponed for a third time! At this point, we’re planning for June 2022. The situation there is facing the double concern of coronavirus cases in Israel and Palestine and the threat of terrorism in the Sinai Peninsula of Egypt.

Bishop Monforton has asked that we participate next weekend, September 10th/11th, in a national collection for the people of Haiti, to help with earthquake rebuilding needs. As you know over 2,000 people died and more than 10,000 people were injured in last month’s earthquake. We’ll have other details developing in the next several weeks for our parish’s connection with St. Elisabeth Parish in Caracol, Haiti, as well.

May Our Lord Jesus Christ help us to experience the transforming power of His mercy as He helps us to be always ready for the gift of eternal life in Heaven!
