Dear Ones,

I hate being in the cone of uncertainty. I'm writing this on Monday, Labor Day, so by the time you read this Dorian should be a part of history. Please God, a minor note in history. If we are spared, I ask that you join in a second collection for the poor and needful in the Bahamas. The Archbishop of Nassau, Patrick Pinder, lived across the hall from me in the seminary. He will be a great instrument for our charitable outreach in helping the homeless, the hungry, the people who have nothing but their lives and the clothes on their backs. The slowness of repairs here pale in the face of the needs of those whose lives have been shattered by Dorian. I try to keep my sense of humor about my own experiences- since I don't have a kitchen sink, I've discovered that one can wash dishes in the downstairs shower (which has high school gym pressure.) How many priests are able to say they've done that?

While praying for the victims I try to keep the helpers in my prayer. Police, fire, EMTs, nurses, doctors, medical technologists, those staffing shelters, electric linemen... I'm awed at how many I can think of at the front of my mind; I'm humbled that there are probably twice as many I can't think of right now. May God bless them all and flourish the work of their hands and minds and hearts. How blessed we are.

Fr. T

POST-SUMMER CHALLENGES

With any luck, summer delights will continue a while past last weekend's Labor Day: refreshing recreation (with maybe an occasional swim) or enjoyable relaxation on the deck (with tasty outdoor grilling). Truth is, for some of us, this year's Labor Day came way too early. With many schools back in session for a while already, mealtimes and driving schedules needed readjustment to coordinate youth sports with adult commitments. Some religious education and parish programs resumed, too. No surprise, then, that this weekend's scriptures sound a little like post-summer challenges. For instance, Wisdom reminds us that believers in God can never be content with "timid deliberations" and "unsure plans." Paul challenges longtime friend and follower Philemon to "let the good you do be voluntary." Jesus instructs "great crowds" traveling with him—including us—on three things necessary for all true disciples to accomplish. On this early autumn weekend, our scriptures describe disciples' lifelong labors.

Happy Retirement Ms. Lynn!

We all know that Ms. Lynn is the music minister at St. Egbert Church, but she also coordinates the weekly Masses for our school. She spends time with our students. This weekend will be her last at our parish, but she has agreed to “volunteer” for our school and work with our children at Mass. She and Mrs. Crowe are an awesome duo, and we are so glad to have them work with our students. All the students showered Ms. Lynn with cards and love after Mass today. She was so happy!

Kimberly McGowan -2nd Grade Teacher

This is Mrs. McGowan’s 3rd year at St. Egbert. She earned her BA in Interior Design from Central Michigan University and her MA in teaching from UNCW. She has had extensive experience as an art teacher in public and private schools. She has been married to Paul, Retired USMCR, for 32 years, and they have three children. Kimberly’s hobbies include reading, painting, running, cooking, traveling, and kayaking. She is also a licensed yoga teacher.

Why do you want to teach at St. Egbert?

“My three children received a Catholic education. The supportive community between staff and family at St. Egbert is vibrant and essential to the academic success of each student. I am excited to teach at a school with experienced educators who combine the 21st century learning with faith-based values. St. Egbert feels like home to me, and I am honored to be a part of each child’s academic and individual success.”

Mr. Kevin Foster 4th Grade Teacher

Mr. Foster has been at St. Egbert for 9 years. He earned his BA and Master of Arts from Loyola Marymount University, Los Angeles, CA and has taught a total of 21 years. He is married to Dr. Rachel Nobel, a professor at UNC Chapel Hill, and they have two daughters Anna and Kayla who both attended St. Egbert School. Mr. Foster enjoys traveling and camping, especially with friends and extended family.

Why do you like St. Egbert?

“St. Egbert Catholic School’s commitment to educating mind, body and spirit provides a unique experience for our children; instilling Christian values that carry over for a lifetime. It is a privilege to be part of a community that puts what is best for the children at its core.”

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

Eastern Catholic and Orthodox Christians share a love for the Byzantine liturgy because it is during the Eucharist that the Church is most true to its identity, expresses its integrity, and discovers its vocation. Eastern Catholic and Orthodox Christians celebrate essentially the identical liturgy, with only very slight variations. It is a fairly complex ritual weaving together three separate layers of prayers: a liturgy prayed in the sanctuary by priests, often hidden by a curtain or screen; a liturgy sung by the assembly and led by a deacon in front of a screen formed of painted icons; and a third layer of private prayer by the priest, who prays in support of the deacon and the faithful. It is an eyes-wide-open experience, gorgeous in visuals, and filled with the sound of God's people singing prayer. The energy of the worship centers on the presence of Christ, largely through an awareness of heaven touching earth when the Church gathers to celebrate.

In the late twentieth century, Latin Rite Catholics were encouraged to embrace a style of worship that was "full, conscious, and active," a value that has never been lost in the East. The liturgy has great impact in its beauty, in its poetry and contemplation, and by the actions of bowing, signing with the cross, and chanting that are required of the assembly. Contact with the Eastern Church reveals some key values that have been obscured in our own Church and are slowly being recovered.
