Most Holy Trinity Sunday and Father's Day! PART 1

Everything else will turn out to be unimportant and inessential except for this: father, child, love. And then, looking at the simplest things, all of us will say: "Could we not have learned this long ago? Has this not always been embedded at the bottom of everything that is?" — St. Pope John Paul II, "Reflections on Fatherhood"

Happy Trinity Sunday! Today, we celebrate the heart of the Christian faith: God, who is One-in-Three. To explore this central mystery, we share an excerpt from Fr. Michael Gaitley, MIC's The 'One Thing' is Three: How the Most Holy Trinity Explains Everything.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church teaches that, by far, the most important mystery of our faith is the Most Holy Trinity.

The mystery of the Most Holy Trinity is the central mystery of Christian faith and life. It is the mystery of God in Himself. It is therefore the source of all the other mysteries of faith, the light that enlightens them. It is the most fundamental and essential teaching in the "hierarchy of the truths of faith" (Catechism of the Catholic Church, 234). The Trinity really is the "one thing." It's the mystery of our faith that's the source of all the other mysteries and shines light on them all. Alright, but what exactly is the Trinity?

The Catechism describes the Trinity as God's "innermost secret," which is that "God Himself is an eternal exchange of love, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit" The Catechism then goes on to say something mind-blowingly amazing: "... and He has destined us to share in that exchange" (Catechism, 221). When this last line really hits home, it can transform our lives. We'll reflect on this powerful idea in due course, but first, let's try to appreciate the Trinity itself more deeply. ...

In our heart of hearts, what do we long for above all else? Love. We all want to love and to be loved. Specifically, we long for the communion of love. Look around — our culture makes it so obvious. Almost every song on the radio is about love (or a counterfeit of love). So much of what people say, do, and wear is really just an effort to be loveable, attractive, and accepted. Indeed, we hunger to be in communion with others and seek it out in so many forms, be they good or bad. For instance, we seek it in friendship, family, Facebook, fantasy, or fornication. With desire, we may run to these things while with fright, we run away from what seem to be the alternatives (loneliness and alienation).

Given that we are communion addicts, God is the perfect fit! He Himself fits the hole in our hearts, we pine for the communion of love, and God Himself is the Communion of Love. We've often heard the "good news" that Jesus died for our sins; thank God and Amen! But perhaps we haven't yet come to realize the good news that's just as good, namely, that God is Trinity. Put differently, He's the Communion of Love that we long for.

Let's think about this for a minute. Over and over, we've heard that the Trinity is a mystery. And many of us probably take mystery to mean "something we can't understand." Wrong. We can understand it, even if we can't comprehend it. In other words, the Trinity makes sense (we can understand it), but we'll never fully get to the bottom of the sense it makes (we can't comprehend it). We can always go deeper into the sense of the Trinity. Problem is, we often don't even try to scratch the surface of the sense it makes. But its sense speaks right to the core of our hearts, to our longing for the communion of love. So, we'd do well to reflect on the sense it makes, which has the power to make us mind-blowingly happy.

...Conclusion next week....
